ALLIES ARREST POWERFUL RED DRIVE

P. esident Outlines Grim Requirements For Future

Sets Up Powerful Wage-Price-Production Agency To Guide Nation Through Expensive, Long-Range Defense Program

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Truman tonight set up a powerful new wage-price-production agency to steer the nation through a mighty defense program that may last for many years and cost far more than $30,000,000,000 annually.

Warning that the fight against Communist aggression will demand sacrifices from every American, the president declared that price and wage controls will be imposed "vigorously and promptly" if either wages or prices get out of hand.

And he served notice that industry "to the extent necessary" will have to stop making some civilian goods and begin turning out military equipment.

In a radio-television address to the nation, the chief executive called for these further steps to spur production, keep inflation in check and put the mobilization program on a pay-as-you-go basis:

1—Higher taxes for everybody. Mr. Truman said his call for a $5,000,000,000 rise in income taxes is "only the first installment." He asked an excess profits tax to make sure nobody will "get rich out of this emergency."

2—Harder work and longer hours for everybody.

3—No pay raises beyond those needed to keep up with the cost of living.

4—An all-out drive by industry to produce more goods by better methods. The president said the national economy should top the $3,000,000,000,000 a year goal he has set for 1954.

5—No hoarding by individuals or by industries.

To coordinate the whole program and settle policy conflicts, Mr. Truman named W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the national security resources board. Symingtton thus becomes an economic policemen over the eonomy.

Mr. Truman did not name the man who will head the economic stabilization agency, which will be independent.

In another executive order, the president liad the basis for possible price controls by ordering most of the nation's business men to keep records of their prices and costs between last May 24 and June 24.

He acted under the economic powers bill which he signed yesterday. This gives him the power to put price ceilings on individual items if he finds that (1) the price has risen "unreasonably" above the May 24-June 24 level or threatens to do so, and (2) the increase materially affects living and defense costs.

In solemn words, Mr. Truman declared:

"By next June, under our present plans, we expect to be spending at the rate of at least $30,000,000,000 a year.

"In the year after that, we shall probably have to spend much more than $30,000,000,000.

"We must be prepared to maintain a very strong defense program for many years to come."

Flatly, Mr. Truman said: "All of us—whether we are farmers, or wage earners, or businessmen

PARNELL THOMAS WILL BE FREED

Former Congressman Paroled After Cheating Federal Government

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Former Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R.-N. J.) goes free this weekend on parole after nine months in prison for cheating the government by padding his office payroll.

The federal parole board announced today it has granted the clemency for the man who gained national attention as chairman of the house un-American activities committee.

Dr. George G. Killinger, board chairman, said the 55-year-old Thomas "is in very poor physical condition." This, he said, was a factor in the parole, as was Thomas' good work and conduct record.

Thomas may be released tomorrow from Danbury, Conn., prison where he reportedly has been tending chickens. Dr. Killinger said this is possible at discretion of the warden. ~~At Danbury~~, however, the prison said it had not yet been notified.

Thomas threw himself on the mercy of the court in the midst of his fraud trial last November and got a sentence to six to 18 months, plus a $10,000 fine.

At that time, Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff directed that Thomas "stand committed until the fine is paid." Killinger said today that arrangements have been made to take care of the fine. He refused to discuss details.

Thomas, who had been elected seven times to the house, was faced at his trial with government testimony that he put fake employes on the congressional payroll and pocketed more than $8,000 from salary kickbacks.

RODEO SERIES TO CONCLUDE TODAY

Youngsters Will Again Get Free Admission If Accompanied By Parents

Louisiana's largest rodeo will come to a close this afternoon in the Gentry Rodeo arena in West Monroe after five performances which brought in sellout crowds. Today's show begins at 2 p.m.

Youngsters have a special treat coming this afternoon at Gentry's Arena in the form of free passes. Rodeo Association officials, announced that the gates will be open without charge to children under 12 years of age who are accompanied by their parents.

The association pointed out that in view of the baseball and football games Friday night, many children were unable to attend the first kid's night and in order that they can see the bucking broncs and wild bulls they will be honored guests again Sunday.

This year's rodeo was highlighted by the usual apt performances of members of the show along with many added rodeo attractions new to this part of the nation.

The show from all quarters was adjudged a success. The rodeo association last night extended thanks to the sheriff department, West Monroe, Monroe and state police for their cooperation in handling the crowds and also local merchants for their assistance.

An estimated 5,000 persons were on hand for the fourth show.

LONG TO DELIVER ADDRESS TUESDAY

Speech Before Special Session Delegates Will Be Broadcast

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Gov. Earl K. Long will deliver an address, broadcast statewide, before a special legislative session Tuesday night, Lt. Gov. William J. Dodd said today.

The governor has been vacationing out of state for nearly a month. The special session was called formally for 6:30 p.m. Tuesday after he said he would ask lawmakers to cancel a Nov. 7 election on a proposed constitutional convention.

"The governor telephoned me from Little Rock, Ark., and said he definitely will be back for the session," said Dodd, acting governor in Gov. Long's absence.

The speech, he said, would be broadcast from 7 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. (C. S. T.) over a state-wide radio network.

Gov. Long's plan to rewrite Louisiana's constitution next year was approved by the 1950 legislature. Voters are scheduled to pass on the proposal at the Nov. 7 general election. Under the plan, the people would decide then whether to hold the convention and also choose 100 of 149 convention delegates. The other 49 would be appointed or serve by virtue of their state offices.

Qualifying deadline for candidates for the 100 elective-delegate posts expires Sept. 15, three days after the date of the special session. This week, secretary of state's records showed only ten persons had qualified as delegate candidates.

The convention proposal, a campaign pledge of Gov. Long, stirred controversy all over the state until the governor announced he would ask lawmakers to call it off. His decision, he said, was based on his poor health, the international situation and letters he had received.

Acting Governor Dodd issued the formal call Thursday for a session to be held from 6:30 p.m. to midnight Tuesday. The call limits legislators to consideration only of the proposed convention.

Attorney General Bolivar Kemp has ruled the convention can be cancelled at a one-day session. The parliamentary device, he suggested, could be a joint concurrent resolution suspending the law which proposed the meeting.

Jewish New Year To Be Observed

The Jewish New Year will be ushered in at sunset Monday. It ends at sundown Tuesday. Like Easter, the New Year's entry is regulated by the moon and it varies considerably as to date. This year it chances to come unusually early.

Jewish people of Monroe and vicinity will observe the day. At Temple B' Nai Israel, there will be a service at 10:30 a.m. Monday when Rabbi F. K. Hirsch will discuss: "Yesterday, Tomorrow and Today."

At 7:30 p.m. Monday he will speak on "Israel Sanctuary."

Stores operated by Jewish people will be closed here on Tuesday because of Jewish New Year.

U. S. - Trained Medics Under Pressure

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Truman today signed a bill designed to put pressure on government-trained medical men to volunteer for military service or face induction as privates.

It would permit the drafting of doctors, dentists, osteopaths, optometrists, veterinarians and pharmacologists who have not reached their 51st birthdays and who are not in the reserves.

They would be drafted as privates if they came into service by that route, and would not get the $100 monthly bonus pay now provided for medical volunteers.

The new law sets no deadline on when a medico not in the reserves could enroll and escape the draft. As a reserve, he would be subject to call to active duty but at commissioned rank and higher pay.

Main objective of the bill is to put into uniform an estimated 5,600 doctors and 3,000 dentists, along with a lesser number of specialists, who received all or part of their training at government expense during the last war but saw little or no military service.

Child Drilled In Chest Is Discharged

Danbury, Conn., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Little Joey Korczynski, gravely ill for days with two chest punctures inflicted by his father with a drill press, was discharged ttoday from Danbury hospital.

The boy was taken to his home in Ridgefield where a committee is seeking to raise a $12,000 "Little Joey" fund to help out the family. He will be five years old next month.

Joey's father, Joseph Korczynski, 36, a waiter, was committed to a mental hospital August 24, the day after he pinned his son to the bed of a drill press and bored two holes into his chest.

The boy also suffered a fractured skull.

State police, unable to get any coherent answers from the waiter as to why he had done it, said the man was "obviously crazed."

TRUMAN APPROVES MILITARY EXPANSE FOR WEST EUROPE

Calls On Pact Allies To 'Match Our Actions In This Regard'

EXTENT OF U.S. STEPS TO DEPEND ON MEMBERS

By John M. Hightower

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—President Truman approved today "Substantial increases" in U. S. military forces in Western Europe and called on this country's Atlantic pact allies to "match our actions in this regard."

By announcing his decision, the president served notice in advance of next week's Big Three and Atlantic treaty meetings that this nation is now ready to support fully and participate in the organization of a great international military force to defend Western Europe against Russia.

The approval of troop increases is but part of an over-all policy worked out by Secretary of State Acheson and Defense Secretary Johnson and okayed by Mr. Truman for creating this force in cooperation with the allied countries.

The president made clear that what this country does in carrying out his decision will depend on the extent to which the other nations carry forward their own rearmament and troop increase programs.

MOBILE GIRL IS 'MISS AMERICA'

21-Year-Old Southern Belle Entered Contest As 'Miss Alabama'

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Brown-haired Yolande Betbeze of Mobile, Ala., was named Miss America of 1951 tonight.

The 21-year-old southern belle, entered the contest as Miss Alabama received a tremendous ovation from the audience of close to 19,000 persons.

Wearing a white evening dress, the five-foot, five and one-half inch beauty walked smiling to the center of the huge stage. She received two dozen American beauty roses and a regal robe was placed around her shoulders.

Last year's Miss America, Jaque Mercer of Phoenix, Ariz., gave her a crown and scepter. In the ensuing excitement, the crown fell from Miss Betbeze's head. They had to retrieve it from the floor.

The new Miss America has brown eyes, weight 119 pounds, has a 35-inch bust, a 24-inch waist and 35½-inch hips.

A pre-contest favorite, she was one of the few contestants who won popular aclaim. Even before the judges' decision.

With the title of Miss America, Miss Betbeze wins a $5,000 scholarship, which she said she will use to further her music education.

She also gets a new automobile and a chance to earn $50,000 through personal appearances.

Dewey Doubts Report That Reds Will Start War Soon

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey said last night that "a number of well-informed people" had told him they were convinced Russia would launch an all-out war against the free nations this month. But the governor said he doubted it.

Public reports that he predicted the Soviet government would wage total war "eventually" apparently were based on a misconception of his remarks.

According to the official stenotypist's record, Dewey, the 1944 and 1948 Republican candidate for president, said:

"I am asked continually when I think we are going to be in another war, if we are.

"I answer, that question is irrelevant because we are now under continuous, savage, brutal attack by the most powerful force on earth. They are warring on us and we are not adequately defending ourselves.

"As you know, the Soviet Union has expanded so that now in these two short years they control 800,000,000 people, or one-third of the world. They are going so well that why should they wage a war?

"Why in heaven's name should anybody that has won 800,000,000 in five years be stupid enough to start a war that they might conceivably lose?

"People say, 'well, it is so easy. They can take England, all Europe in six days or six weeks. They could clean up all of Asia practically overnight. They have 200 divisions and we have ten divisions. It's so easy, why don't they go to war?' I don't know. Maybe they are going to.

IT DIDN'T HAPPEN, BUT IT COULD

This is what will happen to Twin City school children if drivers do not observe the speed limits which are designated by the Monroe Police traffic department. Officers will be on duty at the schools, but cannot protect all of the children; so it is up to the local citizens who drive automobiles to be particularly careful while in school zones. SHRINERS ELECT NEW OFFICIALS

Postpone Selection Of Convention City For Next Year's Meet

New Orleans, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Delegates to the Southeastern Shrine Association's 16th annual convention here installed a new president, elected two vice presidents, and postponed selection of a 1951 convention city today.

J. Ed Hart of Greenville, S. C., was elevated to the presidency and six other vice presidents moved up a notch at the final business session.

Leslie E. Buerger, Abba Temple, Mobile, Ala., and William G. Zetzmann, Sr., Jerusalem Temple New Orleans, were elected sixth and seventh vice presidents, respectively.

Selection of next year's convention city was left with the new officers. Daytona Beach Fla., was prominently mentioned.

Delegates approved an application by Shriners from the Panama Canal Zone for membership in the southeastern group. The association already boasts 20 temples and 72,000 members.

The nobles also went on record in favor of a proposed annual increase from $2 to $5 in assessments to provide additional funds for the Shrine's 17 crippled children's hospitals.

The increase was advocated by Dr. Hubert M. Poteat, Wake Forest, N. C., imperial potentate of the North American continent. He

116 Rescued From Caved-In Mine

New Cumnock Scotland, Sunday, Sept. 10.—(AP)— The last of the known survivors of the new Cumnock mine disaster were brought to the surface early today.

Officials at the pithead said that 116 men had been rescued after being trapped nearly two days at the bottom of a 720-foot pit by a cave-in.

The rescued men, dirty, tired and worn, wore grotesque gas masks and respirators to crawl through a barrier of poisonous coal gas before making their way to the top of the Knockshinnock castle mine.

WILL INITIATE COLLEGE YEAR

Northeast La. State To Begin Enrolling Monday At 9 A.M.

Opening of the fall semester at Northeast Louisiana State College will get underway with registration beginning Monday at 9 a.m. The three-day enrollment period will be followed by an orientation program Thursday, and class work is scheduled to start Friday and Saturday of that week.

Registration for the first term will be carried out in alphabetized procedure for the convenience of students. The two-day enrollment period for freshmen opens on September 11 with the following schedule: A-B, 9-10 a.m.; C-D, 10-11 a.m.; E-F, 11-12 a.m.; G-H, 1-2 p.m.; I-J-K, 2-3 p.m.; L-Mc, 3-4 p.m.

Continuing through September 12 the alphabetical arrangement for freshmen follows: M-n, 9-10 a.m.; O-P, 10-11 a.m.; Q-R, 11-12 a.m.; S-T, 1-2 p.m.; U-V-W, 2-3 p.m.; X-Y-, 3-4 p.m.

Enrollment for sophomores and juniors on Wednesday, September 13 is scheduled according to this procedure: A-D, 9-10 a.m.; E-H, 10-11 a.m.; I-Mc, 11-12 a.m.; M-Q, 1-2 p.m.; R-U, 2-3 p.m.; V, 3-4 p.m.

Courses offered for the current school year by the institution, which recently was expanded to a senior college, provide a full program of study for freshman, sophomore and junior class levels.

The increased list of offerings here provides an expansion of military training in keeping with the change from a junior college to a four-year institution. This year the military police unit will be inaugurated in the R. O. T. C. Announcement to that effect was received last Friday from Lt. Gen. LeRoy Lutes, commanding officer of the 4th army. Both basic and advanced work will be offered in this unit.

The change from the infantry to the military police came about as the result of the formation of the senior college.

OFFICERS HERE HUNT DESPERADO

Bloodhounds Fail To Seek Out Man Who Fired On W. Monroe Police

Authorities identified the desperado as Jiles Clyde Thomas, 25, of Hodge, who is presently under probation from California.

Angola bloodhounds arrived here early Saturday morning and joined in the search but failed to pick up his trail. The bloodhounds were later returned to the penitentiary.

Two West Monroe patrolmen started the chase shortly after 12:40 a. m. Saturday when Aubrey Roller ran up to the policemen's car and related that Thomas hand struck him on the head and attempted to rob him. Police said blood was dripping from Roller's head.

B. R. Takes On College Look Again

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 9.—(AP)—This capital city began taking on its college town look today as early arrivals trickled in for fall terms at Louisiana State and Southern Universities.

Registration plans were ready and reception committees braced for 1950-51 enrollments for the schools, Louisiana's principle Public Institutions of Higher Learning.

At Louisiana State, a week-long orientation schedule beginning Monday awaited freshmen. Their newcomer counterparts on the faculty would also assemble Monday for a welcome and briefing.

L. S .U. registrar Wilson Thiede reported that, since Sept. 1, about 1450 new students have applied for entrance. A breakdown lists 1,000 freshmen, 200 graduate and professional students and 250 undergraduate transfers. Thiede expects 600 more new students, plus returnees from last term, when a total of about 9,000 students were enrolled here.

No estimate of total registration for 1950-51 was made.

At Southern, the State University for Negroes, President Felton Clark said freshmen begin a four-day orientation course Monday. The program includes a campus tour, orientation assemblies and placement tests.

Registration for freshmen is scheduled Wednesday and for other undergraduates Thursday. Classes begin Friday. Southern has no graduate school.

Some 600 freshmen are expected to boost total 1950-51 enrollment at Southern higher than that of last fall, when it was about 2300.

CLOSE BIG GAP

AGGRESSORS CONTINUE TO HOLD PRESSURE IN NORTH

By Milton Marmor

Tokyo, Sunday, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The Korean Communists today applied new pressure on the northern front where American and South Korean forces yesterday closed a five-mile gap opened by Red tanks.

Despite the pressure the northern front defending the strategic base of Taegu was described as "relatively quiet" by Associated Press Correspondent Leif Erickson at U. S. eighth army headquarters.

But the Reds still were a continuing threat to the South Korean provisional capital from the north. Powerful forces there have been hammering incessantly at American ridge positions seven miles above Taegu.

The allied air forces warmed back to the battlefront at dawn today with only a medium overcast to hinder the harassment of Red troops and supply lines.

The U. S. fifth air force said bad weather limited sorties to 200 yesterday — only 187 in close support of ground troops. The Reds took advantage of every respite in the aerial assualt to move men and supplies to their deeply bled divisions.

Erickson also reported a Sunday morning quiet over the southern front with the Reds still holding battle mountain — won again Saturday at heavy cost. The bitterly contested height dominates the approaches to Masan. Masan is the gateway to the all-important supply port of Pusan, 27 air miles east of Masan.

The general quiet that had fallen over the entire Korean battleground since Saturday's blazing actions on the north and south was reflected in the absence of headquarters summaries. Both general MacArthur's and eight army headquarters skipped their Saturday night and Sunday morning announcements.

Grounded for two days by rains that lashed the entire front, allied warplanes soared back into action as skies cleared late Saturday. They concentrated their fire on Reds massed northwest of Taegu.

The gap in the United Nations northern defense wall was snapped shu by South Korean troops driving east from Yongchon and American and South Korean forces moving west from Kyongju.

Communist tank columns had opened the hole earlier in the week.

Yongchon, gateway city to Taegu 20 miles westward, was recaptured by South Koreans Friday from the armor-led Reds who had held it briefly. The ousted Reds poured artillery and mortar fire on the city. The North Korean radio has claimed possession of Yongchon for two days.

Several groups of Reds were pocketed by the forces that closed the Yongchon - Kyongju opening.

A U. S. eighth army spokesman said the situation along the newly restored northern U. N. defense line late Saturday was 'much improved."

In the south U. S. 25th division infantrymen killed 1,500 of the 3,000 Reds who wrested battle mountain from them Saturday. It was the third time in one day and the

HADACOL'S GOOD WILL TOUR ENDED

Miss Lorraine Lott Of Lake Charles Crowned Queen Of South

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 9.—(Special)—Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc's Hadacol good will caravan ended its 19-city tour here Friday night with the crowning of Miss Lorraine Lott of Lake Charles, La., as the Hadacol queen of the southland.

The 6800 Fort Worth spectators who crowded into La Grave field for LaBlanc's $500.000 medicine show brought total attendance figures for the tour up to 381,500.

Hadacol Queen Lorraine Lott was awarded $1,000 to go along with her title. She will travel as the Hadacol good-will representative, as will Miss Bonnie Keathley. The Lufkin, Texas, girl who took the $500 second prize money. And Miss Eddie Chataignier of Lafayette, La., who won third place and $250.

Originally scheduled to end at Houston. The Hadacol caravan added Lufkin, Dallas and Fort Worth to its itinerary when it met with unprecedented success in La., Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee and Arkansas. Variety, the bible of show business, has labeled it "The Top Medicine Show of All Time" because of the $500,000 expense which Senator LeBlanc extended for talent.

In addition to the original stars—Mickey Rooney, Connee Boswell, Roy Acuff, Minnie Pearl and Sharkey's Dixieland Band—Chico Marx, Ernest Tubb, George Burns and Gracie Allen and Carmen Miranda were included in the caravan's later dates.

Senator LeBlanc, president protem of the Louisiana upper house, is now readying plans for the 1951 Hadacol caravan which will travel by special train from coast to coast. The king of medicine men promises an outlay of $3,000,000 for next year'. mammoth tour.

Meeting Held By Drew Home Club

The Drew Home Demonstration Club met on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. O. Moss with Mrs. J. M. Kent presiding, and the following additional members present: Mrs. H. H. Strozier Mrs. G. A. Strozier, Mrs. O. D. Hollingsworth, Mrs. G. W. Bailey Mrs. A. S. Frost, Mrs. B. F. Henry, and visitors, Mrs. A. L. Dean Euna Spielman, home demonstration agent, and R. W. Germany, for the Ouachita Valley Fair Association.

Minutes of the July meeting were read and approved, and reports were made as to the progress and status of the various club activities, as well as a report by Mrs. Hollingsworth on the recent Farm and Home Week meeting at Baton Rouge, which was well handled and very interesting.

We were very much gratified at the interest shown in participating in 1950 fair, as indicated by the setting up of committees to prepare for two booths, and the possibility of taking part in the poultry exhibit as well.

Mrs. Hollingsworth was named as chairman of the home demonstration booth, with Mrs. H. H. Strozier and Mrs. G. A. Strozier as additional members, and Mrs. Bailey accepted the chairmanship of the agricultural booth, with Mrs. Moss and Mrs. Henry assisting.

Mrs. Spielman again demonstrated the methods of controlling household insect pests, and to all who have been or will be unable to be present at one of these demonstrations, it is our suggestion that you secure a copy of "Insect Pest 4", whch can be had upon quest at Mrs. Spielman's office as this little document covers the en- Control Service Leaflet Number tire insect pest field, with plain expicit instructions as to how to combat any or all of them.

Refreshments were served by the was only one male present, you hostess, and a very unique contest game was held, and since there can guess who won the booby prize, and what kind of a pin it was.

President Prepares To Vote Absentee

Washington, Sept. 8.—(P)—President Truman signed an application for an absentee ballot today with the comment: "It looks very much like I won't be able to go home to vote."

He didn't go into details, but told reporters later that if he can go home to Independence, Mo., to vote in the Nov. 7 election, his absentee ballot will be destroyed.

'Politics As Usual'

Take a "little war," mix in healthy portions of politics from both the White House and Capitol Hill, and you get a patched-up economic controls bill like the one just enacted.

There can't be any quarrel with the provisions that would slap limits on consumer installment and housing credit and would channel essential materials into war industries.

But the features dealing with rationing and price-wage controls are something else. They belong in the realm of what the psychologists call "escape literature." They take us away from reality rather than plunge us into it.

First of all, these particular powers are handed to the president on a standby basis only until next June 30. Except in dire emergency, it doesn't seem likely he'd go to the trouble of setting up a new OPA even on a restricted scale, when it might be swept away in less than a year.

The new legislation authorizes the president to try first for voluntary control agreements from labor and industry. If he can't get the agreements or they don't do the job, then he can impose "selective" controls on particular industries.

Some lawmakers objected to this, declaring that only overall controls will work. But in the limited emergency enforced by the Korean war, general ceilings may not be needed. Why insist on extra work and expense for nothing?

The "selective" idea is all right in principle. The trouble is, that as written into this legislation it contains a patent deception. The president is compelled to put a lid on wages in any field where he considers price ceilings necessary. Or at least, so it seems at first glance.

But a clause in the bill states specifically that the president shall ban pay raises "which he deems would require an increase in the price ceiling or impose hardships or inequities on sellers operating under the price ceiling."

What does this mean? Simply that whenever Mr. Truman feels that a wage boost would not compel a rise in the price ceiling, he can approve the pay hike. The discretion is his—not industry's or labor's. Thus the apparently ironclad insistence that wage and price controls go together is an illusion.

Maybe that insistence is utterly impractical. What worker would be happy witching wages go up in uncontrolled fields while his pay is frozen? But if it is practical, why try to fool people? Why not concede that the president must have discretion in such matters?

Another bad feature: Any ceiling limits on farm commodities could not be set lower than parity prices for those products. This reflects the customary pressure from farm groups which congress, in war and out, seems unable to resist.

Yet why should congress rise above politics when the president himself fails to? It ill behooves him to complain about the expiration date or any other aspect of the price-wage controls in this legislation, because he didn't ask for these powers at all.

Before the Korean war, with the nation relatively more at peace and the economy under less strain, Mr. Truman repeatedly over a span of three years asked for standby powers. Perhaps because he was sure he wouldn't get them but would merely reap political benefit from proposing them. Now that a genuine emergency is here, he hasn't sought them. For this is 1950—election time.

Since the control powers probably won't be used, is anybody the loser? Only the American people, who once more have been treated to a show of shoddy politics when statesmanship should be the order of the day.

Achievements Of Free Men

During the first weeks of the Korean war Americans were stunned by the tragic inadequacy of our forces and equipment. Many felt a personal responsibility for the needless loss of life. It was a healthy and well-founded reaction which will lead to correction of mistakes and weeding out of inept officials. There are already encouraging signs of improvement. John Osborne, Time and Life senior correspondent in the Pacific, writes: "The American effort and the American soldier in Korea are magnificent. Doubtless we could and should have been better prepared. But . . . today we have in Korea more men and more arms than we sent to the invasion of North Africa in November of 1942, eleven months after Pearl Harbor."

Intelligence reports received in Washington indicate that the evident military ability of this country to cope with the Communists in Korea has impressed the countries of southeast Asia. Applications for Communist party membership are dwindling and pictures of the Communist leader Mao Tse-Tung are disappearing from shop windows. Even more encouraging is the opinion of authorities on the mystery of why Russia has not moved into other areas while the United States has its hands full in Korea. They point out that we have in readiness, prepared to strike with hair-trigger swiftness, a fleet of more than 2,000 air force bombers able to carry atom bombs within a matter of hours to every major city in Russia. And we have the bombs to do the job. If the opinion of these authorities is correct, this factor, plus an industrial production potential of near astronomical proportions, has checked Russia for the time being.

Another element of strength that is not fully appreciated is the growing efficiency and productive capacity of American agriculture. Food is a mighty weapon and our farms are producing it in record quantities. The magazine Country Gentleman recently described what has been happening on the farm: "Ever since the end of World War II, farmers have been turning out, year after year, nearly a fourth more than in the year of Pearl Harbor, and it's hard to picture the peaks to which farm output might be pushed under necessity. Leading agricultural scientists now believe that the output of the farm plant of the United States could be doubled by putting to use all the production knowledge we now have . . . .

"Significantly, the great upsurge in farm production during and since World War II came about with only a minor increase in acreage harvested. . . . Furthermore, the gains were made in a period when farmers had fewer workers than prewar."

With all our prodigality, we are demonstrating as never before the achievements attainable by free men. It is these achievements that are now being felt in Korea and that are earning the respect of other nations—including Russia.

WALTER WINCHELL

By Jack Lait

Walter Winchell On Vacation

There seems to be a widespread impression, dead wrong, as such things often come about, that Tom Dewey lacks "warmth."

After many years of close acquaintance with him I can testify that he is an entirely human and most likeable man.

He has never gone in for stunts. He doesn't get himself photographed wearing a brown derby, Indian headdress, Mexican sombrero, Boy Scout regalia or that sort of stuff.

He isn't so much of a baby-kisser. He sends no souvenir postal-cards from whistle-stops to accumulated lists of voters. He is no nightlifer or guest or host at parties where the boys whoop it up.

But he is an entertaining companion with a sense of humor and an exceptional story-teller. He is not a teetotaler, though he drinks little. He is not a first-nighter, though he goes to the theater. He is not a prude, though his dignity rarely relaxes except among his intimates.

No prissy fish could have convicted Lucky Luciano with a parade of such characters as "Cokey Flo" for his witnesses. A man must have experienced and understood life to appraise the possibilities of strange, distorted people.

As a lawyer he had the usual variety of clients. He advised them with a knowledge of human factors as well as the letter of the statutes. I know, because when one of our reporters got tangled up while carrying out a touchy assignment, he did not throw up his hands and get technical; he showed me what his rights were, and they were plenty.

The tradition that a man in high public office, or seeking one, should be a glamor-guy to win is comparatively new. It came in with that phenomenon of personality, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Such presidents as William McKinley and Calvin Coolidge were dour extroverts, but they commanded the confidence of millions. Teddy Roosevelt, Al Smith, Jimmy Walker and others were flashy. But they are not necessarily prototypes to set a standard for American leaders.

William Jennings Bryan had perhaps the greatest magnetism—young, handsome, a Demosthenes, a burning zealot; yet he never was elected to any position more important than that of a congressman from Lincoln, Neb.

Grover Cleveland was a ponderous, mustached, ex-sheriff. But his integrity was so recognized that he, alone, in our history, was elected president after he had been once defeated for reelction.

There is no less sparkling man in my knowledge than Senator Lehman. He is rich, he is no orator, he is stout, baldish, stuffy, yet he is a phenomenal campaigner. The people believe him.

Fiorello LaGuardia was a freak, a dumpy, swarthy, undersized native of Arizona, with a squeaking voice. Yet he captured the imagination of the most sophisticated and glamor-conscious metropolis on earth and held it.

For every Andrew Jackson, who spouted flames and who won great battles, we have had dozens such as John Adams, James K. Polk, Benjamin Harrison and, if you don't mind, Abraham Lincoln, who was derided for his height, his homely countenance and his awkward stance and gait.

Ulysses S. Grant was about as tall as LaGuardia, and chunkier. Woodrow Wilson was a stern, saturnine professor, an egotist and a short-tempered crank. I know—I traveled with him and he got me sent home by wiring my paper because I had asked him whether he sincerely thought he could "keep us out of war."

The least affable man I ever encountered in my work was Charles E. Hughes, who came within a California breeze of being president, and who became a historic secretary of state and chief justice of the supreme court. On the other hand, William Howard Taft was one of the most informal and friendly, unpretentious and democratic. He weighed 300 pounds and had a walrus mustache. But he made the post Hughes missed and graced the one he attained.

No, there is no standard of looks, mannerisms, individual afflatus that can be held forth as surefire for popular acceptance.

Smart alecs have attained it and so have frigid men who abjure circus tricks.

What Others Say:

EDITORS' ROUNDTABLE

ACHESON AND JOHNSON

A rather large minority of editors agree with the Veterans of Foreign Wars resolution calling for the resignations of Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Johnson, the number of editors who would oust Johnson being somewhat the larger. But a minority of like number questions whether Acheson and Johnson can be singled out to bear the blame for our present diplomatic and military situation. And a plurality of editors argue that Acheson and Johnson now know and can avoid mistakes which others in their positions might likewise have made and that ousting them now might impair rather than increase national unity.

Chicago Tribune (Ind.): "The Veterans of Foreign Wars in convention here have expressed their lack of confidence in Secretaries Acheson and Johnson. Only five of the 4,000 delegates voted to uphold Mr. Johnson. Only three thought there was no need for a shakeup in the state department. The delegates represented a membership which is said to total a million and a quarter. . . . The cross-section of American opinion provided by the V. F. W. has startled the political leaders of both parties. . . ."

Philadelphia (Pa.) Bulletin (Ind.): "It is no surprise to find Secretaries Acheson and Johnson the immediate targets for attack by those who are trying to fix blame for this country's unsatisfactory international relations and defense set-up. . . . The two secretaries may have been unwise advisers and at fault in various ways in the administration of their departments; but for the policies themselves . . . the ultimate responsibility goes to the president himself."

San Diego (Calif.) Tribune-Sun (Rep.): "The president doubtless has a share in the responsibility for what has happened. He may even have made the major policy decisions which related to Korea and Formosa prior to June 25. But a president obviously does not give voice to admissions of blame. Instead he has a cabinet which must suffer for errors."

Little Rock (Ark.) Arkansas Democrat (Dem.): "The truth is that there has been fumbling and blundering all around. It probably would have been the same no matter what men were in charge. The national mood favored such a mess. . . . Republicans in congress who voted against aid to South Korea last winter are berating the administration for not having sufficiently armed the South Koreans. . . . It would put our national leaders in a far petter light if they . . . wrenched their eyes off the November election, and swung with greater energy into the task they face."

St. Paul (Minn.) Pioneer Press (Ind.): "Johnson represents an outmoded policy, which looked good to many persons before the Korean explosion. . . . The country now rejects that policy, but Johnson himself would not be human if he did not continue to attempt to justify the economies in military expenditures which he advocated before Korea. While he remains in office uncertainty as to the all-out quality of our defense drive inevitably exists, and complete bipartisan support of our international security program is almost impossible to obtain."

Memphis (Tenn.) Commercial Appeal (Ind.): "Certainly so far as Asiatic situations can be related to the state and defense departments the record up to the time the Korean war started on June 25 speaks for tself to support the plain speaking of the V. F. W. It does not bear out Secretary Johnson's anguished cry of 'politics.' The plain truth of it is that both he and Secretary Acheson have outlived their usefulness in the government and thus to the people."

Pittsburgh (Pa.) Post-Gazette (Ind.): "It may be that Secretary Acheson was wrong in his belief that we should not undertake to rescue the Chinese Nationalists and that we should not try to defend Korea and Formosa. . . . To fix the blame for the war in Korea, one must go back far beyond Mr. Acheson's appointment as secretary of state. The bungling that lead to war must be traced at least as far back as the 1945 Big Three Conference at Yalta, where President Roosevelt entered into agreements giving Russia a green light in Asia."

Columbia (S. C.) Record (Ind.-Dem.) "Acheson and Johnson have made mistakes. but there is nothing to show that anyone else in their places would not have made the same mistakes. It would be a grievous error to replace either of them except with some person whose qualifications for the job were so apparent as to immediately bring about that unity the country needs if it is to pursue its hot and cold war against the Communists to success. They know the mistakes they made and can avoid them hereafter."

BASCOM TIMMONS

There was a time when postage stamps were used merely to put on letters as evidence of the payment of postage.

However, the communists, who have thought up a number of new wrinkles lately, have realized that the postage stamp is a wonderful medium for propaganda.

So are postmarks, which formerly were used for the simple purpose of canceling the stamp and indicating the time and place the letter was posted.

All Soviet postage stamps and those issued by the Communist satellite countries now carry propaganda slogans or honor Communist heroes.

Postmarks, too, are used to carry "class messages." One of the most amazing of these is that which is now being used on all mail coming out of the eastern zone of Germany. It carried the picture of a big potato bug and says, "Watch out for the potato bug." This is in reference to the ridiculous propaganda charge that American planes have been spreading this pest across eastern Europe.

The Soviets have issued over 1,400 stamps since the end of the war, most of them carrying propaganda appeals. They have announced plans for 200 more issues.

The campaign reportedly backfired when Czechoslovakia put out a special set in honor of Joseph Stalin's birthday. The Czech patriots took delight in going to the post office, buying some of the stamps and affixing them to the letters with vigorous thumps of the fist — right on Joe's nose.

The war in Korea is costing money. So is the general "cold war" being carried on all over the world against Communist aggression. With the budget for military expenditures and economic aid now running somewhere in the vicinity of 30 billion dollars a year, a statistically - minded member of congress, Representative Stephen M. Young (D. Ohio) figured out the other day that the average daily outlay by Uncle Sam amounts to more than the daily cost of the Civil War, Spanish American War, and first World War combined.

It used to be, during World War II, that most of the good hotel space in Washington was gobbled by big corporations who wanted to be sure that their executives, coming here on government business would be assured of a place to stay.

The same applied to many of the restricted downtown apartments, some of which were controlled by the hotels. Stories were circulated about riotous parties, with bevies of lovely girls. The truth was that most of the representative of the big corps reached their retiring places tired out, fell on their couches, and went to sleep.

The old story of fancy living was revived the other day by none other than highly conservative Senator Walter F. George (Dem. Ga.) who asserted that the big corporations used the excess profits tax to charge off expenditures.

He used as an illustration that many representatives of the big outfits used their Washington expense accounts to entertain almost everyone, with the result that a good gate - crasher — there are none better than the Washington variety — could make four or five cocktail parties in an evening without leaving any one of the big Washington hotels. After all, he said, the U. S. government was paying the bill, meaning that the industries were avoiding excess profits taxes by listing their entertainment costs as non taxable. The Georgia senator had something there, but not as much as he thought.

Practically all of the same corporations had their government contracts renegotiated after World War II, had their profits so sharply reduced that under another national emergency, their representatives will not be living in anything like the same allegedly lavish style. And as for the cocktail parties, they are just as enjoyable as ever, but getting to the point where a man wearing a hotel uniform stands at the door of the suite to ask your name and business.

Billy Rose:

PITCHING HORSESHOES

STUMBLEBUM, KNOW THYSELF

A friend of mine who lives in Greenwich Village swears he heard a moocher deliver the following spiel to a lady on West 8th street:

"You ask, Madam, how a man with a Harvard accent got to be a bum. Well, you've given me a civil dime and that entitles you to a civil answer: The fact of the matter is that I speak with a Harvard accent for the best of reasons—I went to Harvard.

"In my third year at college, I decided I wanted to be a playwright, and shortly after I graduated cum laude, I finished my first play. And it was a great moment for me, some months later, when I stood in the wings of a Broadway theater and watched its opening performance.

"Next morning, the critics reported that the play had its entertaining moments, but was a bit on the reminiscent side. The first act reminded Atkinson of Clifford Odets; the second, according to Chapman, smacked of Bill Saroyan, and the third, in Morehouse's opinion, was a steal from Eugene O'Neill.

"Well, nobody likes to be accused of pilfering the brains of his betters, and so I gave up the theater and tackled music. I rented a piano, enrolled at Julliard, and after three years of hard work succeeded in having my first symphony performed by the Philharmonic at Carnegie Hall.

"The critics unanimously pronounced it a good symphony, a very good one, in fact—but reminiscent. Olin Downs pointed out there was a bit of Sibelius in my main theme, and Virgil Thompson, always the perfectionist, said he was intrigued by the curious blend of Wagner and Debussy in the second movement.

"I, of course, still had my heart set on expressing my own individuality, and so I abandoned music and turned to oil painting. I went to the Art Students League, sketched at Provincetown for several summers, and after completing over a hundred canvases I was fortunate enough to get myself a one-man show at a 57th street gallery.

"It was the same old story: The art critics went out of their way to be kind, but once again I was Joe Reminiscent. My landscapes, too Matisse-ish, and as for my scenes at Coney Island, one writer opined that Reginald Marsh would not be out of line if he instituted suit.

"Well, Madam, I had to face up to facts. It was obvious that the arts would never bring out the real me, and so after brooding about it I decided to follow the calling which produces more rugged individualists than any other—cab driving.

"Again I went through the necessary apprenticeship. A garage mechanic in my neighborhood taught me how to maneuver in traffic, I studied the street maps of all five boroughs, and finally, through a political connection, I was granted a license by the Hack Bureau.

"The very first day, however, I hadn't been out of the garage more than twenty minutes when a motorcycle cop blew his whistle and pulled alongside. As he wrote out a ticket he explained I had been speeding like Barney Oldfield, rounding corners like Floyd Davis, and burning oil like Sir Malcolm Campbell.

"Well, I was so annoyed with myself that I got out of the cab and left it in the middle of the street.

"Since I was reminiscent, even as a cab driver, I made up my mind right then and there that the only way I could ever find myself was to be myself. And that, Madam, is how I happened to become a bum."

Charles B. Driscoll:

New York Day By Day

New York — Big Brothers of America has headquarters, appropriately, in Philadelphia, City of Brotherly Love.

George A. Grossman sends me literature about the work of the organization in befriending and advising boys who may need friends and wise counsel. He specifies that his organization does not operate homes for unfortunate children, so I presume that it is not related to the Big Brothers for which I recently spoke in Joplin, Mo. They do have a good farm home there, where boys and girls who have been neglected, deserted, or unlucky, are cared for, counselled, fed, washed and dressed.

I was much impressed with the work of the Big Brothers of Joplin. Unselfish persons in other cities might profit by their example.

Mrs. L. S. Carver, Climax, Mich. writes that Thomas Paine was not an atheist, although Teddy Roosevelt referred to him as "a dirty little atheist."

Mrs. Carver quotes from Paine: "I believe in one God, and no other. And I hope for happiness beyond this life. I believe in the equality of man, and I believe religious duties consist in doing justtice, loving mercy, and endeavoring to make our fellow-creatures happy."

Not such a bad ogre was Tom Paine, if he meant all that. But most of us would have included the worship of God as one of the religious duties.

Often I regret that, in some piece of writing, I have not expressed myself clearly enough to avoid all misunderstanding. A lifetime in measuring and using words is not enough. One must have a certain discretion and insight, also.

Clarence L. Ebbert, Wyomissing, Pa., writes me a letter under the impression that I am opposed to all killing of wild game. While I do not have at hand the column from which he got that impression, I blame myself for it. I should have made it clearer than it seems to have been.

Mr. Ebbert very properly points out that it is essential to the preservation of wildlife that a certain amount of thinning out be accomplished among some wild species, from year to year. To say nothing, o fcourse, of the desirability of furnishing game meat for human consumption.

I have never protested against, sensible, food-producing hunting and fishing, now so well supervised in many of our forests and streams in most states. My only protests have been against useless wasteful slaughter, for the primitive purpose of amusing the killer by the mere act of killing.

In fact, my son-in-law, Daniel Boone Schadle, a student of wildlife management in Utah State, now has a new 12 gauge, full choke Winchester, an essential part of his equipment for his studies. I cooperated with him in order to get the college equipment, which is scarce since the wer-before- this. Dan called me up to thank me for the cooperation, saying, "We'll eat well this winter." There is plenty of game and fish out where they live, and keeping wildlife within bounds is part of the training.

Looking Ahead

IN WASHINGTON

Washington—Most unbiased politicians here say they believe that if President Truman suffers any long-range political damage from the marine "police force" incident it will be because some folks think he acts too hastily, without thinking things through.

His prompt apology and appearance before the Marine Corps League took a lot of sting out of the incident.

Nevertheless, it sent chills up and down the spines of many a Democratic lawmaker who likes his work in Washington and wants to be re-elected in November.

One administration lieutenant, who admits he faces a tough fight, says privately he thinks he will do all right— 'Unless Harry 'marines' me again."

Johnson Confident

Washington—(AP)—By accepting an invitation to address the American Legion convention at Los Angeles Oct. 9, Defense Secretary Johnson has indicated he expects to survive the current rash of demands that he be ousted.

However, in view of the recent troubles of Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Navy Secretary Matthews, Johnson probably will have his talk carefully checked in advance by White House and state department. The legion office here says he is "pretty sure to talk on Korea and preparedness."

Cold Steel

Washington — (AP) — Lessons in fighting learned in the Pacific in World War II are paying off now in Korea.

Wartime reprots from Europe, where the doughboy often didn't even see his enemy, led to a fairly widespread belief that the bayonet was out of date. Fighting in the Pacific, however, was another kettle of fish.

Right after the war the army weighted the whole situation and decided to intensify training in use of bayonet, trench knife, rifle butt, fist and foot. Reports tell of considerable fighting of that sort in Korea now.

Want A Job?

Washington—(AP)—The president may not for some time fill the vacancy on the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) caused by the resignation of Chairman Joseph J. O'Connell, Jr., on July 8.

Mr. Truman has tried to fill it, and hard. But men he felt could do the job effectively have turned it down. They said the CAB chairman has to take too much abuse both from politicians and a furiously competitive industry.

Alaska-Hawaii

Washington—(AP)—There's a notable lack of enthusiasm among senators for the idea of statehood for Alaska and Hawaii despite President Truman's plugs for house-passed bills.

Many lawmakers, including even some of those publicly pledged to support the bills, think that with fighting going on in Korea this is no time to be turning two important outposts over to newly formed state governments.

Big Plane Engines

Washington—(AP)—Look for Ford soon to sign a three-way contract with the air force and Pratt & Whitney to produce the type of P & W engine used in the B-36 and other big planes.

This is the R-4360 "major," a 28-cylinder engine of 3,500 horsepower. Some other auto manufacturers will enter licensing agreements shortly after Ford signs.

The big planes are beginning to come off the line faster than engines can be provided for them.

Boost for CAB

Washington—(AP)—The Egyptian government has asked the U. S. to take full charge of the investigation of a (TWA) plane crash near Cairo recently. It offered full cooperation, including policing of the crash area.

U. S. officials regard that as a welcome expression of confidence in the Civil Aeronautics Board's safety division.

Ducks vs. Plows

Washington— (AP) —The Wildlife Management Institute, supported by private sportsmen, says the "first firm move" has been made to resolve the dilemma arising from the facts that (1) The agriculture department wants to drain wet lands for farming and (2) The interior department wants to restore marshlands for waterfowl.

It says this was the aim behind appointment of Everett E. Horn by interior's fish and wildlife service to chew it over with affected agriculture agencies.

Philippine Aid

Washington—(AP)—Further recommendations for ways for the U.S to help the Philippines out of their economic crisis likely will be presented to President Truman within 10 days.

They will come from Mr. Truman's economic survey mission to the island, headed by Daniel Bell, former assistannt secretary of the treasury, which has just completed a two-month study.

That Atomic Book

Washington — (AP) — The government book "The Effects of Atomic Weapons" has gone to press for a third printing. First two printings were 10,000 and 20,000. This one will be 15,000.

Government printing office officials say there's no way to tell for sure, but they have the idea early sales were mostly to the public at large and that now it's mostly doctors and public officials who are ordering.

Political Calendar

Washington — (AP) — Politics this week:

Monday

Tuesday

Minnesota—U. S. house primaries.
New Hampshire—U. S. house and senate primaries.
Vermont- U. S. house and senate primaries.
Colorado—U. S. house and senate primaries.
Arizona—U. S. house and senate primaries.
Washington—U. S. house and senate primaries.
Mississippi—Democratic run - off primary in third congressional district.
Texas—Republican state convention. (Governor and U. S. representatives to be elected, but Republicans may not nominate for all offices.)

Friday-Saturday

Business Briefs

New York — (AP) — Department stores are wondering whether war-scare salles, which turned down recently, will slide on down below sales of a year ago. They worry mostly whether customers bought more than they needed and will now drop out of the market. One merchant asks: "Did we sell September's goods in July?" . . .

No one, not even the federal communications commission (F.C .C.) itself, can say now when regular color television programs will be on the air. Even when a final F. C. C. ruling comes, a shift into color will have to be gradual since 7,000,000 black-white sets are in the public's hands now. . . .

Around The World

Rio de Janeiro—(AP)—Getulio Vargas, Brazil's dictator for 15 years and now a senator, is making a strong race for president as Labor party candidate. He's embracing old enemies and making deals right and left (and center). Political experts now give him as much chance as anybody in the Oct. 3 election.

Georgetown, British Guiana—(AP)—An American-educated African king, Anyanwee Ogueri of Ameze Obibi, in Nigeria, is coming to the British West Indes to observe the social, economic and political life of West Indians of Africa descent.

London — (AP) — American F-84 Thunderjets will participate in an aerial parade over London Friday to commemorate the 10th anniversary of The Battle of Britain.

In all they ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths. —Proverbs 3:6.

There is nothing so small but that we may honor God by asking His guidance of it, or insult Him by taking it into our own hands.

Three Houses Crumble In Swansea, Wales

Swansea, Wales, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Three connecting homes crumpled like a house of cards here early today, killin gat least six of the 23 sleeping occupants.

Five of the victims were children, members of two families. The other was a 74-year old man.

The father of two of the dead children, Cyril Stanley Lewis, also was believed still buried in the ruins, and hope for him was abandoned when rescue crews quit their eight-hour search tonight.

A "terrific roaring and rushing noise" awakened the neighborhood.

"It was a shambles," said Dr. John Shibko, one of the first to reach the scene.

"Debris, brick, furniture and children's toys everywhere. We doctors are not emotional as a rule but it shook me badly.

"It was reminiscent of the very wors days of the blitz, to see a hand sticking out o fthe ruins and feel the pulse to see if there was life there."

George E. Sokolsky:

THESE DAYS

THINKING OUT LOUD

I heard the president of Smith College, Dr. Benjamin Fletcher Wright, say that somehow this country has been involved in every European war since its existence. The reference was to emphasize our being internationally-minded. For instance, the revolutionary war was related to a war between Great Britain and France, to which Spain and Holland were parties. This war was an aftermath of the seven years war, which in this country was known as the French and Indian wars.

However, after the revolution, these European wars barely affected our lives or our economies. Our population increased by immigration from Europe, where social, political and economic conditions drove the populace to despair. Surely, these vast numbers who came to our shores from every country on earth, but principally from Great Britain and Germany, would not have braved the terrors of the Atlantic and of unknown frontier life, were they not driven by necessity.

Thus, the United States was peopled by men and women who knew Europe and preferred our wilderness. Here in freedom, they built a society in which government was a device designed to perform only such duties as could not be done by the individual or by voluntary groups.

So intrenched was the concept that this country had to go its own way that in the annual message of President Fillmore (December 2, 1851), which was probably written by Daniel Webster, appears this paragraph which must sound queer to us in these days when the United Nations actually sits in New York and Jacob Malik denounces this country on its own soil:

" 'Friendly relations with all, but entangling alliances with none,' has long been a maxim with us. Our true mission is not to propagate our opinions or impose upon other countries our form of government by artifice or force, but to teach by example and show by our success, moderation, and justice, the blessings of self-government and the advantages of free institutions. Let every people choose for itself, and make and alter its political institutions to suit its own condition and convenience. But while we avow and maintain this neutral policy ourselves, we are anxious to see the same forbearance on the part of other nations, whose forms of government are different from our own. . . ."

The great change occurred prior to World War II when this country moved into the leadership against Hitler's Germany. Perhaps it is well to fix the point (it is possible to fix it at several points) at the Atlantic Charter (August 14, 1941). This was almost four months before, by act of congress, the United States entered the war.

Since then, the United States has assumed what is so often called world leadership, but what is, in reality, the obligation of maintaining and supporting specific countries in western Europe, and also Greece, Turkey, Iran, Japan, China and part of Korea.

China was eliminated from this group of supported countries as a result of two conflicting ideas: One, that the cost of China would be so great as to make it impossible simultaneously and adequately to support western Europe et al; and secondly, because of the machinations of the pro-Communist group in the state department who had turned China into a political liability for those in power.

The economic effect of this program has been the increase in the public debt, the prolongation of Keynesian economics in our country, and now, war in Korea, with the necessity for the resumption of wartime controls and the conscription of manpower and of commodities for war purposes. It has also accelerated the inflation which has resulted in a reduction of the real value of currency.

Viewing the entire question of world leadership objectively, it is impossible not to ask whether 150,000,000 people, with limited resources, can assume such vast responsibilities without risking economic and social collapse.

Alternatives have been offered in various forms, such as a more effective United Nations, union now, world federation, the North Atlantic Federation, etc. While each of these proposals contains many supportable ideas, all of them inevitably result in the reduction of the United States to control by Europe, either because of the larger population there or by majority rule among countries.

This is our problem and we need to think it out. Party politics and personal ambitions dc not aid in thinking it out.

EDDIE CANTOR TO STAGE SHOW HERE

Cavalcade Of Actor's Show Career Will Be Presented

When Eddie Cantor, star of stage, screen and radio, arrives in Monroe for a one night's appearance at the Neville High School Auditorium Monday, October 16, he will present a cavalcade of his 40 years in show business.

The high point in Mr. Cantor's extensive tour of leading concert auditoriums and college theaters came when he performed before a sell-out audience at Carnegie Hall in New York City in March, 1950.

For two entire hours without an intermission, the rolling - eyed, bouncing legged Eddie held his audience in a convincing trance as he related the joys and woes of his forty years in show business.

Cantor's routine was an objective one as would be a reporter's story. Tales of Eddie's long time association with such greats as Gus Edwards, Georgie Jessel, Al Jolson, Ted Lewis, John Barrymore and others more than kept the audience on their seat's end. Anecdotes such as the one about Jessel's suicide note and how George M. Cohan conned the torching comic out of it, and how Jessel converted the sentimental "farewell" note into a $500 advance on a pop tune; "Tomatoes are Cheaper", a 1932 depression song, were some of the stories that only Eddie Cantor could tell in his own inimitable manner.

Among the songs that Eddie rendered were, "No Business Like Show Business", "Ida", "Margie", "If You Knew Suzie", "The Old Piano Roll Blues", and his now trademarked, "I'd Love to Spend Each Hour With You", among other all-time Cantor fan favorites.

Thurman Sensing,

DOWN SOUTH

SOME QUESTIONS, MR. PRESIDENT

The American people, Mr. President, have a right to ask some basic questions and a right to demand the answers. These questions have to do with how we got into our present war in Korea, our attitude toward future similar outbreaks in any part of the world, and our long range policy as the world's guardian of peace. You have not yet answered these questions—by fireside chat or otherwise.

This is not a question of politics, Mr. President; it is much bigger than politics. I can't imagine that it makes much difference in the foxholes of Korea whether a man is a Republican or a Democrat. It is not even a question of winning the war; the people of the United States do not get into wars with the idea of losing them. But it is a question of the future—perhaps the existence—of this nation.

Questions along these lines have been, and are being, addressed to the secretaries of defense and state. In some quarters there is strong outcry for their removal from office. But these questions should be addressed to you, Mr. President. After all, these two gentlemen are your appointees, they work subject to your direction and approval. As commander-in-chief of our armed forces, as executive head of our government, you are the one who is responsible to the American people. If our present position is all that it should be, you are the one who deserves the credit; if it is not, you are the one who should bear the blame.

First, Mr. President, what about this Korean war? Why weren't we prepared for it? Didn't we know the attack was coming? If not, why not? If we did know, why was the administration indifferent to the danger thus threatened? Didn't we intend to defend Korea? If we did, why didn't we get ready to do it? If we didn't intend to defend Korea, why did we change our mind after the attack commenced?

These questions need answering, Mr. President—and the sooner the better. Nor can you shunt them aside by saying they are politically inspired. The answers affect the well-being of all Americans—not just the Republicans or the Democrats. Nor can you say they do not need answering because they are "water over the dam". If they cannot be answered satisfactorily in this case, how can we expect that they can be answered in future cases?

As you know, of course, Mr. President, some of these questions have been answered—not by you officially, but by our intelligence service before congressional committees. You did know the attack was coming, long before it came. But we still don't know why you condoned a policy of Communist appeasement in the far east for five years, giving the Communists every reason to believe they would have a free hand in Korea, and then at the last minute decided to oppose them when you had nothing to oppose the mwith.

Moreover, Mr. President, you must realize that even a successful conclusion of the Korean War will not answer these questions. Winning the war will not expiate your administration for the sin of leaving the door open in the far east so that it could begin. It will not satisfy the mothers who lost their sons in the early days of the Korean conflict because they were poorly trained and poorly armed and without ammunition. It will not satisfy the mothers and fathers and wives and children of the men now being sent to Korea to fight in a war that never should have begun—or satisfy the men themselves, for that matter. While people generally are noted for short memories, it is not likely that these particular questions will be forgotten even after the war is won.

And finally, Mr. President, are we to continue to be opportunists in the days ahead, or will you set forth a clear-cut policy of our position in world affairs that not only Russia and the rest of the world, but the American people themselves, will understand? Your eight points don't do this.

Whatever the answers to these questions are, Mr. President, the people of the United States will hold you responsible for them.

Bus Drivers Meet With Safety, School Officials

More than 60 school bus drivers from Ouachita parish met with state, parish and city safety and school officials at the parish high school Friday and Saturday.

The meeting, the second annual School Bus Drivers Institute, opened its session in the school auditorium Friday morning with addresses by School Superintendent Mack Avants, Morris Griggs, parish superintendent of transportation, Business Manager Norman H. Edwards, State Supervisor of transportation H. L. Campbell and representatives of the Twin Cities police departments, the sheriff's department and state drivers' license offiicals.

After lunch Friday, the attending delegates were shown a road demonstration of reaction speed and brake effectiveness on modern busses. The demonstration was conducted on a specially policed section of South Grand street from Bry to Telemaque.

Featured in the road test was a means of indicating the exact distance required to stop a bus after a given signal. The mechanism used to chart reaction time was a two - cartridge detonator, loaded with blank bullets. The first cartridge was fired by a safety official riding in the vehicle with the driver being tested. On hearing the first report, the driver was to apply brakes immediately. The second cartridge was fired at the instant the driver applied the brakes. Since both bullets were fired from a point just above the ground on the front side of the bus, they left powder marks on the pavement. The space between marks indicated the distance travelled during the time the driver reacted to the sound and applied the brakes.

Before adjourning for the day, attending drivers were submitted to tests in the Drivers' License Mobile Unit, which was stationed on the grounds of the parish grammar school on South Grand street.

Meetings resumed on Saturday morning with a review of Rules of the Road by state police officials. Following the address, busses were inspected by state police, and F. V. Clay, who is in charge of the parish school bus fleet.

Among the essentials stressed to the drivers were the necessity of impressing pupils with a respect for and understanding of basic school bus safety rules.

Among the primary suggestions to the drivers was the advisability of knowing each student on the bus, and, if possible, of becoming acquainted with the parents of each of the young passengers.

According to Business Manager Edwards, the brief symposium was "a complete success in every way. We hope to hold another next year."

Among the drivers attending the meeting who will drive school busses in the parish were Julius Boughton, Marilynn Ferguson, Mrs. Vertie Roberts, Mrs. Lillian Smith, Bill Worley, Milton Mizell, R. L. Butler, James W. Green, Mrs. Minnie McKnight, Oscar G. Hattaway, Bobby Hare, Mrs. Ruth Plyant, Jack Walker, D. C. Cummings, Charles Malone, Mrs. George Knight, Mrs. Marie McKnight, Newty A. Frost, J. C. Rayner, J. B. Lenard and Mrs. Dorothy Penton.

Although attendance at the session was entirely voluntary, a total of 70 drivers were present for at least one of the two sessions.

Rent Controls Back In Effect In Ozark, Ala.

Ozark, Ala., Sept. 8.—(AP)—This little South Alabama town, just adjacent to newly reactivated Camp Rucker, is putting rent controls back into effect.

It is believed to be the first city in the south to take such action.

An ordinance adopted by the city council on a 3-1 vote fixes rentals at the level of last May 1.

Mayor Douglas Brown said in arguing for its passage, "a state of emergency exists, insofar as housing accommodations and rents are concerned."

He said he knew of case where the rent was jumped from $25 to $50 a month, and another where the charge for three rooms was hiked from $16 to $45.

Bob Thomas:

IN MOVIELAND

Hollywood, Sept. 9.—(AP)—They had a press conference for Vivien Leigh and you'd be surprised at the things she discussed.

Things like avocados, square dancing and nonshifting cars.

A number of the press were ushered into an extra fancy dining room near the set of "A Streetcar Named Desire," Miss Leigh's first American film in ten years. She soon appeared, dressed in a faded dressing gown and a blonde wig for her role. She proved to be more down to earth than the classy surroundings.

"We discovered square dancing," she reported, speaking of herself and her husband, Laurence Olivier, also here for a film role.

"It was the first we'd ever done and we found it great fun.

"We went to a party for children at Edna Best's, intending to stay a half hour. We stayed all evening and had a wonderful time. Square dancing seems to be the best possible way to get one's exercise."

Someone asked if she is driving a car in California.

"Oh, no," she replied. "The traffic is too terrible. And I wouldn't want to try one of those cars that shifts itself, like the ones you have here. I like to shift gears and put in the clutch, not have the car drive itself. That frightens me."

What food is she enjoying most that she didn't get in England? There was no hesitation: "Avocados!"

Miss Leigh dropped one remark that set the reporters scribbling. Asked about Olivier's plans to film more Shakespeare, she replied:

"I don't think he'd reveal. If he did, Orson Welles might start filming the same thing immediately."

Other items of information from Miss Leigh:

Like her husband, she thinks California weather is worse than it used to be. She also noticed that shooting of movies is much faster than ten years ago. She doesn't care for the mustache of "a strange orange color" that Olivier raised for his film role.

He practices his lines at home, but she doesn't "because I know mine." (She played in "Streetcar" in England.) She has no picture plans for the future.

I asked Miss Leigh what happened to the Oscar she won for playing Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind."

"I left it here with my secretary when I returned to England ten years ago," she replied. "I left most of my things here, since there was no telling what would happen in England at that time. However, Oscar is going home with me this time."

BOTH SIDES

Rome, Sept. 10—(AP)—The East vs. West "Cold War" is a hot political battle in Italy with mudslinging and name-calling in which even the newspaperman is fair game. "L" Unita," official Communist newspaper started one fight with a full page charge that eleven of the leading writers and executives of anti-Communist newspapers were once important cogs in Benito Mussolini's fascist press. A week later "Il Quotidiano" Catholic Action paper used a full page to contend that nine former Mussolini propagandists now were among the leading and editors of Italy's pro-Moscow press.

SALVATORE DANNA KILLED IN JAPAN

Former Monroe Resident, Vet Of World War II 'Aircraft Accident' Victim

Relatives of 1st Lt. Salvatore Danna, former resident of Monroe were notified last night that the young flier had been killed in Japan.

Lt. Danna, 27, was a student at Neville High School here, graduating in 1941. He enlisted in the Army Air Force in 1943 and served as a photo-reconnaissance pilot in the China-Burma-India theatre of operations during World War II.

After the war, he stayed in the Air Force and was returned as an instructor to this country, where he served at Randolph Field and Barksdale Field, in Shreveport. While in Shreveport, he was married.

When the Korean invasion began, he was ordered back to the Pacific. His wife, Evelyn, joined him at Manila just before he was moved to an advance base on Japan. They were expecting a child within a month.

Danna, son of the late Joseph Danna of Monroe, was serving with the 26th Troop Carrier Squadron at the time of his death. The secretary of the air force announced that Danna was killed September 6 as the result of an "aircraft accident."

In addition to his wife, who is returning to the United States, he is survived by his stepmother, Mrs. Frances Danna, three brothers, Nick, Leon and Anthony, all of Monroe, and four sisters, Mrs. Joe D'Ambrosio and Mrs. Nick Shambro, both of Los Angeles, and Misses Mamie and Mary Frances Danna, of Monroe.

SOLICITATIONS ARE DIFFERENT

Cancer Society Questions Prudence Of 'Cancer Hospital'

The board of directors of the Ouachita parish unit of the American Cancer Society announced Saturday that the current drive for funds for the nationwide cancer organization has no connection with solicitations for funds for the "National Cancer Hospital of America," which recently sent solicitation letters to residents of this area.

The American Cancer Society, they stressed, has no connection with the other institution or with any private organization of such a nature. The A. C. S. operates on the local and national level independent of any fund - raising agency or private hospitals, providing funds for cancer research and education.

After an investigation of the "National Cancer Hospital," the national Better Business Bureau headquarters in New York City announced that the hospital mentioned in the literature had not yet been built, and that therefore the claim that "70 per cent of the patients (at the National Cancer Hospital) are non - paying guests" was at least inaccurate.

In addition, the bureau stated that a New York fund raising firm which is handling the campaign for the Detroit "hospital" has a contract which assures it of a total of 40 per cent of the funds collected if the drive reaches its goal of $100,000.

Officers of the local unit repeated that all funds collected for the A. C. S. go to that organization, with 60 per cent of the collected total remaining in the state, and the remaining 40 per cent going to national headquarters for research activities, educational material and administration.

TRUMAN APPROVES

that an American may eventually head the west's combined armies.

As part of the over-all policy, reliable informants said, the U. S. is prepared to join in steps toward creating a unified high command, beginning with a central planning staff—and desires the use of German military units as part of the international force.

All these lines of future development will be considered by Acheson with British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman in the Big Three conference opening Tuesday in New York. Later the proposals will figure in meetings of the Atlantic council there Friday and Saturday.

The president did not say how large were the increases he had authorized. Authoritative information is that Acheson and Johnson had recommended enlarging the present American force of one division plus constabulary by five to 10 divisions more.

Latest published figures, now a year old, indicate that the American army strength in Europe is around 100,000. Of this total, about 85,000 are believed to be in Germany, about 10,000 in Austria and about 5,000 in Trieste.

The first division, in Germany, presumably is at full war strength of 17,000. The constabulary is combat trained.

Mr. Truman's statement did not make clear from where or how soon the "substantial increases" would be drawin nor indicate their type.

It is unlikely that divisions-in-being, ready and equipped for combat, will be withdrawn from the reserve at Home as long as the situation in Korea continues to be uncertain.

It takes about a year to begin with raw recruits and build them into a complete division of 17,000 men.

This could be an interim procedure, with the National Guard divisions brought home when new regular army divisions are ready.

Speculation on the number of divisions that might be sent to Europe has varied widely. In some military quarters, thinking is that an initial token forces of three or four divisions might go first, to be followed by more later.

There seemed to be nothing in Mr. Truman's statement to confine the augmentation of European strength to ground units alone.

The increase could include a boost in air and naval strength, too.

Mr. Truman emphasized repeatedly in his brief statement the necessity of simultaneous action by other members of the Atlantic alliance to build up the European defense.

The behind-the-scenes decision on this point is understood to be that in addition to increases in troop strength by such continental countries as France, Britain and Canada also should send new military units to the continent. The bulk of American forces in Europe is located in Germany.

"A basic element in the implementation of this decision (to increase American forces)," the president said, "is the degree to which our friends match our actions in this regard.

"Firm programs for the development of their forces will be expected to keep full step with the dispatch of additional U. S. forces to Europe. Our plans are based on the sincere expectation that our efforts will be met with similar action on their part."

45th Division Units Reaching Camp Polk

Camp Polk, La., Sept. 9. —(AP)— Units of the 45th division moved into Camp Polk today to begin active training as combat soldiers.

Included among those arriving in camp are all but one of the ground units of the Oklahoma National Guard.

In command was Maj. Gen. James C. Styron, who served as division commander through much of World War II. Another division veteran is Col. Ross Routh, division chief of staff who served as division finance officer during World War II.

Advance units of the division have been here for several days. They arrived early to set up facilities for the thousands of men who will pour into the sprawling post during the next three days.

Processing is to start Monday. That is the routine familar to all veterans in which they undergo physical and mental tests.

The division has a long combat record of engagements in North Africa, through Sicily, Salerno, Anzio, southern France and into the heart of the Rhineland. It was in Munich when the war ended. In those battles eight members won the congressional medal of honor.

Deaths

MRS. ANNIE BESS RANDOLPH

Bastrop, La., Sept., 9.—Special)—Mrs. Annie Bess Randolph, 81, of Bastrop, died at a Bastrop Hospital about five o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Randolph is survived by her husband, John Randolph, one son, S. J. Watson, of Little Rock, Ark., 6 grandchildren, and 14 great - grandchildren. Mrs. Randolph was a member of the Baptist Church at Baskin. Funeral arrangements, under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home of Winnsboro, are incomplete.

in his automobile parked further west on Cypress street, police said. said.

Officers W. E. Wilhite and C. E. Wainwright overtook Thomas beyond the Sunshine Dairy on U. S. Highway 80. The pipeline worker fired two shots at the trailing officers before police forced him off the highway into a fence and garbage can.

Thomas jumped from his automobile and escaped into the woods firing two more shots at police. He entered the woods near the Dixie Tourist Courts.

The two patrolmen radioed for assistance and followed Thomas a distance through the woods before losing trace of him.

State police blockaded highways while other officers probed woods and sideroads.

Police Chief Jeff Caldwell pointed out that C. D. Lowery of Hodge, and Roller had been in Thomas' company earlier in the afternoon. He related that Thomas attempted to rob Roller after he had paid for having a flat tire fixed and bought gasoline.

Roller told police Thomas struck him over the head with a pistol tol while they were parked on Cypress street and said, "I'll kill you if you don't give me your money." Dr. J. T. French, Ouachita Parish coroner, treated Roller's head injury.

Authorities found signs where Thomas had run into fences, including a piece of the blue and white shirt he was wearing. Earlier state police had given Thomas a ticket for driving without a license which was found on the seat of his abandoned automobile.

The license plate on the car had been removed, authorities said.

Ban All Religions Except Catholicism

Bogota, Colombia, Sept. 9.—(AP)— The newspaper El Liberal reported today that Col. Nestor Mesa Prieto, chief of the Caqueta territory in southeast Colombia, has banned all religious worship other than that of the Roman Catholic Church there.

The dispatch, from Florencia, said police had been ordered to break up all non-Catholic religious gatherings. Violators of the decree said the newspaper, will be fined 100 pesos (about $51) or will be jailed for 50 days.

A secretary for the minister of interior here said he had not heard of the Caqueta decree.

The secretary said there was absolute freedom of worship in Colombia.

13th time in three weeks the mountain had changed hands.

The Red losses boosted their casualties for the week to more than 15,000 men on the southern fronts to 27,000 in eight days—S. estimates of Red losses on all fronts to 27,0000 in eight days—about 18 per cent of their estimated 150,000-man force.

North Koreans captured Battle mountain with a dawn attack Saturday. Outnumbered Americans retook it later in the day, but the Reds seized it again despite an American artillery barrage of 7,000 rounds and several strikes by U. S. planes.

There was lesser action on two other Korean fronts.

U. S. first cavalry troops, defending Taegu on the north and northwest, stood their ground solidly Saturday against constant enemy pressure.

The Americans held high ridges seven miles north of Taegu to which they withdrew Friday before Red assaults down the Kumhwa "bowling alley" corridor from the northwest.

The enemy probed hard all along the line, apparently in an effort to keep the defenders off balance until North Korean reinforcements could be brought up.

Red strikes at U. S. second division positions west of Yongsan and against British army positions west of Taegu on the Naktong river front were turned back. The defenders lost no ground.

Allied planes got in 140 close-support missions late Saturday when the weather cleared. Most of the strikes were delivered at the newly formed allied defense line between Yonchon and Kyongju.

The renewed air fighting was costly to the small group of royal Australian Mustang fighter pilots dare-devil close-up ground support work.

The Australians, lost their wing commander, L. T. Spence, whose record covered fighting in North Africa and the Pacific in World War II.

TRUMAN

—must give up some of the things we would ordinarily expect to have for ourselves and our families."

But, he said, this must be done if we are to "build up the strength which the free world needs to deter Communist aggression."

In the president's address—his second "fireside chat" in eight days came only a few hours after he approved "substantial increases" in our military forces in western Europe and called on the other Atlantic pact nations to do likewise.

"The leaders of Communist imperialism," he said in his broadcast address, "have military forces at their command. They have shown that they are willing to use these forces in open aggression.

"The free nations have no alternative but to build up the military strength needed to support the rule of law in the world. Only in this way can we convince the Communist leaders that aggression will not pay."

The executive order handed the bulk of Mr. Truman's power to parcel out scarce materials to Secretary of Commerce Sawyer—except that he and other top officers must defer to Symington on major policy issues.

Symington was authorized to settle inter-agency disputes: prescribe "policy and program directives" with the president's approval; keep tab on the work of the other agencies; advise Mr. Truman on progrss; and take such steps as he may feel are needed to coordinate domestic mobilization measures.

Besides Secretary Sawyer, these officials were named to wield the priority and allocations power:

The interstate commerce commission was assigned domestic transportation, storage and port facilities, but not air transport or coastal and overseas shipping, which are under Sawyer's supervision.

The executive order authorized the armed forces and other agencies to guarantee loans to war contractors for plant expansion and the financing of war contracts.

The reconstruction finance agency was directed to make loans for plant expansion and for boosting production of needed metals and minerals; while general services administrator Jess Larson was authorized to buy needed materials.

The president frowned upon any national attitude of "businsss as usual." He told the people that sacrifices must be made to expand production and head off the inflationary threat.

"This will require harder work and longer hours for everybody," he said. "It will mean additional jobs for women and older people."

He asked housewives and businessmen to exercise restraint in their purchases.

"For the consumer," he said, "the guiding principle must be: buy only what you really need and can not do without."

If the housewife follows that rule, he promised, "there will be enough of the essentials—in fact, enough of almost everything—to go around."

For businessmen, he said, the operating rule should be: "Do not pile up inventories; hold your prices down."

And for labor he set forth this guide:

"Do not ask for wage increases beyond what is needed to meet the rise in the cost of living."

The president made it abundantly clear he is ready to invoke price wage controls if necessary. In an order issued before the broadcast-telecast, he ordered all businessmen to keep records of their prices and costs between May 24 and June 24.

If prices rise "unreasonably" above that level—the month preceding the Communist onslaught on Korea—congress has authorized him to clamp controls on wages and prices in the runaway industries.

The record-keeping requirement, Mr. Truman told the people, means that information will be on hand "to set ceilings at fair levels, and to identify the sellers who have taken advantage of the present emergency." He went on:

"I have also issued an order establishing an economic stabilization agency, to be headed by a stabilization administrator.

"This administrator will guide our voluntary efforts to hold down inflation. It will also be his task to find out where and when price and wage controls are needed."

The administrator will have under him a "director of price stabilization," who will advise on what should be done to hold the price line. A wage stabilization board also will be set up to help fix wage policies. It will include representatives of labor, management, and the public, Mr. Truman announced.

The agency will go right to work on "present danger spots," the president said. In conferences with labor and management it will try to work out voluntary safeguards.

"However, if these efforts fail, price ceilings and wage restrictions will have to follow," the chief executive warned.

Mr. Truman pledged that the law which congress approved will be faithfully administered. However, he voiced concern over legislative matters.

"We cannot yet be sure," he said, "that the new law permits effective use of selective controls. As a result we might have to resort to general controls before they are really necessary. This may prove to be a serious defect in the law which will require correction.

COLLEGE FACULTY INCREASED HERE

'Woody' Boyles, Former N.J.C. Star, Will Be Assistant Coach

Several new faculty and staff members have been added to the personnel of Northeast Louisiana State College, announced President Lewis C. Slater. They will assume their positions when the fall semester opens Monday, with registration beginning at 9 a. m.

Football enthusiasts can look forward to seeing a familiar figure on Brown Field this year. Henry "Woody" Boyles, who gained recognition as an outstanding quarterback on Coach James L. Malone's Indian squad, will have a full time program now as assistant coach of the Redskins.

Boyles, a Mississippian, was teaching and coaching at the high school in Delhi, La., last season. An alumnus of Northeast Junior College, he went to Tulane University, New Orleans, where he received the bachelor's degree in physical education.

Two instructors, John Luffey and Jerry H. Rust, Jr. have been employed in the commerce department. Luffey, also a former student of the local college, was a gridiron favorite when he was a blocking back on the Indian team. A resident of Monroe he went to Centenary College, Shreveport, for his last two years of undergraduate work, then to the University of Texas, Austin, to complete studies for his Master's degree.

Rust comes from Kentucky but he received both the bachelor of science and the master of arts degrees at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn. He holds membership in the United Business Education Association and Kappa Delta Pi, honorary educational fraternity.

The science department will have two new instructors, Miss Frances Baldwin of Monroe and Pat Mitchell of Nashville . Miss Baldwin attended Northeast Junior College and Louisiana State University, where she completed sutdies for the B. S. degree in 1948. Since then she has been a graduate assistant at the University. She had experience in 1944 as a design engineer for Curtiss Wright Corporation. Miss Baldwin holds membership in Iota Sigma Pi, honor society.

Mitchell, biology instructor, holds the B. S. degree for Middle Tennessee State College and the M. A. degree from George Peabody College.

W. C. Buchanan, a member of the local college faculty in 1948-49, returns this fall to continue instruction in the field of social science. He was on the Bastrop High School faculty last year. Prior to coming to Louisiana, Buchanan had experience in his native Tennessee as teacher and principal in public schools. His bachelor's degree was awarded by Austin Peay State College, Clarksville, Tenn., and the master's degree by George Peabody College. Between 1942-1946 he saw service in the U. S. Army in the rank of captain.

New staff members include Miss Joyce Stringer and Mrs. R. D. Whitecotton. The former has been employed as a library assistant. A resident of this city, Miss Stringer is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School with a commerce major. She did office work in the library there and was a member of the O. P. H. S. Honor Society.

Mrs. Whitecotton, also a Monroyan, has accepted a position in the campus bookstore. She has had experience as an employee of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company here.

American Jews Owe No Allegiance To Israel

New York, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Israel Prime Minister David Ben Gurion's statement that American Jews "owe no political allegience to Israel whatsoever" was hailed by an American Jewish leader today as of "historic significance."

Jacob Blaustein, Baltimore industrialist and leader of the American Jewish committee, told a press conference that Ben Gurion clarified a situation that had "disturbed Jews all over the world."

Blaustein, who returned today on the Cunard Liner Caronia after conferring with Ben Gurion in Israel, said:

"Ever since Israel came into being there has been confusion and misunderstanding as to the relationship of Israel to Jews in other countries, particularly those in free democracies and especially those in America."

ARMY'S TRAINING TO STREAM-LINE

Designed To Produce Tougher Soldiers At Faster Tempo

Washington, Sept. 9. —(P)— The army is using a stream-lined training program, sparked by Korean war veterans, to ready new soldiers for the battlefront.

Details of the program were outlined today by General Mark W. Clark, chief of the army field forces, in a statement distributed by the department of defense.

"Army training in the United States has been accelerated in tempo and toughened in character with the view to producing thoroughly trained soldiers in the shortest possible time," Clark said.

Under a new directive, he reported, every trainee—no matter the type duty he may get—is subjected to 14 weeks of training in infantry fighting tactics. After that he gets a brush-up as a member of a unit operating under battle conditions.

In this latter phase, special instruction teams in various weapons and tactics take a hand. These teams include combat veterans of the Korean campaign, Clark said.

Clark did not say how long the new training program takes but he did say that it "substantially" reduces the 36 weeks formerly required to complete the training of one unit.

Although the accent is on Korean fighting conditions, ,Clark indicated that the possibility of other conflicts elsewhere is not being overlooked.

"Great care has been taken to differentiate between changes or modifications in training methods, organization and equipment which are necessary and which can generally be effected locally to cope successfully with the particular terrain and type of enemy encountered in Korea and changes or modifications which appear feasible for adoption as a general proposition," he said.

Standard Time Is Resumed In Orient

Tokyo, Sunday, Sept. 10. —(P)— Daylight saving time ended in Japan and South Korea at Saturday midnight.

All along the United Nations lines on the Korean beachhead and at busy general headquarters in Tokyo, watches were set back one hour as standard time was resumed.

This area now is 14 hours ahead of eastern standard time in the United States and nine hours ahead of Greenwich Mean time.

South Korea went on daylight time last April and Japan followed June 6.

ARMS RUSH TAPS PEACE PROGRESS

However, Re-Armament Seen By Attlee As 'Preventive Medicine'

London, Sept. 9. —(P)— Prime Minister Clement Attlee described Britain's re-armament program today as a dose of preventive medicine aimed at forestalling a new war.

He told a regional labori party rally in his constituency of Walthamstow, a London district, that the decision "to look to our defenses" was taken with regret.

It meant a setback, he said, to the labor government's efforts "to raise the standards of life throughout the world."

Attlee said "one of the reasons why we regret this enforced increase of armaments is that it inevitably takes away from us resources which we want to use to build up the positive policy of peace." But, he added:

"What has happened in Korea is only one example of dangerous aggressive tendencies the whole world over and we have therefore to look to our dfenses because we are out to prevent war."

He predicted that the Labor party, which suffered a severe setback in last February's election and barely maintained its grip on the government, will regain its losses in the next election.

"I can't quite tell you when that will be but there is no harm in being ready," he said.

Lord Woolton, chairman of the Conservative party, charged in a speech at Flint that the government is slack in permitting the sale of wool and rubber to Russia, in addition to machine tools.

"How like this unbalanced government to allow a potential enemy to buy from us the very raw materials with which they can make war on us," he said.

Want Production By Germans Speeded Up

Bonn, Germany, Sept. 9. —(P)— British occupation authorities have recommended that demilitarization controls on west German factories be lifted to speed their return to normal peacetime production, an official spokesman said tonight.

The idea will be presented to the conference on British, French and American foreign ministers in New York next week.

German factories still would be barred by allied laws from producing war materials, the spokesman said.

But present allied controls and licensing systems would be abolished. Instead of filling out extensive allied forms every time he wanted to expand or make a change in his business, a factory owner could operate as he wished so long as he did not violate allied laws prohibiting arms manufacture.

In 1945 any German factory which contributed to war production was placed automatically under demilitarization control. The establishments ranged from the huge Krupp combine to village blacksmiths who turned out small items like cartridge cases.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said today "much of Germany's future fate" will be decided by the foreign ministers in New York.

"The possibilities of this conference are extraordinarily big," he commented to reporters.

Three Brothers Face Induction Together

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(P)—Five brothers are slated to answer a call to the colors together on Monday.

The Leone brothers of Utica, two of them veterans of World War II, are members of a national guard unit ordered to report Monday for active army duty.

The unit, the 132nd ordance medium automotive maintenance company, is expected to move into training camp within 10 days.

The brothers are Sgt. First Class Francis A. Leone, 29; Sgt. First Class John L. Leone, 23; Cpl. Anthony C. Leone, 21; Pfc. Michael R. Leone, 19, and Pvt. Robert R. Leone, 18.

In World War II, Francis served in the Pacific theater with the 27th army division and John served with the Seabees, also in the Pacific area.

CANCER CAMPAIGN TO START MONDAY

Chairman 'Dutch' Martin Appoints Mrs. Gordon Wright Co-Chairman

Miss Nona "Dutch" Martin, chairman of the campaign fund drive for the Ouachita Parish unit of the American Cancer Society, announced this week the appointment of Mrs. Gordon Wright of Monroe as co-chairman of the campaign, which begins officially tomorrow.

Miss Martin made the announcemen tfrom the A. C. S. local telephone headquarters in the lobby of the Virginia Hotel, where preliminary solicitation has already begun.

In a call for more public support than ever before for the drive, Miss Martin stressed that 60 per cent of all the money collected in Louisiana remains here for the state program, 25 per cent goes for research on the scientific puzzle of the causes of cancer and 15 per cent goes to the national office for the preparation of educational material and administration.

"All in all," she said, "the state really gets more money from the A. C. S. than is collected here, when we consider the huge research grants made each year to Louisiana universities and medical centers."

Train Derailment In India Kills Fifty

Calcutta, India, Sept. 9.—(P)—At least 50 persons were killed and 50 injured when the Chittagong express was derailed Friday night 40 miles out of Dacca, advices reaching here tonight said. The wreck was officially described as a "clear case of sabotage."

Vet Fired For Not Signing Loyalty Oath

Indianapolis, Sept. 9. —(P)— The state highway department today fired an overseas veteran who is an Indiana National Guard officer because he refused to sign a non-Communist 'loyalty oath.

Samuel C. Hadden, highway commission chairman, said William G. Prescott, 30-year-old first lieutenant in the 38th division, was dismissed effective immediately.

Prescott took an oath of allegiance to the United States when he entered the National Guard. A non-Communist loyalty oath is now being required by state department heads.

Hadden said Prescott explained he refused to sign the state loyalty oath because it 'might conflict" with his allegiance to uphold the federal consitution, and because he had been threatened with loss of his job and "I couldn't sign the oath freely."

Prescott said his great-great-grandfather fought at Bunker Hill. The highway employee served in France with a topographic unit and married a French girl but they now are divorced.

The commission said Prescott's work with the department was "excellent."

Looking for a Money Saver?

Better Buy Buick!

You can see here how smart it is—don't have to be told that it's the most quickly identified car on the road today.

You probably know that the engine under that broad bonnet is a Fireball straight-eight valve-in-head engine and a lively stepper in any company.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT—This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

You can check the abundance of its room by the simple expedient of taking the family and trying out its spaciousness at the nearest Buick dealer's—and a very few minutes on the open road will satisfy you that all-coil springing, low-pressure tires and Buick's torque-tube drive really do produce a ride that is matchless for its soft comfort.

BUT RIGHT NOW, it may be that the money angle is the thing uppermost in your mind, and on that we'd like to make two points:

All our records go to show that this is the most economical Buick ever built. It is easy on gas, on oil, on tires, on upkeep.

And if you choose it with Dynaflow Drive,* it immediately eliminates all chance of friction-clutch repair and replacement—not to mention greatly reducing rear-axle and transmission maintenance.

Best of all, your initial outlay is a highly favorable one—whatever Buick you buy. For these brawny straight-eights—built rugged and solid for durable service—are priced at a level that makes them a standout buy in any price class.

Yes, better buy a Buick. Your dealer will be glad to demonstrate, glad to work out all the arithmetic of a deal. See him right away and get an order signed.

SPORTS ERRORS COSTLY, BATHERS WIN AGAIN

HOT SPRINGS WINS BY 9 TO 3 MARGIN TO LEAD IN SERIES

No Game Today, Clubs Tangle Again In Fourth Game Tomorrow Night

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 9 (Special) Still suffering from a bad case of erroritis that hit its peak when they committed eight errors in losing to Hot Springs at Monroe last night, the Monroe Sports fumbled away another to the Bathers here tonight, 9 to 3, as the Spas took a 2-1 edge over their Louisiana rivals in their semifinal Cotton States League playoff.

The Sports committed five miscues here tonight, running their total for the series so far to 14, and had they been able to come through with flawless play tonight they should have won the game, 3 to 1.

SERIES EVEN

Pine Bluff, Ark., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Natchez got only three hits, but two of them were homers, and defeated Pine Bluff 6-1 to even up their Cotton States League playoff series at 1-1.

The game, once delayed by a downpour, and played in a light drizzle, took more than three hours from start to finish.

Lefthander John Miskulin, always pesky for Pine Bluff, was touched for eight hits by the Judges tonight, but he kept them well scattered.

Three Pine Bluff pitchers tried to stem the tide, but the Judges made five boots afield to go with those three hits. Dick Chilton hit one of the homers in the second, and Jim Gilbert lofted one, good for three runs, in the sixth.

Score by innings:

Natchez 011 013 000—6 3 1

Pine Bluff 000 001 000—1 8 5

Miskulin and Zini; Duren, Picken (5), Synder (6) and Burrow.

The two clubs rest Sunday as Hot Springs turns out for national boat races being conducted here, but the series will be resumed here Monday night.

Don Tierney, a Hot Springs outfielder with a pitching record of four wins and one loss for the season, came in to hurl the victory tonight, doing a magnificient job for eight innings before he weakened in the ninth to give up four successive hits, but he finished the game handily.

Bobby Johnson, regarded as the No. 2 hurler of the Monroe mound staff, absorbed the beating and contributed to his own downfall by committing two errors and handing out six walks, four of the free passes resulting in runs. Jim Willis finally came to Johnson's relief in the eighth and served up the lone earned Bather run.

Only last night the Spas had handed Cliff Coggin his first loss since back in June, giving the 21-game winner his sixth defeat of the season. With the failure of the top Monroes pitchers the last couple of nights and the crack-up of the inner defenses, the promise of the Sports to win out in the series begins to look slimmer.

The Bathers used three errors, a lone hit, and three bases on balls to grab the lead with three runs in the first inning.

Jerry Brezen and Bob Hoeft worked Johnson for free passes. Alex Cosmidis slapped out an infield hit, fielded by Johnson who threw wild past first, permitting Brezen to score and advancing the other runners a base. Dan Phalen was intentionally passed, filling the sacks. Marty Lee fanned, but Steve Solis slapped a grounder to Tucker at short who stepped on second, forcing Phalen. Tucker then threw wild past first, allowing Solis to romp on to second while Hoeft and Cosmidis scored. Fred Wasiluk then reached first safely when Charlie Cline booted his grounder to third, but Irv Rabka popped out to Cline to end the inning.

The Sports snagged one run in the sixth when Jim Pace led with a base on balls, went to third on Leonard Morrison's single, and scored as Ray Cross forced Morrison at second.

Fumblitis cost the Sports heavily again in seventh and five runs came across on two hits, two errors, and two bases on balls.

Rabka drew a walk to start it off. Tierney punched a sacrifice bunt in front of the plate, and Johnson, fielding the ball, threw wild past first, advancing both runners an extra base. A single by Brezen scored Rabka Hoeft sacrificed, advancing Brezen, but Tierney held third. Cosmidis walked, loading the bases. Phalen grounded to Cline at third, and Cline threw wild past first, and all runners scored while Phalen romped around to third from where he scored on an outfield fly by Marty Lee.

The Sports, held to two hits for eight innings, finally got a hitting flurry underway in the ninth to fashion two more runs but they came to life too late to do any damage. Two were already out when Sinclair Kouns punched a single into center. Wayne Moon followed with a double to left, putting Kouns into cneter. Wayne Moon followed with a double to left, putting Kouns on third. Virgil Bivens, batting for Willis, brought Kouns home with a single into center, and Carl Tucker followed with a fourth straight hit that scored Moon, but Pace grounded out and it was Hot Springs' ball game.

PEP, SADDLER DUE FOR WINTER BOUT

Wee Willie Gets Chance To Reclaim Feather Crown In February

By Murray Rose

New York, Sept. 9.—(AP)— Willie Pep, the ex-titleholder and Sandy Saddler, the newly recrowned featherweight champion, will battle it out for the fourth time in February and this time the scrap will be broadcast and televised.

No. 4 in this hot and argumentive fistic feud will be stated in Madison Square Garden, scene of the first two bouts. Both of those tilts were aired and telecast.

Last night's "rubber" bout was fought before a record playing crowd for 'little men' — 38,781 fans and $262,118 — in Yankee Stadium. There was no radio or T. V. at the insistence of the managers of both fighters.

The International Boxing Club has a contract to air and T. V. its Garden shows, however, and Harry Markson managing director of the I. B. C., said this fight would be no exception.

Markson, incidentally, said the Joe Louis - Ezzard Charles heavyweight title tussle in Yankee Stadium, Sept. 27, 'most likely will be broadcast and televised."

From another source it was learned that contracts already had been signed and that a brewing company had paid $200,000 for the air privilege. Louis and Charles will get the same percentage of the T. V. and radio money as they will collect from the gate receipts.

Louis is down for 35 per cent and Charles 20 per cent. Thus the Brown Bomber will collect about $70,000 and Charles $40,000 before they even step into the ring.

Referee Ruby Goldstein signalled the end of the fight after the bell rang for the start of the eighth round. Thus it goes into the records as an eight round kayo.

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, who reset Pep's shoulder in the ring, said the ex-champion was okay now but that he would have to take things easy for about six weeks.

And Wee Willie will have $92,408 to take along with him on his vacation. That was his cut of last night's gate. Saddler collected $30,802. Pep received 45 per cent of the net gate and Saddler 15 per cent.

They each will get 30 per cent for No. 4. Charley Johnston, Saddler's manager, said the skinny, 24-year-old Negro will fight a couple of times before meeting Pep again. But he won't take on lightweight champion Ike Williams immediately.

"We want to defend the title at least once before we sign for a shot at Williams' crown," said Johnston.

Ouachita Freshmen Start Work On Grid Tomorrow

"We have a promising first string this year and the new boys can learn a lot if they get out here early and work hard," he added.

Bastrop Barons Defeat Arkansas All-Stars, 5-2

Bastrop, La., Sept. 9.—(Special)—The Bastrop Barons boosted their reputation several notches Saturday night by defeating a composite All-Star team from Arkansas 5 to 2.

The Arkansas All-Stars came from Crosset, Camden, Arkansas A. and M. and the El Dorado Lion Oilers.

Linzay led the batting attack for the Barons with three for four. Heavy hitters on the All-Star team were Jesse Harrison, manager, Lairch and Benson.

RULE OUT LATE JUDGE ADDITION

Haraway Refused To Forfeit Game Won Over Natchez With Schilens

Helena, Ark., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Cotton States League President Al Haraway today ruled George Schilens ineligible to play for Pine Bluff in the Cotton States playoffs.

But he refused to forfeit a game in which Pine Bluff defeated Natchez 6-0 Thursday night.

Haraway said he could find neither a Cotton States nor a minor league rule to cover the case, and finally relied on the major league rule on the point.

The pennant winning Pine Bluff Judges, who have lost four star players in the last 11 days, obtained Schilens from Appleton of the Wisconsin State League. But Natchez protested that he was not actually with Pine Bluff on the last day of the season.

Haraway said the deal for Schilens was completed and the player signed a Pine Bluff contract before the season ended, but did not reach Pine Bluff until after the regular season closed.

"There is no Cotton States rule on that point and I couldn't find a major rule to cover it," Haraway said, "so I took the major league ruling as indicating 'the intent.' "

The majors begin a player's active status when he actually joins the team.

"I'm getting into the realm of the U. S. supreme court with that 'intent' business," Haraway said, "but I couldn't figure any other way to settle the matter."

However, he added that because there is no Cotton States rule on the point and since Pine Bluff had complied with all requirements and acted in good faith in the matter, he would not forfeit the one game in which Schilens played.

Sicily Island Grooms For Jena 'B' Contest

Sicily Island, La., Sept. 9.—(Special) — The Sicily Island Tigers are warming up this week for the opening game of the season on next Thursday night. This will be played against the Jena "B" team at 8 p .m. on the Tigers' home field.

Raymond Peace, coach, said the team is shaping up well and that practice has been very satisfactory.

Cecil Thurman, however, will more than likely be out of the opener because of a shoulder injury.

Favored Jacodema Cops Narragansett Feature

Pawtucket, R. I., Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Apheim stable's Jacodema, winner of the Astoria Stakes at Aqueduct in her last start, today won the $6,750 Jeanne D'Arc stakes at Narragansett Park.

Favored at 7 to 10 by the crowd of 18,903, the 2-year-old daughter of Jacopo raced to an easy victory over 10 others, leading the Cresson farms' Betty Lamar by two lengths at the finish of six furlongs.

Jacodema's time was 1:11 1-5 and she paid $3.40 while earning $4,825 for her owner. The young filly has now earned $19,450 in her seven starts.

Third went to G. S. Moore's Doll Foot.

Oak Grove Defeated By Jonesboro-Hodge

Oak Grove, La., Sept. 9.—(Special—Opening their 1950 gridiron season, fighting and determined Oak Grove High School eleven bowed 18-6 to a powerful Jonesboro-Hodge running and passing attack here last night.

The visiting Tigers scored their first touchdown in the initial quarter on a 15-yard right end sweep by Koonce, flashy left - half. Koonce set up his own TD with a 60-yard end run from his own 20 to the local's 20-yard line.

Early in the second quarter, Jonesboro - Hodge struck again, with Koonce going 42 yards from i side right tackle to score.

Receiving the kick-off following Jonesboro - Hodge's second TD, Oak Grove Fullback Bill Lee gathered it in on his own 10 and behind excellent blocking scampered 90 yards for his team's lone marker. Tackle B. W. Walters' kick for the point was blocked.

Late in the fourth quarter, Jonesboro - Hodge recovered an Oak Grove fumble by Smith, attempting to punt out from 20. On fourth down, Koonce took the hand off from Dean and passed to Blake in the flat, who went 15 yards for the final tally of the game.

This was Oak Grove's initial game in Class A competition. Last year they won three and lost seven in Class B play. Jonesboro-Hodge added its second victory in as many games this season, having already defeated the Natchitoches Red Devils, 20-6.

L.S.U. Defensive Captain Hurts Ankle In Scrimmage

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 9.—(AP)—A mild injury marred an hour and a half scrimmage by Louisiana State's football Tigers today.

Defensive Capt. Jack Cole, who calls defense patterns from his linebacking position, limped off the field with a bad ankle. The injury was not considered serious, however.

Two newcomers and a veteran took honors in the scrimmage. Halfback Kenny Konz, a fancy-dan type runner, flashed downfield form that won him a letter and plaudits last season. Sophomores Norman Stevens and Paul Miller also caught on today.

Stevens tossed accurate passes from the T-quarterback slot. Miller spent the afternoon hauling down ball-carriers who came near his defensive tackle.

L. S. U.'s first game is Sept. 23, at Lexington, Ky., against Kentucky.

MOBLEY FACES LOZANO, KEENE MEETS SEGURA

'Bull Of Pampas' Returning To Local Mat After Long Absence

A double main event wrestling show that heralds the return to the local mat scene of Garza Lozano, the "bull of the pampas" from Argentine, will be offered by Promoter Gus Kallio at his Walnut street arena here Tuesday night.

Promoter Kallio last night announced Lozano, showing here for the first time in several years, will be matched against Rex Mobley, former world's light - heavy champ from Texas City, Tex., in one half of his twin bill.

Appearing in the other section with equal billing will be Bobby Segura, light - heavy kingpin of Mexico, and Don Keene, Birmingham, Ala.

Both matches will have time limits of an hour and fifteen minutes with two falls to win.

But Keene, figuring Segura has already had enough chances without giving somebody else a chance to move against Curtis, succeeded into talking himself into the Segura match since Curtis was not available to show here.

"Segura has already met Curtis three times since Jack took the crown from him this summer," Keene argued. "Segura is not the only challenger around, and I think some of us deserve just as much to get at the champ as Segura.

"If Segura can beat me, I'll stop my own end of the fuss for a while and concede him top-ranking for another challenge match with Jack. But if Segura can't beat me he has no more right to keep getting bouts with Curtis than a lot of other light-heavies trying for the same thing."

WHIZ KIDS JUMP LEAGUE MARGIN WITH 7 TO 6 WIN

New York Nationals Shutout Brooks, 2-0, On Dark's Two Homers

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—(AP)— The Philadelphia Phillies increased their National League lead to 6 1-2 games today as Willie Jones slashed a ninth inning single — his second hit in 27 times at bat — to beat the Boston Braves 7 to 6.

Eddie Waitkus led off the ninth with a single to right and Richie Ashburn sacrificed him to second. Jones, who has been in a paralyzing slump, took a ball and a strike from relief pitcher Mickey Haefner, and then blasted a hit to left scoring Waitkus with the winning run.

It ended a bizarre contest in which seven pitchers — four for Boston and three for Philadelphia —saw action. There were two passed balls and four errors.

Konstanty, however, was not his usually reliable self. The Phillies broke a 4-4 deadlock with two runs in the eighth on a double by Del Ennis, bunt single by rookie Jack Mayo, single by Granny Hamner and single by Mike Goliat. But in the ninth, Earl Torgeson singled and Bob Elliott pickled one of Konstanty's pet sliders into the left field seats for his 21st homer of the year.

That set the scene for Jones to send 24,488 fans, including 9,158 kids admitted free, home happy.

The only unhappy note for the winning Phillies was the last appearance of starting pitcher Curt Simmons. The 21-year-old lefthander made his last major league appearance for the duration of the Korean war emergency. He leaves tomorrow with the 28th division of the Pennsylvania National guard for active army duty at Camp Atterbury, Ind. Curt gave up nine hits in his 6 2-3 inning stint and left with the score 4 to 1 against him. He leaves the Phillies with 17 wins and eight losses.

REDS WIN PAIR

Cincinnati, Sept. 9. —(AP)— The Cincinnati Reds pushed Chicago further down in seventh place today by clipping the Cubs, 7-4, 7-5, in a double header. A six-run fifth inning wrapped up the nightcap for the sixth-place Reds despite homers by Hank Sauer, Andy Pafko and Phil Cavarretta. Ken Raffensberger pitched and batted Cincinnati to its first game win.

BUCS BEAT CARDS

St. Louis, Sept. 9. —(AP)— Four straight doubles, a sacrifice and then a single in the eighth were good for four runs, enabling the Pittsburgh Pirates to come from behind to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 5-4 tonight in the first game of a twi-night double header. Bill Howerton got three doubles for the Red Birds, Ralph Kiner two for Pittsburgh.

The second game was called after 1 1-2 innings because of rain. It can't be played tomorrow because a double header already is scheduled.

Cardinal officials said it can't be played Monday, either, because both teams take to the road. Pittsburgh is slated for New York Tuesday and the Cardinals for Philadelphia the same day.

"You might say it's cancelled, as of now, unless we find a way of fitting it into the schedule later," a Red Bird spokesman declared. "But the schedule doesn't seem to offer any possibilities."

GIANTS BLANK BUMS

New York, Sept. 9. —(AP)— Slick Sal Maglie, the ex-Mexican League outcast, tied the National League record for consecutive shutouts today when he beat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 2-0, for his fourth straight whitewashing.

Maglie, who now has tossed 37 scoreless innings, was aided no little by Alvin Dark who accounted for the entire New York run production with two home runs. The National League record for the most scoreless innings is held by Carl Hubbell, another Giant—46 1-3—in 1933. Maglie's triumph was his 10th in a row and 15th of the season.

Malone Tags Tribe Squad Most Promising In 6 Years

NORTHEAST GRID CANDIDATES GET LONG SCRIMMAGE

Redskin Mentor Has Gridders Deployed In Offensive, Defensive Groups

The Northeast Louisiana State College Indians, with a full week of practice over, were pushed through a rugged scrimmage session yesterday afternoon, and the show was impressive enough to bring Coach James L. Malone out of his shell with his first statement on the prospects of his club.

"For the first time in six years it looks like we have some power in the middle of the line and the rest of the squad appears well balanced in both offensive and defensive departments," Malone figured.

Dub Rush, leading Indian ground gainer last season, and freshman Bob Gunter, a Missouri lad, were putting on a whale of a show yesterday in their battle for the call as offensive fullback. Both were running hard and looking equally impressive on off-tackle slants.

Billy Joe Milstead, freshman recruit who was with Ouachita High here last season, broke away from his quarterback position yesterday for three touchdown runs. Lloyd Ray, alternating with Milstead, came through with a pair of touchdown passes, one to Robert Kirby and the other to Gunter.

The defensive play of Joe Harrison, W. D. Keller, James Fuller and Wayne Cockron stood out in the line, while Hickie Bell and Gene Clark were impressive backing up the forwards.

Running with the offensive combination were Ted Jones, Baton Rouge, and Kenneth Greer, Monroe, ends; Pat Mornell, Greensburg, Pa., and Johnny Ayres, Alexandria, tackles; Doyle Craighead, Start, and Vince Zappone, Greensburg, Pa., guards; and Johnny Goodwin, Monroe, center. The backs were Ray and Milstead alternating at quarter; Rush, Alexandria, and Gunter, Charleston, Mo., sharing fullback; E. J. "Bunny" Sievers, Monroe, and Ed Plonsky, Greensburg, Pa., right halfbacks; and Ray Wegley, Fort Worth, Tex., and Louis Phelps, Nacodoches, Tex., left halfbacks.

Two prospects, Greg LeBlanc, end from Baton Rouge, and Harry Hubenthal, fullback from Fort Worth, missed out on yesterday's action because of minor injuries.

The Redskins have nearly two more weeks to get ready for their season opener here September 21 with Poteau of Oklahoma.

The two-a-day workouts will continue through Wednesday, and beginning Thursday the Redskins will work once each day.

Grammar Football Loop Again Being Organized

Monroe's Recreation department will again sponsor a football league of sixth and seventh graders this year, announced Director Jack Hesketh.

The announcement came after selection of coaches for every school except Sherrouse was completed. A meeting of the coaches already named will be held at the Recreation Center at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

"We still need a coach for the Sherrouse boys and anybody who wants to coach a good team this winter can get in touch with me at the 'Rec' Center," said Hesketh.

Weight limits for the young gridders were set at 100 pounds and under for sixth graders and 115 or less for the seventh grade boys.

TOO TALL

Macon, Ga., Sept. 9. —(AP)— Bill "Grits" Spivey, the University of Kentucky's star basketball center, was classified 4-F today for the same thing that enables him to jump up and push a ball down through the hoop. The Bibb county draft board classified Spivey 4-F because his height, seven feet and one quarter inch, exceeds the maximum for draftees.

Vols, Mangham Clash In Fourth Of Series

Mangham fell one game behind in the third game of Delta League finals after a 9-6 defeat at the ends of the West Monroe Volunteers, and squared off for another try Sunday at 3 o'clock.

The Sunday game is slated for Mangham and a loss for the host team means elimination.

Bill Halley hurled the winner for the Vols and hit a double and two singles to lead his team in batting. Donald Sims hit three singles to add to the 11 hits off Mangham hurler Stein.

Batteries were Halley and Brownlee, Vols; Stein and Mercer, Mangham.

Crowville Bulldogs Whip Texas Gridders, 21 To 12

Iowa Park, Tex., Sept. 9.—(Special)—The Crowville, La., High School Bulldogs defeated the Valleyview High eleven, 21 to 12, here last night in the opening game of the season for the two grid machines. First downs were 11-4 in favor of the visitors.

Mixon put Crowville in front early with a first quarter touchdown. Then French threw a touchdown pass to Laird for another Bulldog counter, and the visitors' second touchdown came when Parker intercepted a Valleyview pass and ran it back 70 yards. French kicked the point behind each TD.

Second half passes, Carnes to Bush and Hacker to Bush, accounted for the local touchdowns.

Detroit Coach Suspended, Fined For Umpire Run-In Chicago, Sept. 9. —(AP)— Coach Dick Bartell of the Detroit Tigers today was suspended six days and fined $50 by President Will Harridge of the American League for a run-in with Umpire Cal Hubbard last Thursday.

Bartell officially was notified of Harridge's action today, although he was removed from last night's game against the White Sox here before it started. He will be eligible to return to coaching duty next Thursday.

Bartell was banished during the Tigers' 13-13 tie with the Cleveland Indians at Detroit Thursday after vigorously protesting a decision by Hubbard.

BASTROP ELEVEN TRIPS SMACKOVER

Rams Thump Arkansas' Defending Champions By 20 To 0 Count

Bastrop, La., Sept. 9—(Special)—Bastrop's High School Rams, a Class A team, invaded Smackover, Ark., Friday night and defeated the '49 Double A champions of Arkansas 20 to 0.

Left Halfback McLeod starred in the upset game with two touchdowns and Duke, the fullback, crossed the line for another that gave the Rams their victory in the first game of the season.

Touchdowns were made in every quarter except the third. In the second and third quarters the Rams charged over for two touchdowns that were cancelled by penalties.

Every man on the Bastrop roster entered the game and they proved their power in the statistical department.

The Smackover Buckaroos gained 95 yard during the game, and the Rams crashed through for 320 yards that indicates a promising line for the Bastrop school this year.

Both extra points were scored by Right Tackle Brister.

"If the boys come out like they did against the Arkansas champions," said Coach Perry, "we should be able to give the Homer Pelicans a fight for their money next Friday night."

Texas Grid Mentor Dies Of Cerebral Hemorrhage

Brownwood, Tex., Sept. 9.—(AP)— Paul Tyson, whose football coaching career spanned two generations, died tonight of a cerebral hemorrhage.

The coach of Daniel Baker College collapsed this morning during a faculty meeting and was taken to Brownwood Memorial Hospital. He died about 7:20 p.m.

Tyson—a man who was reluctant to tell his age—was about 60.

A veteran of 38 years of coaching, Tyson was at Waco in the first days of the Texas Interscholastic League. His teams won the state championship in 1922, 1925, 1926 and 1927 and was acclaimed national scholastic champion the latter year.

HOUTTEMAN HURLS TIGERS PAST WHITE SOX

BENGALS BLANK PALE HOSE, 6-0, TO BOOST LEAD

Rampant Red Sox Continue Upward Surge With Double Win Over A's

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The Detroit Tigers extended their lead over the American League field to a full game today by finishing some work they started April 30 against the Chicago White Sox on a winning 7-0 note. Art Houtteman blanked the losers on six hits to gain his eighteenth decision.

A crowd of 4,529 watched the Tigers win the second playoff of this April 7-7 standoff by pounding three Chicago pitchers for 14 hits.

The first replay of the April tie was Aug. 10, but rain forced a halt to it in the seventh inning with the score deadlocked at 1-1.

The victory proved Houtteman's fourth shutout of the season as Lefty Billy Pierce suffered his sixteenth licking.

Detroit waited until the fourth to launch production designed to assure its victory. George Kell's double and Hoot Evers' single produced the opening run.

The Tigers added three runs in the fifth as Nelson Fox' fumble gave Detroit a big lift. During this spurt Vic Wertz singled for the first run, and Jerry Priddy's safety was good for two more.

Houtteman trip'ed over Dave Philley's head in deep center to set the Tigers in motion in the sixth as Pierce gave way to Hiw Judson.

Don Kolloway's fly enabled Houtteman to score. Then Evers' third single powered Kell across.

Lou Kretlow became the third White Sox pitcher in the nitnh when Judson was sidetracked for a pinch batter.

BOSOX COP COUPLE

Boston, Sept. 9.—(AP)— Boston's Red Sox continued to inch forward in the American League pennant scramble today by twice thumping Philadelphia's inept Athletics 8-3 and 11-3.

By their two triumphs the Sox advanced to within a game and ahalf of the leading Detroit Tigers and to within a half game of the runner-up New York Yankees.

A happy throng of 22,153 watched the Sox sock the A's for the 21st consecutive time in Fenway Park. The A's last Boston victory was achieved in September of 1948.

The A's made four errors of a chargeable nature and committed others which could not be assessed against them as rookie Willard Nixon gained his seventh victory of the season in the opener.

The second game was put beyond the reach of the Philadelphians in the second inning when the Sox scored seven times. In the outburst both Bern Stephens and Al Zarilla hit two-run homers. Bob Doerr also homered in this game as the A's allowed Southpaw Alex Kellner to pitch the distance in absorbing his 17th defeat.

Stephens drove in four runs to tie Walt Dropo for the American League lead in that department with 137. Dropo sent one across the plate.

Center Johnny Johnson Lost To Neville Tigers

Neville High's victory over Bolton, 6-0, Friday night at Alexandria was a costly one—Captain Johnny Johnson is through for the season.

Coach Bill Ruple announced yesterday that Jonnson, regular center, had aggravated an old shoulder injury and "will have to give up football." Johnson was advised by his physician not to attempt further play.

The loss of Johnson comes as a severe blow to the Neville eleven. Charles Calhoun will be assigned to handle the pivot job the rest of the season.

The Tigers will be playing at Minden next Friday night. Their first home game will be played here September 22 with Homer.

INDIANS FALL

Cleveland, Sept. 9.—(AP)— Cleveland's collapsing Indians dropped their third in a row tonight to the St. Louis Browns, 2 to 1 in 10 innings. The defeat dropped the Tribe to 6 1-2 games behind the league leading Detroit Tigers.

Farmerville Grabs Big 8 Series Lead

Bernice, La., Sept. 9.—(Special)—The third game of the Shaughnessy Big Eight finals was won by Farmerville Friday night over Bernice 7 to 4. Harry Cunningham, the most promising pitcher of the Big Eight, went all the way for Bernice but his ten walks and costly errors by Bernice paved the way for his downfall. Antley accounted for three of Farmerville's runs while Henry Albritton and Harry Cunningham drove in three of Bernice's tallies.

Farmerville now is one up on Bernice in the playoff with two wins against one defeat. The fourth game will be played Sunday afternoon at Farmerville and Louis Pipes will pitch for Farmerville with Tom Lefty Smith on should develop into a great pitchers battle as both pitchers have won one game in the series.

Hawthorne Juvenile Goes To Ruhe; Stop Gap Second

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Mrs. Emil Denemark's Ruhe, which has been threatening to win a stake all summer, finally did it today in the $13,650 Hawthorne Juvenile Handicap at Hawthorne.

The Chicago-owned gelding, an $8,500 purchase as a yearling, hustled to a half-length victory over Red Top farm's Stop Gap, a 16-1 outsider.

Ruhe returned $10.80, $6.00 and $3.80, and was clocked for the six furlongs in 1:10 3-5. Prices on Stop Gap were $13.40 and $8.20. Spur On paid $5.40 to show.

MCGRATH WINNER

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Jack McGrath of Pasadena Calif., today won the 100-mile automobile race at the New York State Fair in near record time before an estimated crowd of 70,000. McGrath took the lead on the 41st lap and held on throughout.

Monroe's Morrison Runner-up For Cotton States Loop Batting Title

By J. P. Friend

Blytheville, Ark., Sept. 9.—(Special)—Ben (Rosey) Cantrell, veteran Pine Bluff outfielder, captured the 1950 Cotton States League batting championship.

The new champion finished the season with a mark of .363, fifteen points ahead of his nearest rivals, Jack Ramm, Pine Bluff, and Len Morrison, Monroe, who wound up in a .348 deadlock for second place.

Morrison, a consistent hitter for the Sports all season, collected nine hits in his last 18 times at bat to pick up the needed six points for the runnerup tie. His record shows 145 safeties in 417 tries over a 125-game stretch. Jim Gilbert, Natchez slugger, finished in fourth place with .345, 10 points ahead of Wally Buerger, Greenville gardener. Frank Scarpace, Pine Bluff, headed the second division with .330, followed by Jerry Lynch, Greenville, .329; Manager Dick Adkins, Natchez, .327; Chester Morgan, Clarksdale skipper, .327; Lamar Cagle, Greenville, .327; for the Big 10 membership.

Cliff Coggin, Monroe ace, who was one of the nominees for the most valuable player award which went jointly to Ramm and Cosmidis, was the line pitcher within the 20-game winning group. He racked up 21 while losing only five for the most victories and the best winning percentage, .808. Adam Stempkowski, Pine Bluff, won his 19th on August 24 and failed to add while dropping a pair. He finished with 19-13. Bill Gingerich, Hot Springs, 13-10. Ken Bennett, Greenville, had 12-11.

Block High's Coach Gets Military Call

Jonesville, La., Sept. 9.—(Special)—Block High School's football prospects brightened at the beginning of this week with a total of 34 boys reporting, but things were suddenly thrown into a turmoil Thursday when Coach A. D. Smith received notice in New Orleans on alerted outfit in New Orleans on Monday morning.

He is a reserve officer in the army transportation corps.

Whether or not the call means immediate active duty is not known.

Block's first scheduled game is Thursday night with Louisiana Training Institute of Monroe, to be played in Jonesville.

SIZZLING SNEAD SETS FAST PACE

Second Straight 65 Puts Him Six Strokes Ahead In Reading Open

Reading, Pa., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Sammy Snead, who hasn't won a major golf tournament since May, sizzled home with a seemingly unbeatable 198 today as he grabbed a six-stroke lead at the three quarter mark of the $15,000 Reading Open Golf Tournament.

The White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., star fashioned his record score with a second straight seven under par 65 to take a commanding lead over Jim Ferrier, Australia - born San Franciscan who fired a 67 today to pull into second place with 204.

Ted Kroll, New Hartford, N. Y., shotmaker who held the lead at 18 and 36 holes, fell apart today, taking a four over par 76 that gave him a third round total of 208 and put him in fourth place in the tournament behind Ralph Blom-Quist, Glendale, Calif., and Glenn Teal, Jacksonville, Fla., who tied for third with 207s.

Snead, leading money winner of the year with $29,392, had been playing poorly all summer after winning the Colonial Invitation Tournament at Fort Worth, Texas. First place at Reading is worth $2,600.

But the West Virginia slammer was at the top of his game today, holding eight birdies and nine pars and only once failing to hit regulation figures — on the 15th, where others came to grief today.

Best known for his long drives, Snead confounded the record book by settling for shorter drives and concentrating on the greens where his putting was magnificant.

Kroll, on the other hand, got off to a bad start and had to scramble to come home with a 76, which he tacked onto a brilliant 132 achieved on the first 36 holes. Kroll went over par on five holes and scored only one birdie, on the short par four seven.

Ferrier, playing in a threesome with Kroll and Teal, compensated for poor driving and some miserable luck on the greens with the fanciest iron shots shown thus far in the tournament.

Twenty-six golfers broke par over the first three rounds, but it appeared nearly impossible for any one — with the possible exception of Ferrier — to catch Snead If there is a tie when the 72-hole medal play is completed tomorrow, it will be resolved by a sudden death play off.

Still hopeful at 209 were Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., who figured that 270 would take the tournament, and bill Nary of Chino, Calif. Fred Haas, Jr., Claremont, Calif., fired a brilliant 66 to tie Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., at 210.

Defending Champion Cary Middlecoff of Ormond Beach, Fla., was far down the list with 213.

Fireman Joe Page Goes To Hospital For Checkup

Page has been ineffective this year. He has a record of three won and six lost. Last year he won 13 and lost eight.

CLOVER LEAF TO PLAY ALL-STARS

P.T.A. Benefit Softball Game Scheduled Here Thursday Night

Clover Leaf Dairy, reigning champion of the City Softball League, locks horns with the City League All-Stars Thursday night at Barkdull Faulk, under sponsorship of the Barkdull Faulk P. T. A.

City League players are still voting on the All-Stars, so the Clover Leaf boys don't know yet just who they will have play. Manager Bill Hargiss says that the Milkmen are going all-out to win, since no All-Star team has ever triumphed over the champions.

Nolan Bryant, Ralph Marionneaux and Ben Brownlee were chosen to master-mind the all-star players when the final line-up is announced Wednesday morning.

The Clover Leaf boys will star Jack Facundus, C. R. Hood and Jack Dyer as their top sluggers with a few other big hitters backing them up. Carl Fontana and Cecil Johnson are probably on the pitching slate, with Fontana's season-long record giving him a slight edge.

Clover Leaf took the title from Nichol's Motors after the Motormen won the series opener and failed to win again in the next three games.

Mrs. H. S. Nix, the P. T. A. president at Barkdull Faulk, has several committees working hard on the annual affair to assure a large attendance. Extra seating space is already installed.

LAMOTTA CHOICE TO KEEP CROWN

Dauthuille Gets Crack At Middleweight Title Wednesday Night

Detroit, Spt. 9. —(AP)— Middleweight Champion Jake LaMotta, whose training camp routine has been intermingled with beauty contests and golf lessons, still rated a 2-1 favorite today to retain his title in a 15-rounder with France's Laurent Dauthuille here Wednesday.

The champion's insistence that "this is just another fight" set the tempo for his pre-fight conditioning which veteran observers said has bordered on the lackadaisical.

But LaMotta, who was making his second title defense, retorted, "it's not how many rounds I box before I fight, but rather a question of whether I feel I'm in shape for this one."

Jake left his Detroit headquarters for three days this week to return to New York where his wife, Vicki, was competing in a "Mrs. New York" contest.

At Friday's preliminary physical exam for the two fighters, LaMotta seemed more interested in airing his views on the beauty contest than he was in discussing the fight.

"Vicki finished third, but it was a bad decision for she should have won the title," the chunky LaMotta declared.

The 29-year-old champion said he was eager for another crack at Dauthuille who decisioned him in Montreal in February, 1949. That was four months before LaMotta won the middleweight crown from the late Marcel Cerdan of France in a gruelling battle here.

"Detroit always has been my lucky city, and I figure I'll even things up will Dauthuille," the champion added. "I don't think he hits as hard as Cerdan did, but he sure is fast and I figure I'll be chasing him most of the night."

LaMotta also faces battle on a second front when the National Boxing Association pens its annual convention here Sunday. The N. B. A. ordered LaMotta several weeks ago to defend his title against Sugar Ray Robinson, setting Oct. 12 as a deadline for that bout.

LaMotta and the I. B. C. settled on Dauthuille as an opponent, however, but the N. B. A. is expected to renew its Robinson-or-else edict in its four-day meeting here. There was some indication, however, that the N. B. A., even though again ordering the Robinson-LaMotta bout, would set back the Oct. 12 deadline so that Jake would not have to make two title defenses in less than a month.

Dauthuille's fight preparations were in marked contrast to those of the more experienced champion. The French challenger has kept a pair of sparring partners busy all week with an unusual amount of road work mixed in with his routine.

Newellton Advances Date For Grid Game

Newellton, La., Sept. 9.—(Special)—The Newellton Bears will raise the curtain on their 1950 football season Friday, Sept. 15, instead of Sept. 14 as previously announced. The change has been made to accommodate the host team, St. Aloysius of Vicksburg, to arrange for a playing time that will not conflict with other teams of that city.

Coach Hollingsworth reports that he has changed from nightly to afternoon practice in the hope that a little extra hard work in the sun will sweat his boys into better condition to meet the always potent Flashes across the river.

"The Bears possess a fine team spirit, but skill in the fundamentals are still weak. However," continues Coach Hollingsworth, "James Blackwell, Percy Walton and Robert Harris, all linemen, are keeping a ray of hope burning with the fine improvement they are showing, while in the backfield only one man, Charles Wood, quarterback, seems to be up to playing par."

The Bears will return from their first road trip to make three successive home appearances. They will meet Winnsboro Sept. 22, Crowville Sept. 29 and Jonesville Oct. 6.

REMATCHED

New York, Sept. 9. —(AP)— Lee Oma, veteran Buffalo, N. Y., heavyweight, and Bob Satterfield of Chicago will clash in a return 10-round bout at Buffalo's Memorial auditorium, Sept. 26.

Jena, La., Sept.—Special)—Jena's Giants opened their 1950 grid season here Friday night with a smashing 19-2 victory over Columbia's Crimson Tide before some 2,000 spectators who jammed Giant Field almost to capacity.

After a shaky first quarter, during which Columbia scored a two-point safety on two consecutive Jena fumbled, the Black and Gold started rolling but it wasn't until late in the second quarter that a sustained 67-yard drive was cashed in for six points by Donnie Sheppard plowing through center from the three-yard line. A run-for-point failed and the half ended with Jena in frnt 6 to 2.

Penalties and another attack of fumblitis combined to hold the Giants in check the third quarter but early in the final stanza, Doyle Carter, right half, slashed four yards off tackle to reach pay dirt, climaxing a 64-yard drive that started when Jena held Columbia for downs on the Black and Gold 36. A second attempt to run over the point failed with Jena leading 12-2. Two plays after the ensuing kickoff, Kem Gryder, rangy end, recovered a Tide fumble on the Columbia 30 and in seven plays Jena punched up six more points with Fred Benson bulling through center from the two-foot line. Sheppard ran over the extra point to end the scoring.

RECALL TWO

Chicago, Sept. 9. —(AP)— The Chicago White Sox tonight announced the recall of Outfielder Eddie McGhee from Memphis of the Southern Association and Third Baseman Joe Kirrene from Colorado Springs of the Western League.

TWIN A SCHOOLS HAVE UPS, DOWNS

Grid Openers See Pre-Season Favorite, Byrd Of Shreveport, Beaten

Byrd High of Shreveport, the pre-season favorite to retain its 1949 state double-A football championship, opened its season Friday night with a loss.

Sulphur, southwest Louisiana powerhouse, handed Byrd a 19-13 defeat. The season opening was disillusioning to two other of the eight double-A teams that saw action.

Bogalusa trounced Fortier of New Orleans 23-6 in a game between two double-A teams, while Bolton of Alexandria lost to class A Neville of Monroe 6-0.

On the plus side, Ouachita of Monroe routed Homer, a Class A opponent, 40-6 and Baton Rouge slapped McComb, Miss., 39-7. Jennings squeezed by Class A LaGrange of Lake Charles 21-1 8and Fair Park of Shreveport beat Marshal' Tex., 19-7.

None of the games counted toward the championship.

An eleventh-hour touchdown by Sulphur ruined a fourth quarter Byrd rally. The proud state champions couldn't keep pace with the hustling underdogs, who lead most of the way. It duplicated last year's regular season game, when Sulphur won 6-0. Byrd took the playoff game between the two schools by the same 6-0 score.

Byrd's Danny Huddleston and Edgar Galloway got a touchdown each and combined on a conversion play to give the team it's 13 points.

Quarterback Newt Shows passed to urtis Gros in the flat on the 15 for the first Sulphur score. Shows passed to Elmo Bourgeoia for the second from the 18. Roland Smith scored the last touchdown with two minutes to play. Sullivan converted.

Bolton managed to threaten only once in its loss to Neville. That threat came in the fourth period when Quarterback Ted Bullock attempted an end sweep from the half-yard line, only to fumble.

Bogalusa and Fortier played before 20,000 fans at New Orleans. The game was sponsored by the Shriners for their crippled children's fund.

Bogalusa turned its Sid Fournet loose against the Fortier defenders and he took the show from his star teammate Cliff Springfield.

Bogalusa drove 94 yards for the first of two second quarter touchdowns as Fournet reeled off the first long gain o fthe game. He made that 94 yards after momentarily fumbling in his own end zone.

Fortier's lone touchdown came in the last quarter when Ray Ward passed to Charley Coats.

Ouachita's Bob Carter scored four touchdowns to lead his Lions to a victory in their opening "breather". One of his scores was a 99-yard kickoff return. He also kicked four extra points. Billy Short and Frank Mobley added one each to round out the scoring.

Baton Rouge paraded its backfield from one end of Memorial Stadium to the other, racking up scores on its Mississippi opponent. Don Turner and Don Dedon stepped over for a touchdown each and the great ground gobbler Merlin Darouse scored two and ripped McComb's defenses with apparent ease. Wack Brummett and Jackie Hamilton both made Bulldog touchdowns. Turner kicked two extra points out of four tries.

Jennings got a real scare before it overcame a LaGrange lead and win the non-conference contest. At halftime the double A school trailed its smaller rival 18-7.

The Fair Park Indians scored the first of their three counters on Roger Hampton's 53-yard breakaway in the first quarter. The Indians were held off the second and third periods but came back in the fourth with two more when Gene Gibson intercepted a Marshall pass and ran 93 yards for the score.

THREE RINGS 1ST IN EDGEMERE 'CAP

Hopkins' Gelding Beats Out Wistful By Two And Half Lengths

New York, Sept. 9. —(AP)— Mrs. E. L. Hopkins' Three Rings rambled to the front soon after the start today and stayed there to capture the $23,400 Edgemere Handicap before 28,694 fans at Aqueduct race track.

The five year-old gelded son of Blue Larkspur, second choice in the betting, got a rousing ride from Jockey Hedley Woodhouse and sailed under the wire two and a half lengths in front of Calumet farm's Wistful.

Three Rings, which stumbled and finished seventh to Wine List in the Aqueduct Handicap Labor Day, sizzled the mile and one eight in 1:49 2-5, just two-fifths of a second off the track record set by Sunglow August 28.

The Judges had to look at the pictures before giving Wistful the verdict over Ben Whitaker's My Request. Doug Dodson subbed in the saddle aboard Wistful when Steve Brooks was late in arriving from Chicago.

My Request pulled up head and head with Three Rings on the final turn, then was barely nipped by Wistful at the wire, losing second money by half a length. Jockey Ovie Scurlock said My Request was going good until an eight of a mile from home, when he apparently tired.

My Request won this race last year.

The 3 to 1 favorite, Brandywine stable's Cochise with Eddie Arcaro up, was third down the backstretch, then dropped back to finish last in the field of 11 starters.

Three Rings rewarded his backers with $9.10, $6.20 and $4.60 for $2 across the board. Wistful, running with stablemate Fervent which was tenth, paid $6.60 and $4.70. My Request, third choice, returned $4.80. This was the first appearance of the powerful Calumet racing stable in New York this year.

Jaycees Claim Civic Loop Softball Title

The Jaycees took both games of a double header against the Progressive Men's Club Friday night to win the Civic League championship after leading the League all season.

The Progressives, third - place team in the regular season, used Dispenza and Lewis as the opening battery, releasing seven hits and seven runs, and scoring only five runs.

In an up - side - down second game, the Progressives held a 5-1 lead until late in the seventh inning, when the Jaycees scored five times and won the game, 6 to 5.

Batteries were Husted and Hastings, Jaycees; Dispenza and Sylvestri, Progressives.

Rislone is an oil-improving alloy for all motor lubricants. It's a super-lubricant—with no harmful ingredients. You can keep it in your car all the time.

Modern motor-oil has gum-forming properties. But Rislone dissolves gum and sludge as soon as it forms — prevents power-robbing deposits on your valves, pistons, and other moving parts.

Tune-up as you drive

Use Rislone to keep your motor clean as you drive . . . at peak performance for smooth power at all speeds, and quick starting in all weather.

It protects your engine with instant, full lubrication. It keeps your car from getting sluggish at low speeds. In new cars (or reconditioned engines) it eliminates slow-speed break-in—permits driving at normal speeds immediately and safely.

Money-back Guarantee

We are so confident that Rislone can work its "motor magic" on your car that we give you this unconditional money-back guarantee. See details below.

Fleet Operators Use Rislone, Save on Service and Repairs

Experienced truck-operators know that Rislone dissolves gum and sludge, eliminates and prevents sticking valves, and restores lost compression and power.

They use Rislone also to facilitate the break-in of new and reconditioned motors . . . and to assure quick starting and immediate lubrication in all weather.

Rislone Keeps Marine Engines at Peak Efficiency

Rislone keeps power-plants shipshape while boats are idle, or hauled out for the winter. Spring-starting is quick and easy.

Rislone Helps Contractors to Prevent Job Delays

Contractors the world over find that the regular use of Rislone reduces maintenance costs.

It maintains full power and dependability, keeps oil free-flowing, prevents sticking valves and clogged piston rings — and assures quick, easy starting even in the coldest weather.

Rislone Keeps Farm Machinery Fit All The Year

Thousands of farmers from coast to coast count on Rislone to keep engines in tip-top shape. They know it helps any internal combustion engine on the farm run better, and last longer, with less servicing.

POLICE, FIREMEN GROOM FOR GAME

Two Monroe Departments Will Meet In Baseball Contest Sept. 25

Tickets to the Monroe Firemen-Policemen baseball game to be played at memorial stadium September 25 are now on sale and may be purchased from Optimist club members and at Lockhart-Blair Sports Center.

The two teams have been practicing for the past week and both are readying themselves for a competition.

The game is being sponsored by the Optimist club for the purpose of aiding the fire and police pension fund and also to equip every bicycle in the Twin Cities with reflectors.

The purpose of reflectors on bicycles is to reduce nighttime accidents involving bicycles and to make bike-riding youngsters visible at night.

The organization plans to use a material known as "Scotchlite" which is a brilliant reflective material in tape form that becomes a permanent part of the bike when once applied. One strip of silver scotchlite is to be placed on the handlebars, another strip of silver is to be placed on the front fork, and three strips of red on the rear fender.

The National Safety Council records shows that more automobile accident injuries and deaths occur at night than during the day, despite greatly reduced traffic, and that accidents involving bicycles are invariably serious.

This campaign being sponsored by the Optimist club is of very great importance at this time since school is re-opening and many children will be out at night on their bikes.

CONSERVATIVES BACK DEFENSE

Churchill Pledges To Support Emergency Action By Parliament

London, Sept. 9.—(AP)— Winston Churchill announced tonight that Britain's Conservatives will support the government's recent defense moves at an emergency session of parliament next week.

The Labor government has proposed to lengthen the service of two years and grade the pay scale upward "to meet the growing dangers to world peace, of which the war in Korea is an example."

"The Conservative party will support the government motion, the terms of which have now been published, and will not move any amendment thereto," said Churchill in a statement from his home at Chartwell.

The Conservatives have been attacking the Attlee government's Attle had retorted that he would stake the life of his government on the program, but it was generally accepted that the Conservatives would not push their criticism to the point of endangering the government.

Attlee told a regional Labor party rally at Walthamstow today it was with regret that a decision had to be taken "to look to our defenses."

It meant a setback to his government's efforts to "raise the standard of life," he said, but "what has happened in Korea is only one example of dangerous aggressive tendencies the whole world over and we have therefore to look to our defenses because we are out to prevent war."

NEGRO FATALLY SHOT IN W.M.

Witnesses Tell Police Incident Followed Gambling Argument

A Negro man, around 40 years of age, was killed about 2 a. m. Saturday in the 800 block of Coleman street in West Monroe, reported Police Chief Jeff Caldwell.

A. C. Owens, 105 South Ninth street, was shot through the left chest and the left arm, according to Dr. J. T. French, coroner.

Witnesses to a gambling game in which Owens and another Negro were involved stated that the two had had an argument about one owing the other some money.

The witnesses told police they went to the Owens home and asked Owens wife if her husband had been home. She answered that he hadn't. At a nearby corner they heard two shots and saw two Negro men running, they explained to police.

The body was discovered by Katie Bell Smith, Negro, who saw it lying on the sidewalk. She notified West Monroe police, who are now conducting an extensive search for the Negro who was arguing with Owens in the gambling game.

OUACHITA MEN GUESTS OF INTERNATIONAL HOUSE

S.S. ALCOA CORSAIR
NEW YORK

A group of Ouachita Parish business and professional men, together with similar groups from Assumption and Beauregard Parishes, were guests of International House of New Orleans in one of the series of "get-acquainted" visits last Friday. The group inspected the luxury liner "Alcoa Corsair," toured the harbor on the "Good Neighbor", were guests of International House at luncheon at which Lloyd Cobb, president of International House, and Mayor deLesseps Morrison of New Orleans, made the principal addresses and inspected the International Trade Mart. Shown in the group above are Floyd Martin, Floyd Ferrell, Representative R. C. White, Garland Shell, C. G. Pearce, Jack Howard, Haynes Harkey, King Stubbs, Morris W. Haas, Grady Hicks, George Lofton and R. C. Poreous. Several members of the Ouachita delegation were not present when the picture was made.

CHURCH GOING GETS IMPETUS

Posters In Windows Placed To Urge Campaign Of Attendance

Store windows in downtown Monroe and West Monroe are displaying large gray posters on which is sketched a typical church edifice and the injunction: "See You In Church Sunday."

This is a gesture on the part of members of the parish ministerial association which is initiating a campaign for church attendance. It starts September 11 and runs through October 31.

It is regarded that with unsettled world conditions that there is greater need now than ever before for giving attention to matters religious and church attendance is one important feature, all agree.

Convicted Traitor Has Cerebral Hemorrhage

Boston, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Robert H. Best, 54-year-old convicted traitor sentenced to life for serving as a Nazi radio mouthpiece during World War II, today was stricken with a cerebral hemmorrhage in his jail cell.

Best was removed under heavy guard to city hospital, where his condition was described as serious.

The thin, partly bald south Carolinian has been held at Charles Street jail pending an appeal to his life sentence.

He was convicted of treason on April 16, 1948, for making propaganda radio broadcasts for the Germans during the war.

Best, a World War 1 veteran, was born in Sumter, S. C., the son of a Methodist minister.

He lived more than 20 years in Europe before World War II working as a newspaper man.

When hostilities broke out, Best refused to return to this country and stayed in Germany. He admitted making 300 broadcasts over the German radio between 1942 and 945, but claimed his only purpose was to fight Communism and Bolshevism.

Panama Canal Poses Big Question For U.S. Official

By Clarke Beach

Washington—President Truman decided back in March 1948 that there ought to be a little hike in the toll rates for the Panama Canal.

Canal Zone expenses had gone up a lot since the last toll rate rise in 1938.

Toll rates in the privately operated Suez Canal have been raised from 28 Egyptian piastres in 1939 to 39 piastres—the president announced that on Oct. 1, 1948, the rate for the Panama Canal would rise from 90 cents to $1 per ton for laden ships.

But the rate rise never has gone into effect. It has become involved in one of the stormiest controversies now raging in the capital—involving such issues as the building of a new canal and reorganization of the canal's administrative and operating set-up.

At the suggestion of congress, the president has repeatedly postponed the effective date of the rise while congress studied the issues. Now t is set for April 1, 1951.

Shipping interests protested to congress when the raise was first announced. They said ship operators were barely able to make both ends meet and some were losing money. Besides, they were already being charged too much in tolls, they contended, because in setting toll rates the government made them pay for items which should be charged to national defense.

The house merchant marine committee was instructed to make an investigation. It recommended that the whole theory of Panama Canal tolls be examined. The current practice is to charge tolls which will defray the costs of operating and maintaining the canal and Canal Zone facilities, besides giving the government a 3 per cent return on its investment.

But nobody knows the true operating expenses of the canal, the investigators pointed out, because there is no business accounting system. The Hoover commission asked a reorganization of canal administration to simplify accounting.

At the suggestion of the house committee, the president had the budget bureau make a study. It recommanded a reorganization, substantially along the lines of the Hoover commission plan. A bill is now in congress.

Shipping men contend that half the interest charges should be paid as national defense. The interest charges, about $15,000,000 a year, account for 75 cents of the 90-cent toll.

Cross-continent railroad men, on the other hand, say that no such allowance should be made for national defense, that it would amount to a subsidy for shipping.

The subsidy, they add, would go to foreign vessels as much as American ships. Treaties require equal toll rates.

A new canal also is involved. Will toll rates be based on interest charges on that vast new capital outlay?

If so, the rise might be fantastic. A government study in 1945 recommended the construction of a sea-level canal primarily for defense purposes. It estimated the cost at $2,482,000,000. Since then many prominent engineers have questioned the advisability of such a canal and have said the cost might be as high as $20,000,000,000.

At present U. S. government ships use the canal toll-free. The reorganization bill provides that they shall henceforth pay tolls or that the canal shall otherwise be reimbursed.

Man Admits Taking Automobile, Jailed

A 24-year-old Monroe man admitted to police Saturday that he had broken into the Central Service Station No. 2 Friday night and stolen a 1936 Chevrolet sedan.

Beverly Roberts had driven the car Friday night and returned it to the service station parking lot, reported detectives. He gained entrance to the storage garage by breaking the lock on the door.

Charges were filed against Roberts and he is being held in the parish jail.

COTTON

New York

New York, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Short covering and some trade buying came into the cotton market in late dealings today after an uneventful morning session that produced mostly lower prices. It was the first Saturday session for cotton since the closings for the summer.

After opening five cents a bale higher to more than $1 a bale lower, prices stiffened in most deliveries and closing prices were considerably better, 45 cents lower to $1.75 higher. Spot cotton was 15 cents a bale higher at 41.80 cents a pound nominal.

Futures closed 45 cents a bale lower to $1.75 higher than the previous close.

New Orleans

New Orleans, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Cotton futures declined about $1.50 a bale here early today but rallied sharply on trade buying and weekend short covering.

Closing prices were steady, 50 cents to $1.25 a bale higher.

Business was active as trading on Saturday was resumed. Ring traders said the early sell-off was a natural reaction following the recent advance in prices to nearly the highest level in the history of the New Orleans exchange.

Unfavorable private crop reports and continued heavy demand for spot cotton caused some of the buying. Middling 15-16-inch spot cotton advanced $1 a bale higher to 40.75 cents a pound. Local spot sales amounted to 4,583.

AVERAGE COTTON

New Orleans, Sept. 9.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16-inch spot cotton at ten designated southern spot markets today was $1.05 a bale higher at 40.94 cents a pound; a new high for the season; previous day 40.73; week ago 39.50; month ago 37.98; year ago 30.11. Average for the past 30 market days was 38.55; middling ⅞-inch average 39.53.

GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 9.—(AP)—Wheat climbed a cent or more a bushel today on local news reports stating the Canadian crop had suffered very severe damage from an August frost. Oats also made good headway and other cereals held steady.

Wheat closed ¾-1¼ higher, September $2.23⅞, corn was ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, September $1.54¾-⅞, oats were ⅝-1⅛ higher, September 80⅝, rye was ¾-1⅜ higher, September $1.39½, soybeans were ¼-1¼ higher, November $2.47-$2.47¼, and lard was unchanged to 35 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $15.05.

JES' RAMBLIN'

"We present to our budget committee our request for participation in the Twin City Community Chest, 1950-1951, on behalf of the Boy Scouts of America in Monroe and West Monroe.

"We have included here some of the highlights of our operation which we believe will indicate that funds have been used wisely to make a better Scouting program possible for an ever increasing number of boys in Monroe and West Monroe.

"We are proud of our record. Our membership is at its highest peak and the quality of our program, as it reaches the boys, has improved to keep pace with our rapid growth in membership. Our greatest accomplishments have been made on a rather limited budget, and we believe that we have demonstrated efficiency and economy in carrying out our responsibility in the community.

"Based on our very outstanding record of achievement, which reflects wisdom in the expenditure of available funds, we ask approval of our request for continued support of the Twin City Community Chest in the amount requested 1950-51.

"Appreciation is expressed on the part of the Twin City Community Chest for its cooperation which has enabled the carrying out of a broader program."

If you are between ages of six years to more prosaic 70 or 75, and have a desire to learn how to sing in public, you are extended a cordial invitation, states Garland May, to attend the night school in progress at the Church of God, Montgomery street, West Monroe. Each night now at 7:30 o'clock the group meets and is directed by L. D. Hullstuttler, Dallas, Tex. The instruction will end next Thursday night and on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Crosley School, a concert, open to the public, will be presented, and in which the Ranger Quartet of KWKH, Shreveport, will participate.

One of the features of the school is the attendance of Justice of the Peace Lovelady, from Union parish, who admits he is 75 years of age but still is seeking instruction in singing. He is quite a patriarch with a flowing white beard, twinkling blue eyes and ready wit. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend the few remaining sessions of this school.

Dick Troy reports an unusual experience. When he came to Monroe 17 years ago, he had a Negro boy, about 17 years of age, doing errands, mowing the lawn and what not at the Troy home. Some years passed, the depression came and Cash Clay—that was his name—left for Chicago to try to get work. Later Mr. Troy heard that the chap was doing well as a bricklayer.

The other day there was a long distance call for Mr. Troy from Los Angeles, and a voice asked how he felt, how was Mrs. Troy and other members of the family. As the speaker had not identified himself, Mr. Troy became increasingly curious.

Who are you anyway?" he interogated.

"Don't you remember Cash Clay?"

When told he did, the speaker said: "Well that's me."

"I want to tell everybody that the Dixie Clay, who was a soldier killed in Korea, is not me. I am alive and well, and haven't gone to war. I run a night club in Los Angeles now and I've had to call all my friends to tell 'em that I am not the soldier who lost his life in Korea."

First aid instruction will begin at the Red Cross chapter headquarters Monday at 7:30 p.m., when a 15 hour refresher course will be initiated and is open to any who have had the standard and advanced first aid. Right now there is a great need for first aid instructors and any interested are urged to attend.

Mrs. W. J. Veazey, executive secretary, states that this chapter has been asked to train 5,000 civilians in first aid, which will be needed should emergency arise.

"Dear Jes' Ramblin': Last Sunday afternoon, I lost a dog I love very much. He is a red, yellow and white Collie. I brought him all the way from Memphis, Tenn., to Monroe about two months ago. It took me three years to get him down here. He is the only thing I have left in this world that cares for me. I love him very much and would you run this in your column so someone might see it and find my dog for me? I have stayed up till midnight every night looking for him. Will you please help me find him?

"You can reach me at phone 227 or 251. Thank you very much.

"Marvin Wainwright."

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By A. P.)

Chattanooga, Tenn.—"Shoot a picture there—that's my boy friend," the attractive blonde said as the train carrying Chattanooga's Marine Corps reserve unit to active duty rolled from the station.

"Give him a big kiss and I will," replied News-Free Press Photographer Bob Sherill.

Helpful bystanders quickly hoisted the girl level with the moving car window. There was a dramatic hug, a resounding kiss. The camera bulb flashed. The marine in the window waved broadly at the photographer.

"Thanks, bud. Thanks a million."

"I grabbed the wrong guy," she said.

Harrisburg, Pa.—Commonwealth attorneys have set out to find a legal way to reimburse a York butcher who overpaid the state $3267 in 1945 for two truck licenses. fo the license tags, made out a William K. Michael, in applying should have been for only $33.

The state admits that Michael is entitled to a refund but the question of who has authority to make the payment remains the legal roadblock.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Bill Eder looked inflation in the eye and cut the price of a cup of coffee in his restaurant to three cents.

"Every time the price of coffee per pound goes up, my price per cut goes down," he announced.

"Let's stop inflation now."

A. J. Clark Dies In Bastrop Saturday

A. J. CLARK

Andrew Jackson Clark, 73, died Saturday at 5:15 at the residence of his son in Bastrop.

Funeral arrangements, which are incomplete pending arrival of relatives, will be under direction of the Hixon Brothers Funeral Home in Monroe. Services will be at the Antioch Church, Jonesboro Road, and interment will be in Antioch Cemetery.

He is survived by six sons, Seyman H. Clark of Bastrop, Willie and Ruben Clark of Monroe, Calvin Clark of Platka, Fla., and Fred Clark, who is now with the armed forces in Frankfurt, Germany.

Also surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Olla Mae Wallis and Mrs. Ida Rogers of Eros, Mrs. Ethel A. Carter of Natchez, Miss., Mrs. Ruth Lavez of Savannah, Ga. and Mrs. Lula Mae McKenny of Georgetown, S. C. of West Monroe, and ten grand-
Two sisters, Mrs. Sally Sturdevant and Mrs. Annie Skipper, both children also survive.

A baked ham is wonderful for a buffet supper but cold sliced tongue or corned beef make good main dishes, too. Serve with potato salad dressed with mayonnaise and sour cream and garnished with ripe olives.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartiest thanks to our unnumbered relatives and sincere friends who ministered to us in many ways in the death of Mrs. Mittie Brantley. To those who sent beautiful floral offerings we would express our deep appreciation; also we would give special mention to Dr. C. Prentice Gray for his kindly ministration during the long illness of our loved mother. Brother C. C. Martin of Penile Baptist church was so kindly as were also Rev. F. J. Seal and Rev. James Horton, who gave deep consolation to us in our deep affliction.

Mrs. Downey Wade and other members of the Brantley family.

Freshmen-To-Be Take Leave For College

By Margaret Gambrell

The lull has finally come and households can again settle down to normality with the all-knowing dignified high school seniors suddenly becoming wide-eyed green freshmen.

That wonderful, hectic and memorable freshman year is beginning this week for scores of Neville, St. Matthews and Ouachita Parish High School graduates—with most excitement still focusing on the novelty of dormitory life and sorority rush parties.

For coed freshmen this nine month leave-taking has been preceded by all-summer preparations: days were spent shopping for a wardrobe of suits, hats, something appropriate for football games, date and cocktail dresses, along with matching accessories (far more costly than a bride's trousseau); endless hours of alterations by anxious dressmakers and hovering mothers; innumerable telephone calls to other soon-to-be freshmen; hours studying and discussing the school's rulebook; then the unbelievable fete of closing bulging trunks while expressmen wait at the door.

At last the departure—that long awaited day when all's aboard for college!

Among the many freshmen entering college this week are Miss Clara Munholland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Munholland, and Miss Sue Windes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Windes, who will enter Stephens College in Missouri.

Miss Joan Sugar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Sugar, has chosen Sullins College.

Off to Louisiana State University were Miss Ann Braun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Braun; Miss Frances Ritter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Ritter; Miss Addie Boggs, niece of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Boggs; Miss Beverly Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Martin; Miss Nell Cowart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Cowart; Miss Jane Steed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Steed; Miss Betty Jo Shlenker, daughter of Mrs. Jimmie Harper; Miss Marilyn Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Kennedy; Miss Gene Gentry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hershel Gentry; Miss Agnes Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Jones; Miss Jane Birdsong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Birdsong; Miss Jo Ann Ransom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ransom; Miss Pat Wadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wadley of Winnsboro; Miss Elaine Brothers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brothers.

Entering Louisiana Tech at Ruston are: Miss Kitty Dartez, daughter of Mr and Mrs. R. N. Dartez; Miss Claudette Shroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Williams; Miss Particia Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrell P. Willis; Miss Sarah Ellen Bruno, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Bruno; Miss Betty Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett; Miss Evelyn Mangham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mangham; Miss Sarah Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zell Smith; Miss Mamie Jo Drouet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Drouet; Miss Carolyn Hargrove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hargrove; Miss Peggy Frantom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Frantom; Miss Betty Maricello, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Maricello; Miss Virginia Laing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Laing; Miss Alice Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perry; Miss Elizabeth Tillman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Tillman; Miss Shelby Meek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Meek; Miss Ann Hinton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Hinton; Miss Nelda McCoy; Miss Martha McDonald; Miss Carolyn Bagwell; Miss Elizabeth Ann Mulhearn; Miss Libby Butler; Miss Elizabeth Golson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Golson; Miss Margaret Ann Tatum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Tatum.

Sophie Newcomb coeds from north Louisiana include Miss Mary Agnes Rizzo, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. P. Rizzo; Miss Polly Jean Phelps, daughter of Mrs. R. C. White; Miss Billie Harper, daughter of Judge and Mrs. William Harper; Miss Anne Varino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Varino; Miss Charlene Kaplan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Kaplan; Miss Sue Madison of Bastrop.

Miss Mary Wilton McHenry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl McHenry, and Miss Beverly Hatchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hatchell have enrolled at Randolph-Macon College in Virginia.

Among those entering S. L. I. are Miss Clayton Campbell, daughter of Mrs. Martha Dysart; Miss Alice O'Kelly, daughter of Mrs. W. A. O'Kelly; Miss Dolores Irving, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Irving.

Miss Jane Tidwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Tidwell, Jr., will be a freshman at Mississippi State College for Women.

Miss Elaine Lubel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lubel, will study at the University of Texas.

Miss Beverly Vollman, daughter of Mrs. C. Vollman, will enter Northwestern State College.

Enrolling at Louisiana Baptist College this week were Miss Della Guillory; Miss Patricia Capps; Miss Dorothy Willard.

TO BE OCTOBER BRIDE

Miss Rosemary Tornatore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tornatore of this city, whose marriage to Joseph S. Guirlando, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco Guirlando, will be solemnized in the St. Matthew's Catholic Church on October 10.

Dr. Venting Is Guest Speaker

Members of Delta Rho Delta, Business Women's Sorority, will have as their first guest lecturer of the year Dr. Albert S. Venting of Fort Worth, Tex. Doctor Venting is honoring only four of Delta Rho Delta chapters this coming season with his "President's Visit"—Monroe, San Antonio, Tulsa and Oklahoma City the four youngest groups of the National Sorority. Doctor Venting is president of the National Extensive Forum, the educational department of Delta Rho Delta.

Doctor Venting, the opening lecturer, has chosen as his title, "The Power of the 20th Century Woman", which is indeed a timely subject for all Sigma chapter members.

Doctor Venting received his A. B. Degree from the University of London, Th. M Degree from Texas Christian University, Th. D. from the Baptist Theological Seminary; he attended Oxford and the University of Chicago. Doctor Venting is a member of the American Research Society, Pi Gamma Mu., a retired pastor of the First Baptist Church, Cleburner, Tex., and a world traveler and lecturer.

Mrs. Venting will accompany Doctor Venting to Monroe. Mrs. Venting is the Texas worthy matron, a great traveler in her own right—in the U. S. and abroad. She is also a noted lecturer and has a most fabulous collection of antiques.

After the lecture, Sigma chapter will have a reception honoring Dr. and Mrs. Venting. In the receiving line will be honorary members, Mrs. E C. Gibson, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, and Mrs. James A. Noe also the Worthy Patrons Atty. Carl H. McHenry and Judge David I. Garrett.

W. S. C. S. Has Interesting Program At Methodist Church

Tenth Anniversary Of The W. S. C. S. Will Be Commemorated At A Special Service At 3 P.M. September 19th

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the First Methodist Church Tuesday, September 5, at 3:00 p.m. for the business and program meeting.

The meeting was opened with the president, Mrs. Mike John Jr. presiding and Mrs. Earl Hitt recording.

Mrs. P. G. Rowe was elected secretary of youth work.

There was on display the communion service to be sent to the Japanese church that was bombed.

The president announced that Thursday, September 14th, the district seminar will be held at Winnsboro.

On Thursday, September 19th, at 3:00 p. m., the W. S. C. S. will meet at the church for a special spiritual life service directed by Mrs. E N. Jackson, commemorating the tenth anniversary of the "Woman's Society of Christian Service" which has brought about the union of all Methodist churches.

It is requested that all members of the society attend this special service and sign the permanent record membership book of the society.

The program was opened by Mrs. Taylor Barbee on the subject of "Health Through a Brotherhood of Nations."

This begins a new year for the W. S. C. S., and Mrs. Taylor Barbee explained the meaning of the program which centers around the subject "Thy Saving Health Among All Nations." She also explained the symbolism of the "caduceus," which is the symbol of the medical profession.

Mrs. Zell Smith and Mrs .H. H. Land gave talks on the subject for the day, "Health Through a Brotherhood of Nations."

Mrs. J. R. White read the poem "As Ye Do It Unto Thee."

The theme hymn adopted for the year is "From Thee All Skill and Science Flow."

All joined in silent prayer for the health of those present, as well as the world in general.

FREE LESSONS IN MUSIC SET

N.E. La. State College Offers Instruction In Band And Orchestra

Free private lessons in voice, piano, organ and all band and orchestral instruments are among the educational opportunities offered to students enrolling this fall at Northeast Louisiana State College.

Harry M. Lemert, head of the music department, has announced that services of a staff of six highly trained, full time faculty members will be availbale to provide private instruction in piano, organ, voice, violin, clarinet, French horn and other woodwind, brass and stringed instruments for regularly enrolled full-time college students at no cost to the individual.

Classes in music theory, music literature, music appreciation and other areas of professional music education also will be available to those who wish to pursue the serious study of music in the direction of a professional career.

Two courses on the junior level are being added in music and art. Music education for elementary grades and art education for elementary schools are especially designed for future teachers and for those currently teaching in public schools.

In addition, Introduction to Art, a course previously offered on a non-credit basis, will be given on a credit basis.

Several fee-exemption scholarships are available to bandsmen, announced Mr. Lemert. Students who are interested in applying for these scholarships are asked to consult with him during the registration period next week.

The music department's policy of offering private lessons to highly qualified students of pre-college age will be continued insofar as staff time permits after needs of regularly enrolled college students have been met. Those interested in applying for instruction should inquire at the music department office in the Fine Arts Building Thursday, September 14.

All activities in music will be pointed toward the primary goal of serving musical interests and needs of youth in northeast Louisiana in a sound educational fashion, Mr. Lemert said.

A patent granted to P. W. Ham in 1918 was witnessed by C. Pickles and J. Herring.

Non-Fiction Books Added To Library

Among the new books recently added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library are a number of non - fiction books. This is such a broad term that it includes everything that is true and is written for adult reading. "In the Pink" by Mildred Spurrier Topp is the sequal to "Smile Please" which was so very popular last year. Mrs. Topp has continued the adventures of her mother, Mrs. Spurrier, who was a lady photographer in Greenwood, Mississippi. This book is concerned with the happenings in the year 1908. It gives an excellent picture of a southern town and is most delightful to read.

A well-written and charming biography is called "Eleanor of Aquatine and the Four Kings" written by Amy Ruth Kelly. This is the story of one of the most interesting characters in English history. Eleanor, heiress of the huge Duchey of Aquatiane was married first to Louis VII of France, she divorced him (an almost unheard of thing in that day) to marry Henry II of England. Two of her sons Richard Coeur de Loin and John later became Kings of England. Miss Kelly has been most accurate in her facts, but she has recreated the period so well and written with such charm that it is difficult to remember that this is not a novel. Any student of English history will thoroughly enjoy this book.

Other new books are more practical in nature. "A design for safe driving" by Haskell B. Schultz should be read by every beginning driver. Collectors of American pressed glass and antique dealers will surely want to see Ruth Webb Lee's "A Price Guide to Pattern Glass." If you are buying or selling, it is well to have the word of an expert as to the value of the piece in question. "Adventures in Stitches" by Mariska Karssz is a new type of book about embroidery. She includes many new designs and anyone who does this type of needle-work will want to see this book. "The Successful Hostess" by Elizabeth Stuart Hedgcock fills a long felt need. It contains plans, menus and decorations for all types of parties and for parties celebrating a special day. This is a book which will be widely used and read.

If there is any subject about which we need to be informed today, is the one included in "American-Russian Relations in the Far East." by Pauline Thompkins. She writes with real literary skill and Eastern situation that is easy to read. Her interpretations are often open to question, but this is a book to make one think. Louis Fischer, an American correspondent, who has spent much of his life in India has produced a new study of the great man of India in "The Life of Mahatma Gandhi. Mr. Fischer knew and loved Gandhi and this book reveals many new facts.

"Young Man of Paris" by Henri Calet is a translation from the French and presents a particular segment of Parisian life. It is not as interesting as Eliot Paul's new book "Springtime in Paris." but it is interesting to read and compare the two books.

"Behind the Flying Saucers" by Frank Scully is the first scientific book to be written on this most controversial subject. Mr. Scully believes that the flying saucers are powered by magnetic propulsion and that they do come from other plants. He supports this thesis with many statements. You may not agree with Mr. Scully, but the book is certainly worth reading.

SEPTEMBER BRIDE

Mrs. William Aubrey Parker, Jr., whose marriage took place, September 2nd, is the former Miss Lydia Ann Jarman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edmund Jarman of Lafayette, formerly of this city. Mr. Parker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Aubrey Parker of Baton Rouge.

During the War of the Revolution numerous colonial newspaper editors were forced to flee before the advancing British army.

WHEN KIDNEYS WorkTooOften

Are you embarrassed and bothered by too frequent elimination during the day and night? MARRIED IN ATHENS, GREECE

Dr. and Mrs. William Henry Cope who were married in a double ring ceremony in the Anglo-American Church of Athens. Mrs. Cope is the former Miss Ann Hargrove, niece of Mrs. L. G. Wilkinson of this city, whom she frequently visited.

Cope-Hargrove Wedding Is Solemnized In Athens, Greece

The Former Miss Ann Hargrove, A Frequent Visitor Of This City, Is Married With Double Ring Ceremony At Anglo-American Church

An impressive double ring ceremony performed recently in Athens, Greece, united in marriage Ann Hargrove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hargrove of Athens, and Dr. William Henry Cope, son of Mrs. Nell Cope, of Wellesville, Ohio. The Rev. Paul Olander, minister of the Anglo-American Church of Athens, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white marquisette over white tafetta with a delicate belt of horse-hair braid. She carried a bouquet of white gladioli fashioned in true Greek style.

Miss Winifred Hargrove, who served her sister as maid of honor, was lovely in a pastel flowered organdy gown with which she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Dr. Richard Huston, Columbus, Ohio, but who is at present stationed at the naval medical center for the American mission for aid to Greece, served his fellow classmate as best man.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony in the home of the bride's parents. The home was decorated with white gladioli, shasta daises and fern. The mantle, in front of which the ceremony was performed, was especially attractive with candelabras holding tall white tapers and large urns of whit gladioli which were illuminated with fern beneath.

The bride's table was overlaid with a beautiful linen cloth of Italian cut work, having for its center piece an attractive three tier wedding cake with candelabras holding tall white tapers on each side. Delicious cake and punch were served to the wedding party and a few invited guests.

The bride attended high school in Arlington, Virginia and was graduated from St. George's School in Clarens, Switzerland.

The groom attended high school in Wellsville, Ohio and received his pre-med and medical training at Ohio State University. He received his internship at Bethesda Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Maryland, and has been connected with the naval medical center for A. M.-A. G. for the past two years.

Mrs. Cope is the neice of Mrs. L. G. Wilkinson of Monroe and has visited in this city numerous times.

The couple left on their honeymoon immediately following the reception by plane to visit Rome and Florence, Italy, the French Riveria and many other exciting places. They are now at home in Quantico, Va. where the groom will be on the surgical staff of the Marine Base Hospital.

Woodmen Circle Has Meeting Thursday

Woodmen Circle Service Club met in the home of Mrs. Lorelle Ellis in West Monroe Thursday night with Mrs. Mary Willet, president, presiding.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected. Mrs. Lorelle Ellis was named president and Mrs. Nancy Neyland, secretary-treasurer. A prize was awarded to Mrs. Wetsel. It was voted to send a box to the Woodmen home in Sherman, Tex. Four new members were added to the rolls of the group.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Mary Willett, Mrs. Nancy Neyland, Mrs. Ora Beasley, Mrs. Chelie Wilson, Mrs. Jewel Earle, Mrs. Isabel Gibbs, Mrs. Opal Thompson, Mrs. Mildred Batten, Mrs. Etta Babin, Mrs. Rada Holloway, Mrs. Thelma Edwards, Mrs. Wetsel, Mrs. Almeda Welch, Miss Jerry Earle, Mrs. Ruth Taylor, Mrs. Mattie Edney, Mrs. Annie Boler, Mrs. Mary Kirkpatrick, and the hostess, Mrs. Ellis.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Mary Willet and a covered dish supper will be served.

Fontaine-Walsworth Wedding Is Solemnized In Lake Providence

Couple United In Double Ring Ceremony; Daughter Of Mr. And Mrs. Malory M. Walsworth Is Married In First Baptist Church

Beauty and sacredness marked the ceremony at the First Baptist Church, Saturday, evening, Sept. 2, when Miss Gwendolyn Walsworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malory M. Walsworth, became the bride of Edward Fontaine, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fontaine of Shreveport. Rev. C. A. Martin, pastor of the local church, heard their vows in the double ring ceremony.

The bridal party was picturesquely grouped before the altar with it's background of huckleberry foliage, centered with a miniature bride before a heart shaped mirror. There were graduated standards of lighted candles, entwined with plumosus fern, and floor baskets of white gladioli and fern at the sides. White cathedral candles burned in each window of the nave.

The candles were lighted by Bobbie Joe Tullos of Lake Providence and Lee Fontaine, of Shreveport, during the seating of the guests.

Mrs. Herman Schwartz at the organ played a program of nuptial music, and accompanied Miss Bettie Ann Baugress of Shreveport, vocalist, in singing "At Dawning" and "Because". The traditional wedding marches were used for the entrance and withdrawal of the bridal party. For background music in the exchange of vows "Traumerei" and "I Love You Truly" were played softly, and for concluding prayer Miss Baugress sang "A Wedding Prayer."

The bride entered with her father and made a lovely picture in white slipper satin wedding gown, fashioned with fitted bodice with yoke of marquisette scalloped in triple row of seed pearls, duplicate in single strand at the jewel neckline. The long tapered sleeves, buttoned at the wrist, ended in lily points over the hand. The very full skirt extended into a train over which fell the full length veil. It was attached to a halo cap of lace fronted with orange blossoms and seed pearls. She carried a heart of net, with double ruffled edges and centered with a white orchid. For something old she wore a diamond sunburst, heirloom in the groom's family.

Mrs. C. L. Miller, of Epps, aunt of the bride, as matron of honor, was gowned in pink nylon net over pink satin. The sleeveless bodice had drop shoulder ruche of double net. Small satin bows were scattered over the bouffant skirt and shoulder ruffle. Her mitts were of matching shade and her slippers were blue. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of purple rimmed white asters.

The bridesmaids, Miss Donna Davis of Lake Providence, Miss Evelyn Brown of Doyline, and Miss Joan Richards of Little Rock, Ark. were identically gowned in bouffant dresses of blue nylon net over satin. Capelets of net edged with chantilly lace veiled the strapless, tight fitting bodices, and net and split pink carnations were the becoming head dress. Each carried an old fashioned bouquet of split pink carnations. The mitts and shoes were of matching blue.

Misses Carol Ann Oswalt and Alice Jean Cooper, wearing floor length dresses similar to the bridesmaids, served as flower girls. The ring-bearer, Gary Miller, of Epps, cousin of the bride, carried the rings on a white satin pillow, dressed in white linen suit black tie.

Mr. John C. Fontaine served his son as best man and the ushers were Raymond Franks, of Shreveport; Clem Scott, of San Antonio; and Edwin Coates of Monroe.

Mrs. Walsworth, mother of the bride, chose for the occasion a dinner dress of Morocco beige with peplum and sleeves of French Galloon lace. Her mitts were of matching lace, and her hat was of pink velvet banded in silver beads and sequins. An orchid corsage was worn at the plunging neckline.

The bridegroom's mother, was gowned in silk tissue of London tan, fashioned with draped sleeves and a bias fold forming the square neck with inserts of lace at the corners.

Following the wedding, the bride's parents were hosts at a reception at the home overlooking lake "Providence". Mr. Walsworth welcomed the guests on the spacious porch, and Miss Peggy Schwartz, gowned in blue net, with stole, had each to sign the guest book. Mrs Walsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Fontaine, the bride and bridegroom and the bridesmaids formed the receiving line, standing in front of a massive heirloom mirror and reflected in wall length mirror on opposite wall. Floor baskets of white gladioli and bowls of pink asters decorated the reception suite, where mantel was banked with floral arrangement and lighted blue tapers.

The bride's bouquet, surrounded by the bridesmaids bouquets, on circle mirror, was the central feature of refreshment table decoration, lighted by blue tapers. Mrs. W. H. Haynes of Shreveport, in gold crepe dress with shoulder corsage of white tuberoses, ladled punch from an Early American crystal punch bowl, while Mrs. Edgar Loftin of St. Joseph, gowned in aqua chiffon, with bodice traced in floral sequin design, sliced the three tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom.

Miss LaVerne Davis, wearing white eyelet over yellow satin, with corsage of yellow mums, alternated with Mrs. Haynes. Assisting in the dining room courtesies were Miss Grace Louise O'Steen, Miss Betty Delony and Miss Annette Proctor.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Fontaine are seniors at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and will enroll for the fall semester upon their return from the wedding trip.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. Fontaine and son Lee Fontaine, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Ratcliff, Raymond Franks, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haynes, all of Shreveport; Mrs. W. A. Heusinger and Clem Scott, of San Antonio, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Miller and son, Gary, Mrs. J. W. Coates, Mrs. W. B. Hawkins, Mrs. Clarence Hawkins, Mrs. T. E. Lusk, Mrs. J. H. Lusk, Mrs. W. K. CRIPPLED GROUP DROPS LOUISIANA

National Society Votes To Eliminate Pelican Representation

Chicago, Ill., Sept. ,.—(Special)—Membership of the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children in the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, was terminated Friday by official action of the national society's executive committee, meeting in Chicago headquarters.

The committee also moved toward organization of a new society to serve the crippled children and adults of Louisiana by directing Lawrence J. Linck, executive director of the national society and his staff to take steps at once to form a new society.

William J. Jaenicke, San Francisco, president of the national society, is announcing the action, declared that it was taken because of the national society's insistence that all affiliated conform to standards set up to assure the greatest possible service to the crippled. It also indicates, he said, the national society's determination to eliminate possible domination of state societies by small groups of individuals and to make sure that all Easter seal funds are wisely and economically used to the greatest benefit to the largest possible number of handicapped.

Mr. Jaenicke's statement is as follows:

"The executive committee of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, after a hearing at which the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children failed to appear, although notified thereof, has today decided to terminate the state membership of the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children in the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults."

Greeley's New York Tribune was the first paper in America to recognize Charles Dickens as a great writer.

MONROE LA

BASTROP BRIDE

Mrs. John Wilson Myers is the former Miss Margaret Jacob of Bastrop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Z. Jacob. Mr. Myers is the son of Mrs. John Wilson Myers and the late Mr. Myers of Monroe. The wedding ceremony was held in the First Methodist Church in Bastrop.

Candle-Light Ceremony Unites Couple In Bastrop

The Former Miss Margaret Jacob Is Married In First Methodist Church To Mr. John Wilson Myers

A beautiful candle-light wedding August 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church in Bastrop united in marriage Miss Margaret Jacob, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Z. Jacob, and John Wilson Myers, son of Mrs. John Wilson Myers and the late Mr. Myers of Monroe. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jack Midyett.

Trailing southern smilax was entwined about either end of the altar rail, while tall standards of white gladioli were distinctive in the soft glow of candlelight. White cathedral tapers burned in branch candelabra of graduated heights. Ushers Max Dollar and Warren White lighted the tapers preceeding the nuptial rites.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Walter Jacob, wore a floor length gown of ice blue imported chantilly lace fashioned with a tight fitted basque, bertha neckline, and puffed sleeves. She carried a white orchid surrounded by pale blue tulle and tuberoses.

Miss Linda Ann Pullen preceded the bride as flower girl. Mrs. John F. Pullen, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor, with Mrs. Todd Spear serving as bridesmaid.

Edie Holmes of Monroe served the groom as best man. Ushers were Max Dollar, Warren White, Bobby Oliver, and Douglass Eubanks.

The Morehouse Country Club was the scene of the reception which followed. The reception room bore a picture of charming simplicity with a large bowl of white asters and light orchid asters placed on the mantel reflecting into the mirror. Large baskets of white gladioli were placed to advantage in the room.

Receiving the guests with the bride and groom were Mrs. W. Z. Jacobs, Mrs. John W. Myers, Mrs. Jack ullen, and Mrs. Todd Spear. Assisting with the serving courtesies were Miss Jeanne Oliver, Mrs. Douglas Eubanks, Miss Anne Norsworthy and Mrs. Louis Brodnax.

After a wedding trip to Miami, Fla. and Atlanta, Ga., the young couple will make their home in Bastrop.

ACCESSORIES MAKE THE FASHION!

The "polished look" is the accessory look for Fall. Long, washable French kid gloves are worn crushed under wide, loose sleeves. Gloves such as these are worn tightly fitted this season to complete the slim line of the newest fashions. Gloves by Kislav. Beaver cloche from G. Howard Hodge.

Harlequin checks, so favored in Paris, are destined to be a big favorite in scarfs this Fall. In Tokay grape and pink wine by Glentex.

HOME BEAUTY

Add new light and color to your hair for Fall with nary a shampoo or bleach. Miss Clairol, a rinse takes minutes to do the entire job.

Mackenzie's Column

The average citizen of the democracies naturally feels misgivings over the probable rearmament of western Germany which so recently engaged in big-scale aggression against her neighbors.

Still I believe this concern should be lessened by knowledge that she is essential to the successful defense of western Europe. Moreover (and this is the point I want to emphasize) the German soldier ranks among the foremost fighters of history.

There is an almost fatalistic Oriental cast to the manner in which the German rank and file accepts orders for suicidal attacks. This trait undoubtedly is associated with the fact that the German is susceptible to regimentation — and likes it. However, the essential thing is that he is a brave man.

If we may return to our former practice of devoting some of our Saturday column to reminiscence, I will cite a striking demonstration of these German characteristics which I observed while correspondent on the British front in France during World War I. This was in an area where the Britons had fortified a small and precipitous hill overlooking the German trenches. The post became so dangerous that the Germans set out to capture it.

Several waves of troops were sent against this strong point with disastrous results to the attackers who were flung back by machine-gun fire. Finally the German command resorted to one of their characteristically tough expedients.

A contingent of Prussian guards —pride of the Kaiser—happened to be stationed in this sector. These guardsmen were called on to sacrifice themselves as an example. They were sent marching shoulder to shoulder right into the teeth of those guns.

And the guards went in goose-stepping!

Of course they were mown down to a man, but this display of courage and discipline turned the trick. The following wave of regulars swarmed up the hill and captured it.

This column doesn't applaud militaristic exhibitions, but I might mention another which I believe probably influenced British Prime Minister Chamberlain's appeasement of Hitler at Munich and so played a part in bringing on World War II. This happened at Godesburg at the time of Chamberlain's second meeting with Hitler over the latter's demands on Czechoslovakia.

Chamberlain traveled by plane from London to Godesberg, and his arival was attended by an incident which I feel sure was staged by Hitler for its psychological effect on the Prime Minister. The plane was awaited by a squad of the famous death's head guards— so called because of the fearsome skull on the front of their helmets. They wore hob-nailed boots up to their knees, and were a tough looking lot.

These guards stood at attention about 100 feet from where the plane landed. As Chamberlain, pale and worried, stepped down onto the runway the death's head guards goose-stepped towards him, their hob nails crashing against the concrete with a finality which was terrifying.

GUEST SPEAKER

FREEDA MICKEL

MISS MICKEL HEADING DRIVE

Well Known Young Leader To Direct Civic Music Campaign

Miss Freeda Mickel, prominent young business woman of the Twin Cities, has accepted the post as director of the civic music membership drive.

Miss Mickel is well known in the Twin Cities and the surrounding communities for her outstanding civic achievements. She was last year named," Woman of the Year" by the inter-council of service clubs in recognition of her activites as director of the March of Domes campaign, board member of the Ouachita unit of the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children, chairman of the Business Women's Circle of the First Presbyterian Church, charter member of the Delta Rho Delta and vice president of the Monroe Quota Club, as well as director of the 1949 civic music membership campaign.

The Monroe Civic Music Association last year experienced its most successful season, due in large measure to Miss Mickel's success with the membership drive. Being a co-operative organization, the Civic Music Association must govern the number and quality of the concerts presented by the size of its membership. It naturally follows that the larger the membership, the better able the organization is to bring truly outstanding concerts to Monroe.

Highlights of last season's concerts were "The Four Piano Ensemble" and "The Dallas Symphony". As a result of advance memberships sold by special arrangement last year at the time of the presentation of "The Dallas Symphony", the association has this year already signed for radio's outstanding favorite, "The Longines Symphanette," with the famous director, Michel Piastro, scheduled for November.

Scheduling of additional artists will be made as the membership drive progresses, and an outstanding musical season is expected.

The annual membership campaign will be conducted the week of October 9-14, with headquarters at the Virginia Hotel. Adult memberships for the season will be $6.10 (including tax) and students $3.05 (including tax.)

Membership will be limited by auditorium capacity, and when this is reached no further memberships will be issued. This week letters have gone forward to all previous members, affording them the opportunity of ensuring their memberships for the coming year by renewal. The importance of renewal cannot be stressed too strongly, since this year for the first time a limited membership is anticipated.

Checks for 1950-51 memberships should be made payable to Monroe Civic Music Association, and mailed to P. O. Box 1313.

James Marlow:

THE NATION TODAY

Washington, Sept. 9.—(AP)—This explains the allowances the government will start giving dependents of servicemen under the new law signed by President Truman yesterday.

These new allowances are different from the family "allotments" which the government gave servicemen's dependents in World War II. These new allowances will be:

1. For all enlisted men—all men below the rank of commissioned officer. (This new law changes nothing for officers. They have been getting, and will get, allowances for food and quarters, but not dependency allowances. Their pay is higher than enlisted men's.)

2. Only for three kinds of dependents: wife, children and parents, if the parents were dependent on the serviceman for more than half their support. (Brothers and sisters, even though they were dependent on him, will get nothing. They did in World War II.)

This is how the new law will work, using the army as an example although the navy or air force could be substituted in cash case:

The government will give so much for one dependent, so much for two, and so much for three or more. No matter how many dependents a man has above three, the government allows for no more than three. In no case does it make any difference whether the dependent is a wife, child or parent.

But in every case the serviceman himself—in order to get government allowances for his dependents—must add a fixed sum from his own pay to whatever the government gives.

For example: Jones, a private, has one dependent. In his case, the government gives the dependent $45. Jones must give the same dependent $40 from his pay. In this case the dependent gets a total of $85.

Here's how it will work:

For the three lowest enlisted grades—recruit, private, private first class—the man's share is a flat $40. For one dependent the government adds $45, for two, $67.50, and for three or more, $85.

For the next grade, corporal—the man's share, $60. The government's share: For one dependent, $67.50; for two, still only $67.50; for three or more, $85.

For the next grade, sergeant first class—man's share, $80; government's share: For one dependent, $67.50; for two, still only $67.50; for three or more, $85.

For the top grade enlisted man, master sergeant—man's share, $80; government's share: For one dependent, $67.50; for two, still only $67.50; for three or more, $85.

So no matter how many dependents an enlisted serviceman has, the most the government will allow under the new law is $85 a month.

If you're wondering about the amount of the serviceman's pay—out of which they must set aside some of their own money for their dependents — there in each case since the longer the man is in the service, the more his pay:

This is higher pay than the serviceman got in World War II. But the following will show the difference between dependency allowance under the new law and how family allotments worked in World War II:

At that time if a man had a wife and set aside $22 of his pay, the government added $28, giving her a total of $50. If he had children, the government additionally gave the first child $30 a month, and each additional child $20.

So if an enlisted man in World War II had a wife and five children the government's allotment to them was $138. Now the most the government can give any family, no matter how large, is $85.

This new law starts as of Aug. 1. So dependents will get payments dating back to them.

Curtain Call

by Sue Williams

LITTLE THEATER CURTAIN CALL

Another summer has come and gone and as the first tinge of autumn invades the air, the curtain's going up on the 1950-51 season for your Little Theatre of Monroe and West Monroe. It will begin their twentieth year in the twin cities and if we may remark as much, this will be your "Curtain Call's" tender third year.

This year's Little Theatre goes forward under the capable and unand present president Clark C. Boardman. Last year was a gala year of accomplishment with Gilbert Faulk as the president, who saw launched the first Little Theatre playhouse. This year with a good majority of the old board new and enthusiastic ones taking of directors left and with some office the organization hopes to reach even greater heights.

Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn was unanimously rechosen chairman of the membership drive. Her unstanding guidance of past and tiring efforts last year were responsible for much of the success enjoyed throughout the season. Other committee chairmen named for the current membership drive were Tom Hayes, Jr. printing; Mrs. C. H. McHenry, advertising chairman; Mrs. W. H. Ross Lawrence, co-chairman; Mrs. Carol Layton, chairman of hostesses; Mrs. Carroll Summer, co-chairman; Ted Landhy, chairman, Edward Ellison, co-chairman of the house committee; Mrs. James H. Noe, chairman of patron memberships.

Miss Lallage Feazel is chairman of the play reading committee and will be assisted by Betty Rinehart and none other than our own Frances Hale who held down this important job all by herself last year.

Last but not least, Charles Stocker Fontelieu returns to the Monroe Little Theatre for another season which promises to top his six hits of last year. His direction of such outstanding productions as "John Loves Mary," "Angel Street," the poetic "The Glass Menagerie" or the sophisticated comedy "The Voice of The Turtle," would be something hard to forget. Stocker as everyone came to know him last year is a very gifted young man and his life is dedicated to more and better theatre as a medium of participation and enjoyment for everyone.

About The Town—Let's pause and find out what has been happening to the folks we know so well—June Shultz, drama teacher of O. P. H. S. who played the lead in last year's "Her Husband's Wife," who also directed the comedy hit of two seasons ago "Dear Ruth," is back at Ouachita after a drama lover's dream of a vacation. She spent three weeks in New York and saw seven oustanding plays while she was there; "South Pacific," "Gentleman," the Prefer Blondes," "Cocktail Party", "The Consul", Death Of a Salesman", the inimitable Helen Hayes in "Wisteria Trees" and the perennial comedy "Where's Charlie" Ramona Carmier, director of the O. P. H. S. Choir, joined June in her wonderful holiday and they were a threesome with Elaine Calloway who was attending Columbia University. June said that they ran into Jeanette Brown, who played the lead in the Monroe Little Theatre productions of "Hay Fever" and "The Philadelphia Story," swinging down the gay white way with her friend Ann Caldwell who is working in New York now. June was scheduled to see her friend Ruth Matison, star of the N. Y. production "Clutterbuck" who was returning from Paris, but illness in June's family caused her to have to return to Louisiana before time—Malcom "Mike" Steen is home after a year in Hollywood. Mike started the direction of the Monroe Little Theatre production "The Two Mrs. Carrolls" and has long been noted around these parts for his talents in the art of direction and acting. Mike says Speed Lamkin took his apartment when he left Hollywood and is very busy these days readying his short story "There Comes a Day" and his first novel "Tiger In The Garden" for the screen. We are not supposed to say just yet but we understand that two very, very top flight stars of Hollywood will play in the productions. Now for Mike himself, if his modesty will permit us, he was scheduled to test for a part in "The Red Badge of Courage" starring war hero Audie Murphy when Uncle Sam decided he might need Mike in the next couple of months—In next week's edition of the Sunday Morning World you will find a feature story on Gladys Diamond of Rayville, a petite and attractive school teacher of Rayville who will take her masters degree at Louisiana State University. Miss Diamond is writing her thesis on the history of the Monroe Little Theatre. Originally her idea was to write about the theatres of North Louisiana, but it seems she found so much interesting material on the Monroe Little Theatre that it demanded attention all by itself—Well folks, after a whole column we are back in the swing and since this just about takes up our space for today, we will catch you up with the current scene day by day. Remember your Little Theatre during its two weeks membership drive, September 11 through the 23. And don't think it isn't nice to be back with the gang again—Its wonderful!!

Hal Boyle Column

By Bill Ross

(For Hal Boyle)

A U. S. Air Base, Korea—(AP)—Let the wounded tell you about the fighting in Korea.

You are on the steel-matted runway of this new airstrip, standing under the wings of a twin-engine C-47 transport plane.

Five other C-47s are on the field and over there is a four-engine C-54 with a familiar name on its nose.

Wounded are under the wings of all these evacuation ships, waiting for their stretchers to be lifted aboard for flights to Japan, less than an hour away. Or maybe.—a longer but hoped-for trip to the United States.

Mud-spattered and dusty olive-drab trucks distinguished from other army vehicles only brilliant red crosses on sides and tops, are clustered around.

You see other stretchers still in the trucks and you know other wounded are there because you see their feet and heads through open ambulance doors.

"I got hit during the push in the Naktong river bulge," a lanky army sergeant from South Dakota tells you. His right arm is shattered and half his face is swathed in bloodstained bandages.

"We had made steady gains up and down the ridges for two days. But every damned morning there would be a bunch of commies behind our lines. One of those bastards threw a hand grenade that came over my shoulder from the rear and did this."

He held his slinged arm away from his body and turned his wounded face to the side.

"It was not an easy thing to go over the same ground where your buddies had got shot two weeks ago. I just had that feeling I was going to get mine—and I did. We caught seven kinds of hell there—mortars, machineguns, hand grenades, tanks, bad weather, bad terrain and those crazy gooks.

"So there I was, just driving my truck down the road when they open fire from God knows where."

You see in his pained eyes and the yards of bandage around his waist that he as been seriously hurt.

Then you talk to a British Tommy—probably the first Korean casualty of his army. You remember his words:

"One never knows when he will get hit here. And worse, one does not know from which direction the shot will come."

He limped up to the door of the plane and was helped aboard.

All the planes seemed to have loaded their cargoes simultaneously. They button up and taxi to the runway—the big C-54 first, then followed by the half dozen C-47s. Thousands of horsepower echo from the nearby hills as the flight revs up.

As the first plane whizzes up you can read the name on its nose. It says "Bataan." It was General MacArthur's personal plane, doing evacuation work now.

DOROTHY DIX

Restless Wife

Baby Remedy For Former Working Girl's Boredom

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 24 and have been married almost a year. Before I was married I did stenographic work and liked it very much. I have a fine husband whom I love and who is good to me.

I have a nice home, but at times I get very restless. I feel pinned down and that there is not enough excitement in keeping house or cooking to keep me interested. Since I have been married I have taken several temporary positions and as soon as I did I lost the depressed and restless feeling, but when I did, I couldn't keep up my housework and we had to eat out. My husband thinks it makes a happier marriage if the wife stays at home. Perhaps it does, but I don't know anything about cooking or domestic work and pine for my old job. What can I do?

PUZZLED

DOROTHY DIX

ANSWER: Have a baby. Nature supplies the remedy for idle women. When you have a youngster to love and pet, feed, bathe and dress, and who will keep you on the jump every minute of the day and half the night, you will not complain that time hangs heavy on your hands, or that you are bored because you have nothing exciting and interesting to do.

HOUSEWORK CAN BE PROFESSION

In your particular case, and while you are waiting for the baby to solve your problem for you, I urge you to try to regard home-making as a profession and not as a chore. It is because most women only put their backs and not their brains nor their hearts into housework that they find it drudgery. They never learn how to cook, so they never find out that it takes skill and artistry and poetry and imagination to make a dish that delights the palate and the eye and the stomach. They never learn how to buy so as to get the most out of a dollar, or to run a house on a budget, so they never find out that a housewife needs to be as good a judge of commodities as any purchasing agent and as much of a financier as any banker.

They never think of making a home that is a place of rest for a tired man to come to of an evening and for children to grow up in an atmosphere of peace and comfort and order and love, as the greatest work that any woman can ever set her hand to. And so they miss the real reward of their labor.

Believe me, my dear, if you will go at your housekeeping in the right spirit, you will find it one of the most interesting and absorbing of occupations, and if you make a success of it you will have acquired one of the most profitable professions that any woman can follow if she needs to make her living.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young man studying psychology. I have been studying myself and I recognize that I am of only average intelligence and, therefore, notwithstanding I am ambitious and industrious, I am destined never to be a success in life. Probably I will never be able to make more than a very moderate living. I am in love and would like very much to marry, but I do not feel that I have the right to ask the girl to undergo the sacrifices which will inevitably be her lot with me. What do you think?

T. H.

ANSWER: Your case is a shining illustration of the proof of the old proverb that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing. Your superficial knowledge of psychology has done you more harm than good, if it has only made you realize your limitations and has not shown you how to achieve your possibilities. You are like a first-year medical student who thinks that he has all the diseases that he studies about.

Beyond very obvious physical and mental limitations no man knows what he can do until he has tried himself out. The world is full of people who are more astonished at their own successes than anyone else could possibly be because they have developed gifts and powers that they never dreamed that they possessed.

It is only the very conceited persons who never mistrust themselves. The humble-minded always belittle their abilities and are fearful of being able to accomplish anything. And that is why they so often succeed, because they feel that they have to work harder than the brilliant at their jobs.

DEAR MISS DIX: Our father will celebrate his twenty-fifth wedding anniversary soon. We four daughters are planning to celebrate his wedding anniversary but the only obstacle is that our beloved mother died five years ago and we wonder if calling special attention to his silver wedding day will bring unhappiness to him. What do you think?

A. M. B. AND L.

ANSWER: I think it is a beautiful idea and that instead of bringing your father unhappy memories it will fill him with thanksgiving that, even if his marriage has ended untimely, it has left for the consolation such devoted daughters. Undoubtedly this celebration of his silver wedding day with the bride of his youth gone will be a bitter-sweet occasion to your father, but he will feel that she is very close to him and that she lives again in each of you.

Two Are Arrested For Drunk Driving

Two persons were arrested for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor by Monroe police Friday night.

Those arrested were Slagle H. Day, 19, Eros, and G. C. Deal, 40, 305 Vernon street.

Three other persons arrested for being drunk and disorderly by police officers were Clara Bell Robinson, Negro, 58, Monroe; R. E. Dunn, Negro, 51, Delhi; H. M. Byone, 43, Monroe.

History shows that the press has been uniformly on the side of the common people.

Legislative Procedure At Baton Rouge To Be Strange

Solons Will Be Asked To Nullify Law Without Repealing It

By Edmond Le Breton

Baton Rouge, La., Sept. 9.—(AP)—Not only will next Tuesday's session of the Louisiana legislature be the shortest in history—by a wide margin—but it will highlight a curious legislative procedure based as much on custom as on positive law.

The legislature will be asked, in effect, to nullify a law—the one proposing a constitutional convention—without repealing it.

The nullification is to be accomplished, under present plans of Gov. Earl K. Long's administration, by a resolution suspending the law.

This procedure is unusual, but not rare in Louisiana. Legislatures on a number of occasions in the past have suspended laws or delegated authority to governors to suspend them, by merely adopting resolutions to that effect.

Such a grant of power was made to the governor at this year's regular session with respect to a portion of a law making it possible for him to end the terms of certain public appointive officials at will.

Of more general application was the 1946 suspension of Louisiana's eviction laws. The legislature took this action to protect tenants during a period when the federal rent control statutes lapsed.

And in a famous instance in 1935, with the late Sen. Huey P. Long calling the signals, the legislature authorized the governor to suspend four cents of a five-cent a barrel oil refining tax that had stirred up a political tempest in the state.

Yet there is nothing in the state constitution which says affirmatively that a legislature may suspend laws. All these suspensions have been based on a negative sentence which authorities say has appeared in every Louisiana constitution beginning with the original one of 1812. Now section 5, article XIX of the constitution of 1921, it reads:

"No power of suspending laws of this state shall be exercised unless by the legislature or by its authority."

In 1935, when the bitterly opposed refining tax was suspended, oil interests asked for a court test. By a friendly suit among state officials, with Senator Long taking part as a "friend of the court," the matter was brought to the Louisiana supreme court.

That tribunal in a divided opinion upheld the suspension. The majority incidentally used some strong language as to the extent of the legislature's power generally. Its opinion said, in part:

"As there are no constitutional provisions regulating the method of suspending a law, there is no prohibition against suspension by concurrent resolution. The right of the legislature, therefore, to suspend, or to authorize the suspension of a law under article XIX, section 5, would carry with it the right to make suspension effective in any way it sees fit, unless there was some constitutional provision to the contrary.

"It is familiar doctrine that the legislature of a state, unlike congress, which cannot do anything which the federal constitution does not authorize, may do everything which the state constitution does not prohibit."

Two justices dissented, but primarily on the manner in which authority was delegated to the governor and on the idea that the legislature was at least temporarily surrendering its power of taxation despite a specific constitutional prohibition. Neither of these questions apparently will be involved in next Tuesday's proposed action, since under present plans, the legislature will be asked itself to suspend the convention call act, and there is no tax aspect.

One of the dissenting opinions in 1935, complaining that the legislature had left it to the governor's discretion without setting up conditions as to when to suspend the tax law, remarked:

"The legislature is the lawmaking body of the state and cannot subordinate its wisdom and discretion to that of the governor or anyone else."

As to the length of a session, next Tuesday's deliberations appear certain to make history. No one at the capitol recalls hearing or reading of a session at which only one action was proposed, or which lasted less than five days. Tuesday's actually 1 limited by the call to five and a half hours—6:30 p.m. to midnight.

Coon-Cox Wedding Solemnized In Texas

Okaloosa, La.—(Special)—A wedding characterized by simplicity and charm in the base chapel at San Antonio, Texas united the former Miss Fern Dox and Mr. Max L. Coon at 8 o'clock August 17.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Samuel Lee Coats. Miss Evelyn Russell served as maid of honor. Mr. Joe Harris served the groom as best man and Mr. Duane Remster was an usher.

MONROE EDUCATOR

Dr. Virginia Gangstad is shown above at one of her favorite past times, that of reading. She is an instructor at the Women's College of the University of North Carolina, and will return soon to begin the fall session. (Staff photo by Greg Hare.)

Native Of Monroe Is Professor In N. C.

Dr. Virginia Gangstad Instructs Pre-Med And Lab Technique Courses At Women's College Of The University Of North Carolina

By Yvonne Brett
(Of the Morning World Staff)

Monroe has made its contribution to the educators field by claiming as one of its native daughters, Dr. Virginia Gangstad, who is a professor at the Women's College of the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Gangstad attended grammar school and high school at city schools. She received her Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts, and Doctor of Philosophy degrees at the University of Illinois, from which every member of the family were graduated.

At the college the professor instructs pre-med and lab technique courses. As a sideline to her regular courses she teaches classes in ornament plants, and flower arrangements.

Dr. Gangstad was the youngest member of the advisory committee for the college last year. This committee served as the governing body for the college since, at that time, the school had no president.

Miss Gangstad has spent the summer in Monroe with her family at 1701 North Third street. She plans to return to North Carolina during the next week.

One of her favorite pastimes is reading. She has acquired a varied collection of books. At present she is studying botany textbooks with interest acquired from teaching the pastime courses.

Every year at the University of North Carolina classes choose a faculty member sponsor. Miss Gangstad was chose class sponsor of the Freshman class in 1946 and held the position until last June when they were awarded degrees.

Students dedicated "Pine Needles," the 1950 yearbook of the college, to Dr. Gangstad. This distinction is described by the professor as "one of the highlights in my life."

Dr. Gangstad has been complimented and highly commended by many educators throughout the United States during her career. Her unusual record stands for itself and is a credit to Monroe.

Plastic Boats Are Practical

Plastic Cabin Cruisers Are Under New Mass Production Methods

By NEA Service

New Bedford, Mass.—(NEA)—Plastic cabin cruisers, 24 feet long, are being built in this one-time whaling city under new mass production methods which may revolutionize manufacture of small boats for civilian and military use.

Plastic boats are not new, although they are generally limited to rowboat or dinghy size. A few bigger boats—one as large as a 40-foot yacht—have been built on a custom-made basis.

With the new streamlined production methods just developed, however, 24-foot craft could be turned out one a day, as against the four to six weeks normally required to build a wooden or metal boat of similar specification.

The new process utilizes a combination of Laminac, a polyester resin, and Fiberglas reinforcing mat. It results in a single seamless, leakproof hull and deck which never needs painting, caulking or other costly upkeep.

The boats will require only about one-fifth the maintenance work and expense necessary for comparable wooden or metal craft according to Carl Beetle, president of the company which has been building boats for seven generations.

The hulls are formed in molds, and each cruiser has a molded-in plastic gasoline tank, water tank, icebox and sink which defy rust and corrosion.

Seasons Complicated For Would-Be Hunters

By Louie Mathis
(Of the Morning World Staff)

"I give my pledge as an American to save and faithfully to defend from waste the natural resources of my country—its soil and minerals, its forests, waters and wildlife."

For youngsters who will fire tons of government gravel in their slingshots this winter, the Conservation Pledge has but little significance. Turtles empty bottles and the neighbor's cow are anybody's game.

For adults who take hunting seriously, the season is approaching when that pledge becomes all-important.

A huge placard, published by the State Department of Wild Life and Fisheries, is reclining peacefully on the sheriff's desk, an open and plainspoken threat to poachers.

One regulation stated clearly that Nutria are not to be hunted except from January 1 to February 15, inclusive. Personally, I have never hunted Nutria, and after a brief glance at an encyclopedia, I doubt if I ever worry much over the limitation.

"It's call," said the reference, "is like the moan of a human creature in pain, and when a female and her family of eight or nine take to the water they become very noisy, as well as playful."

Nobody, not even a veteran bottle-buster like me, could be excused for murdering a female rodent who moans like a human creature and has eight or nine children, splashing around and moaning all over the place.

Ducks and geese are hereby warned to disappear between December 2 and January 5, during their open season. Hunters with decoys draped over their shoulders may be wise to disappear, also. A lot of these modern lead-slingers are too accurate.

As usual, the female deer gets all the breaks. From November 15 to January 10, bucks, or males, are in for a lot of misery. But farmers down in Tensas parish say its easier to shoot your wife and get away with it than to kill a doe. Each parish can set its own season on deer, as long as the season is no longer than 45 days, and falls within the November and January dates.

Anybody wishing to hunt bear in Ouachita parish is short on luck, though long on nerve. Only coastal parishes can offer bear-hugging on the tourist menu this year, and at bear per season. Possibly one will that you can tangle with only one be sufficient.

Doves, like ducks and geese, fall under federal migratory law. With a bag and possession limit of ten, dove season runs throughout December.

Licenses for residents and non-residents are expected in the sheriff's office at the Ouachita court house any day. When they arrive, agents will be contacted in nearby towns as soon as possible. Resident permits are one dollar.

Non-resident permits are a little steeper, costing five dollars for a four-day camping trip. For non-residents who want to hunt here all season, a 5 dollar fee has been set, to make foreigners better appreciate our sportsmanship.

Red 'Peace Petition' Loses Its Appeal

By Leon Dennen
NEA Staff Correspondent

Rome—(NEA)—Events in Korea have made west Europeans realize that if war comes it will not be between the United States and Soviet Russia alone.

On a swing through France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Denmark and Italy which I have just completed, I found that pro-neutrality sentiments and the spirit of defeatism are slowly giving way to a spirit of resistance. Soviet tactics in the UN security council seem to have awakened people I talked to in those countries to the fact that the enemy is right on their doorsteps.

After the initial reverses suffered by UN troops in Korea, it was easy for the cominform to convince the middle-of-the-road European that "all was lost anyway" and that "anything is better than war." Moscow's "Stockholm petition for outlawing the atom bomb" was regarded with favor even by elements opposed to communism.

The Kremlin's "peace" campaig is still going at top speed. Rome, Paris and other west European cities are more than ever smothered in posters showing the Communist peace dove about to be swallowed by a vulture labelled United States. But in the face of UN's determined stand in Korea the "Stockholm petition" is beginning to lose its appeal.

This new spirit of resistance is especially evident in Italy. Taking a leaf out of the Communist book, the government of Premier Alcide de Gasperi, obviously inspired by the Vatican, organized in many cities and villages "Civic Committees" for the purpose of combatting Communist propaganda.

The government also has founded training schools for Christian "activists" patterned on the "Catholic Action" in France, Belgium, Holland and elsewhere.

For the first time in post-war Europe Communist propaganda is being countered effectively. The de Gasperi government, I am reliably informed, is preparing for a showdown with Italy's large Communist fifth column.

At the same time, Italy's weak treaty-limited army is being geared for war. The present 10 skeleton divisions of 175,000 men are rapidly being increased to the maximum total of 250,000 allowed by the peace treaty. This will raise the army to a total of 12 full divisions as against 40 satellite and Soviet divisions reportedly concentrated on the Yugoslav and Austrian borders.

Aware that neighboring Yugoslavia may be the next victim on Moscow's schedule, Italy is also fortifying her northern borders. To meet the threat of the Cominform's secret commando squads known to be concentrated in northern Italy, the minister of interior is now forming its own guerrilla detachments.

Should the Red army attack Yugoslavia and invade Italy it will be met by an army not sanctioned by the peace treaty.

Hopelessly outnumbered and as yet lacking modern arms, the Italians are nevertheless getting ready to fight.

"Peace or war do not depend on us alone," Mario Scelba, Italian minister of interior, recently told a congress of young Catholic labor organizations. "But we can contribute to save the one and impede the other. The nation which uses armed force to achieve its political ends can understand no other language than force."

Technologists Conduct Meeting

The Ouachita Parish Society of Medical Technologists met in the public health auditorium the night of Wednesday, September 7th with Mrs. Audrey Cooper presiding.

Dean McBride presented a paper on "Differential Jaudice." In his talk he gave the functions of the main organs which are involved in Jaudice, namely the liver. He gave as examples tests which could be run to differentiate the major types of Jaudice.

In conclusion an open discussion was held with all members participating.

'GRANDMA' OLIVIER

"Grandma" Ernestine Sanders Olivier, who was cured of cancer in 1919, feeds her chickens in her back yard in Franklin. She is now one of the more active workers for the American Cancer Society drive in the south Louisiana parish.

78-Year-Old Woman Conquers Cancer

Her Son Is A Volunteer In The St. Mary Parish Unit Of American Cancer Society; Interest Is In Human Story

Franklin, La., Sept. 9.— (Special) —Donald "Chuck" Olivier is a volunteer in the St. Mary parish unit of the American Cancer Society. In that, he is not unique—there are thousands of such volunteers in Louisiana.

But underlying the interest of this middle-aged insurance man in cancer control work is a warm and human story. His mother, Mrs. Ernestine Sanders Olivier, is one of the people who faced cancer, and conquered it.

Today, at 78, she lives alone in a white frame cottage here, near historic Bayou Teche. Her home has every modern convenience, provided by her children, including a large gas range on which she prepares such specialties as oyster dressing, chicken stew and pecan or Minnehaha cake. Blue checked curtains and at least a dozen potted plants add color to the almost clinical spotlessness of the white-painted kitchen. The coffee pot is always ready should one of her children or a neighbor drop by, as they so often do.

Eight of her 11 children are still living. She has 25 grandchildren and 15 great grandchildren. The last took quite a bit of counting amid much Gallic gesturing. "The babies, they come so fast, Mama says she cannot keep track of them," Chuck translated.

Because she "likes to keep her hands busy," she has other interests besides her house. She has 25 Rhode Island Red hens—her children insist even the chickens understand only French—and she raises camellias which are among the most gorgeous in a town where people take their flower-raising seriously.

Occasionally, when she can persuade a daughter who lives nearby to tend her hens, Mama Olivier goes visiting. She travels alone to the home of one or another of her children or a sister, in Texas or Florida.

In December, 1919, following the birth of her 11th child, Mrs. Olivier developed symptoms which sent her to her family doctor, the late Dr. Homer Gates of Franklin. Despite his long hours of work, which took him up and down the bayou, delivering babies, treating malaria, sewing up victims of plantation accidents—Dr. Gates had found time to keep up with the developments in cancer diagnosis. He found Ernestine Olivier's symptons suspicious and sent her immediately to Charity Hospital in New Orleans.

There surgery was performed and she returned home. Dr. Gates kept a watchful eye on his patient. His action was justified. Subsequently, further surgery was indicated and Mrs. Olivier was readmitted to Charity for a second operation, which undoubtedly saved her life.

As a result, she already has had many "extra" years with her family. Her daughter, Mrs. Laura Bell Porche, a graduate nurse, says, "We can't bear to think of what it would have been without Mama all these years. Yet, if it hadn't been for our family doctor who recognized the symptoms of early cancer, we would have lost her."

Chuck Olivier says it this way: "When the parish unit of the American Cancer Society was first set up, I knew right then I was going to do what I could. In our family, we know cancer can be cured, and maybe if we tell Mama's story, it will help save other lives."

Her story is being told—across the nation. The American Cancer Society has prepared and distributed to all radio stations a program built around her case. Speaking in French, she tells her story—in the hope that others may learn about cancer and act in time. Meanwhile, Chuck Olivier, like hundreds of other Louisiana volunteers is busy with the 1950 Cancer Crusade—the annual drive to raise funds that others may live.

Veteran Pilots Learn To Fly Without Engines

By Jack Chandler

Half Day, Ill.—(NEA)—Soaring like a bird is an every-day occurrence at Half Day, near Chicago, where most of the students learning to fly gliders and sailplanes are veterans already licensed to fly planes with engines.

The school is the Motorless Flight Institute, one of three glider flight training centers in the U. S. and the only one which has veterans administration approval for GI training.

Why do ex-military aviators qualified to handle airplanes with power want to learn to fly without it?

"For a power pilot to develop confidence, skill and judgment, learning to fly a glider can't be beat," explains Joe Steinhauser, veteran gliderman who runs the school.

Power planes call for "more technical knowledge, but less skill," says Steinhauser, and he can cite many instances when pilots whose engines went dead were able to use the skill gathered in motorless flight training to make safe landings.

Steinhauser's flying classrooms weigh from 350 to 450 pounds and have wingspans of from 32 to 46 feet. Only instruments are a towline release, compass, altimeter, and a delicate device which shows whether the glider is gaining or losing altitude.

Tchnically, gliding is steady downward flight without a motor after the plane has gained altitude by being towed or launched by a winch. Soaring is an advanced form of gliding, in which the pilot takes advantage of wind, heat currents and thermals to stay aloft for a long time.

Gliding got its first boost to popularity in Germany after World War 1, when Germans were not allowed to fly power planes. Steinhauser, who learned his skill in Germany but is now a U. S. citizen, figures 95 per cent of the German air force were glider pilots before they learned to fly with power.

"The reason they are trained so young is to find out if they will make the grade in airplanes," Steinhauser explains. His youngest students are Charles Leibfritz, 14, of Chicago, and Ralph Fritch, 17, of Mundelein, Ill., and he thinks all hopeful fliers ought to start that young in gliders.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority recognizes the idea, too, and allows glider time to count as half the power solo time required for a private license.

Despite this encouragement, there are less than 1,000 licensed glider pilots in the U. S., and only 25 of them are women. One of these is Miss Margaret Hayes, of Chicago, only women glider pilot in the mid-west. At Half Day, she has plenty of gliding tips to pass along to the students who never flew before without engines.

Gas Pipeline Ready By '54

Texas-N. Y. Pipeline Ready To Cross Hudson River

Edgewater, N. J.—(NEA)—Down the rocky sides of the Palisades snakes a 26-inch pipeline. One end dips into the Hudson river at Edgewater, across from Manhattan; the other is 1840 miles away at Corpus Christi, Tex.

Sometime in December, the pipeline will have stretched another 4,000 feet. Buried 30 feet under the muck of the Hudson, it will be ready to carry natural gas to New York.

It is a milestone that marks the coming of age of natural gas, a cheap fuel that for years went up in smoke and flames in the oil fields because there was no way to make use of it.

Every gusher that is brought in has millions of cubic feet of the gas. Residents near the fields got the benefits of the low-cost fuel, but they could use only a small part of it. Uncounted millions of dollars worth had to be burned off.

World War II and the oil shortage helped change the picture. To carry oil that was being lost in torpedoed tankers, the government buitlt the Big and Little Inch pipelines. At war's end, they were sold to a syndicate which began piping natural gas instead of oil.

Today, there are 282,000 miles of pipelines in service, and when New York is linked to the network, only New England and the Pacific northwest will be without natural gas. According to W. Paul Jones, the nation's top gas appliance manufacturer, by the end of 1950 the pipelines will account for 20 per cent of the nation's total fuel energy.

Adventists Train For Service

Seventh Day Adventist Churchmen Will Train Youths To Organize Medical Cadet

By NEA Service
By Ralph C. Taylor

Beulah, Colo.—(NEA)—In the pines of the front range of the Rocky Mountains, 200 young men from every state, as well as Canada and Mexico, are learning the skills of non-combatant military service.

They are members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, and after they finish will go back to their communities to train other Adventist youths in colleges, academies and state organizations, and to organize medical cadet corps.

Carlyle B. Haynes of Washington, D. C., chairman of the denomination's war service committee, points out that the men are not conscientious objectors. The church has launched a nation-wide program of non-combatant service in event of a war. The course has been approved by the U. S. army medical corps.

The young men, most of them in the draft age bracket, are undergoing rigid training as exacting as classified as 1-AO, which recognizes their loyalty to country but also the religious scruples against taking life for any reason. Conscientious objectors are classified as 4E.

The Adventist trainees wear regulation army uniforms which they buy themselves. Commissions are granted by a church conference, and although they compare with regular army ranks, are not official as far as the army is concerned.

The men in camp are paying their own way, furnishing their own transportation, paying for their meals and for lodging. The buildings they occupy are owned by the city of Pueblo and are located in Pueblo's mountain park system.

The training includes 162 hours of army and Red Cross courses on first aid and medical work, and a two-hour special course on atomic energy and treatment of atomic bomb victims.

Daily schedule is from 6 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. It ranges from anatomy and physiology to map reading, marches, bivouacs and tent pitching.

Alaskan Volcano Gets Ready To Blow Its Top

By Lachlan MacDonald
AP Newsfeatures

Anchorage, Alaska—The greatest explosion in modern history is shaping up in the rugged mountains of the Alaskan Peninsula. Scientists who make the prediction feel that 1950 will be the year of the big blast—a tremendous eruption that will make the A-bomb seem like popcorn.

Increased activity has been observed during the past month throughout the length of the 600-mile long peninsula. Beneath the smoking peaks and steaming fumaroles experts say gases are building up tremendous pressures, swirling in pools of molten lava and seeking a vent. Gauged by past performances that vent is in the Alaskan Peninsula.

The men who study nature's giant fireworks displays—volcanologists—don't agree on the exact time and place of the big blow, but they agree that the volcanoes have been quiet for too long.

Field crews recently had living examples to prove their contention. On the tip of the peninsula 8,900-foot Mount Pavlof was belching smoke 20 000 feet into the air. Fine ash covered an area of 30 miles and visibility was impaired.

Fliers Spoted Flames

First reports of the eruption, classed as a minor one by the experts, came from pilots on July 31. They spotted flames and lava pouring from a crater on the northeast slope. One witnessed chunks of pumice thrown hundreds of feet into the air and another described alternate coughing of steam and smoke punctuated by spurts of fiery lava.

Since July 2 the men who study the birth of mountains have also had their instruments trained in the direction of Knife Mountain, another volcano situated in the heart of the Alaskan Peninsula. On that day fishermen flying to a remote lake spotted a black crater on the slope of the peak. Flying closer, they observed spouting smoke and smelled the acrid sulphurous fumes that accompany an eruption.

National Park Service Regional Director George L. Collins conducted a survey of the peninsula and this week reported new volcanic ash on the white slopes at many points. He said gas pressures beneath the earth's crust are probably pressing toward activity on a tremendous scale.

Volcanic Cycles Cited

Several months ago Father Bernard Hubbard, geology head of the University of Santa Clara, predicted a big eruption. Hubbard, famed for his exploration of Alaska's active volcanoes, said he believes volcanoes operate in cycles.

Challenging A-bomb, Mt. Pavlof, left, is getting ready for the "greatest explosion in modern history." The perfect cone at the right is Pavlof's sister, an extinct volcano.

"Mount Katmai erupted in 1912," he said then. "Aniakchak blew its top about 20 years later in 1931. Over 18 years have passed since then, and I believe another big eruption is due before long."

Under the auspices of the government, teams of experts have been sent into the area to observe the smoking peaks this year. Equipped with seismographs to detect the initial rumblings deep in the earth, gravity meters, and other sensitive machines, they will attempt to predict the next big eruption.

Fair Warning Expected

One group with the Geological Survey visits various remote volcanic islands by boat from Dutch Harbor. Two of the world's foremost volcanologists, Dr. Thomas A. Jagger and Dr. Howell Williams, have concerned themselves with the Alaskan volcanoes. They believe the cones in the north seldom erupt without warning. Usually the explosive upheaval is preceded by smoking and rumbling deep within the mountain.

This is the first time such pronounced activity has been noted since July 23, 1945, when Mount Tulik, Alaska's largest active volcano, threw the Unimak Island Army Base into an uproar. Although the base was 60 miles from the crater. Detailed evacuation plans were made when the volcano peak disintegrated with a roar.

Planes flying the Aleutian route were unable to approach the menace of Mount Tulik. Lumps of volcanic ash heated to 1,000 degrees centigrade were shot 1,000 feet into the air above the eight mile wide crater. Ships in nearby Chernofski Bay prepared to put out to sea.

It Was Quite a Scare

Fortunately the Army base was not harmed by the waves of lava that boiled down from the cone. While it was still active a crew headed by Lt. Ray E. Wilcox, former geology professor of the University of Wisconsin, conducted a close up study and advised that the lava flow presented no immediate danger. Today the cone still smokes, serving as a landmark for aircraft.

Other landmarks which may yet become portals to the molten core of the earth include stately Mount Shishaldin, 9,387 feet above the shores of Unimak Island, rising in a perfect cone and still active.

The heart of the system apparently lies in the 3,000,000 - acre katmai National Monument. Today it is studded with active volcanoes such as Knife Mountain, Mount Mageik, Novarupta Volcano and Martin Volcano. But its namesake, Mount Katmai, seems forever stilled. In its vast crater is a green lake eight miles in diameter. Yet it was the scene of the world's greatest eruption.

Natives' Cabins Buried

When Katmai erupted in 1912 the natives of the village of Savonoski, forewarned by rumblings in the earth, fled to Naknek. Today their cabins are buried in pumice and ash, only the roofs are visible from a plane. The eruption had clouded the entire peninsula, depositing foot-deep layers of ash on ships at sea, smothering birds and wildlife and creating the famous Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes. Recent trips to the valley found fumaroles no longer steaming and breaches in the surrounding cones are now dormant. But other peaks in the area are acting up once again.

Although they believe the eruptions of Alaska's volcanic pressure belt looms in the near future, the experts see no cause for alarm.

Following his survey, Collins said "The Katmai area is the finest single place in the world for academic research. There is a tremendous variety of activity. But there is no special danger in allowing the public to see a volcano at work. In fact this year the monument area has been opened to the public for the first time."

Pavlof Is Watched

Attention is now focused on Pavlof. Twice before it has signaled eruptions. Villagers at Unga, over 60 miles away, were startled in 1922 when the night sky was split by flames shooting from Pavlof's cone. In 1937 again, it blew ash into the Aleutian winds. Since then like many dozens of peaks in the belt, it has been quiescent. Occasional rings of smoke and steam rise over the snowy slopes.

But this month experts are watching the mysterious peaks with renewed interest — wondering which will break from its murmuring crater with a new eruption. Instead of rushing away as in Hawaii and more populus places adjacent to large volcanoes, the field crews in Alaska hope they can rush toward the eruption in time to record its activity. Although Katmai was the world's greatest blast, they recall, not a single person witnessed the eruption.

HAPPY SCHOOL DAYS

WHAT FUN youngsters have on the numerous contrivances designed for their exercise and amusement! The children of past generations would have been delighted with such elaborate provisions for their enjoyment.

Physical training has become an important part of our modern educational system. We are spending billions of dollars each year to develop the minds and bodies of our children.... But what are we doing for their spiritual development? The body without the soul is dead, and education without spiritual growth is a hollow mockery.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE CHURCH has the stupendous task of supplying this vital need in human life. Its function is to show people the way of God and teach them to think and feel and act in accordance with His will. Body, mind and spirit—but the most important of these is the spirit.

9:45 a.m. Sunday School. James S. Rutledge, Supt. This department of our church has enjoyed a very healthy growth for which we are devoutly thankful. Our approach to the study of God's word is nonsectarian. That is we do not teach nor believe that we are the only church. We understand that the Church of our Lord is composed of all those who repent of their sins and accept Christ as Saviour. We invite those who understand the Bible in this light to join us in Bible Study on the Lord's Day.

CLAIBORNE METHODIST
Calhoun Road

F. L. Hearne, pastor.
J. O. Fleming, Church School Supt.

San Francisco was devastated by earthquake and fire. It was a desolation indeed. Now that fine city, rebuilt on old foundations, is one of the proudest instances we have of pluck and prowess. Not by laments and repining, but by steady, resolute effect and evpectant faith the work was carried through. So when our hopes are destroyed, our plans ruined, like Job, we may still have faith in God. Such faith can remove mountains.

As we make our plans for "back to school" throughout the country, why not "go back to church," the place to strengthen faith. Services at our church are:

Sunday: Church School, 9:45 a.m.
Worship Service, 10:50 a.m.
Youth Fellowship, 6:30 p.m.
Children's Service, 6:45 p.m.
Evangelistic Service, 7:30 p.m.
Monday: Woman's Society Meets, 2:00 p.m.
Tuesday: Methodist Men Meet, 7:30 p.m.

"You are always welcome at Claiborne."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCF SERVICES
First Church of Christ Scientist
224 Auburn Ave.

"Substance" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science Churches and societies Sunday, September 10, 1950.

The Golden Text is: "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith saith the Lord of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall be room enough to receive it" (Mal. 3:10).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "While we look not at the things which are seen but at the things which are not seen: for the things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal" (II Cor. 4:18).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "In sprit there is no matter, even as in truth there is no error, and in good no evil" (p. 278).

Listen in on a 15 minute radio broadcast Sunday at 9:30 a.m. over radio station KNOE. Sunday school at 9:30 a.m. Sunday service at 11:00 a.m. Wednesday service at 8:00 p.m. Reading room at 814 Bernhardt building, open daily from 10:00 to 5:00, except Sundays and national holidays.

THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OF MONROE

The Sabbath School attendance is satisfactory. Will you cooperate with the leadership that the attendance may reach the goal 400 Rally Day, September 24? Promotion day is September 17.

At the morning hour the Gedeons will provide the speaker. His name will be announced later. The Gedeons are doing a great work. Hear the speaker.

"The Gospel changes people" is the theme of the evening message. When the gospel changes people they are changed from self to others, from the world to the unseen, from sitting in judgment to sitting in judgment on self.

Bible Comments
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

Of the gour Gospels in the New Testament, the Gospel by Mark is, perhaps, the most invaluable.

Matthew presents us with the geneology and story of Bethlehem. To Luke we owe a dazzling portrait of Mary and a precious account of the birth of Jesus. John contributed many facts overlooked by the other Gospel writers and gave us a profound interpretation of the things he knew.

But the Gospel by Mark stands out as a direct and simple account of the life, death, ministry and resurrection of Jesus. The earliest written of the Gospels, Mark's work can be criticized for its incompleteness. In fact, his omission of many vital details prompted Luke to write the full story as one who knew all from the very beginning.

Mark's knowledge was mostly second-hand for he was not one of the Twelve. It was known that he was an interpreter of Peter, setting down what was adapted to the needs of his hearers. Having had no day-to-day acquaintanceship with Jesus, he did not feel qualified to author a comprehensive account and that is why we must turn to Matthew if we wish to read the Sermon on the Mount.

Yet with all of the inadequacy of his story, Mark wrote the Gospel with a vividity and directness that has never been rivaled. Again and again he employs the word "straightaway." His strong faith is always apparent in his convincing narration.

Referred to in Acts 12:12, John Mark was related to Barnabas. Accompanying Barnabas on Paul's first missionary journey, John Mark became the subject of dissention between Paul and Barnabas. When Paul was about to set out on his second missionary journey, he refused to take John Mark with him charging that Mark had deserted them on the first trip for no good reason.

In the argument that followed, Paul turned his back on Barnabas and chose Silas as his companion. Ever since, generations have wondered whether John Mark was really a quitter as charged by Paul.

Concerning that question mark in the life of Mark, I believe that he may have had a good reason for returning to Jerusalem. Then again, Paul's rigid self-discipline may have been too exacting for Mark. Even great Christians do not see eye-to-eye.

In any case it is good to know that John Mark stands vindicated by his full life and work, even if as is by no means clear, he may have failed at one point.

OUR CHILDREN

NO FOUNDATIONS

At the risk of being tagged as an old hat I protest against the waste of children's learning time that now goes on in some schools under the banner of modern education. For example, the cut-outs, coloring of pictures, quiet games like checkers, comic books, projects that bear no relation to the child's need for a sound background in history, geography and civics.

Any one of these devices is good in itself. What I complain about is their misuse. Classroom teachers are forced by supervisors, who feel they must be up to the educational minute lest they fall by the wayside when the reports go in, to make devices the main thing instead of the pastime, recreational, unimportant matter. Moving pictures that the children have seen in the movie houses; busy work that adds nothing to the child's knowledge but keeps him occupied while the teacher gives him what attention she can muster, drawn as she is hither and yon by the multiciplicity of activities going on in the room; maps of the industries in a district in which the children have no interest; homework that demands the assistance of weary fathers and mothers such as learning to spell, write, and define a list of Spanish words. I could go on and on, but this will give you an idea of my state of mind.

Meanwhile do these children read, really read so as to be able to state the content of a page or paragraph? Can they tell you the background history of their country? Can they write a paragraph in clear simple English and punctuate it? Do they know any poetry well enough to recite ten lines? Do they know any fine prose, its author and its meaning? If they do, I'll lead the cheers.

What we need, and I believe most parents agree with me, is a sound thorough training of children in the fundamentals of education. We want them to have a good background in English, to be able to read and write it. We want children to have well-rounded characters so that they know the difference between right and wrong, know the meaning of words like honor, courage, decency, friendliness and cooperation.

Any course of study that does that suits us all, I am sure. The teacher who understands that idea is the teacher we want, and we want him or her left free to teach subjects and the implication of them in a style that makes them meaningful to children. Let's not waste children's precious growing time for no greater end than a shoddy report for the superintendent. He is too far from children to really know what is going on in his name. Parents and children must rally to the cause of school children.

An accurate record of baby's growth often has greater value than merely the sentimental. Dr. Patri tells you why it is important to have such information in his leaflet P-23, "The Record Book." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

DRIVE LEADER

REV. E. E. M'KEITHEN

VISITING PASTOR TO HOLD REVIVAL

Rev. E. E. M'Keithen Of Laurel To Start Services In Memorial Church

Rev. E. E. McKeithen, pastor of the West Laurel Methodist Church, Laurel, Mississippi, is the visiting evangelist for revival services to be conducted at Memorial Methodist Church, 401 Sherrouse Avenue, September 10-17. Preaching services will be held each weekday at 9:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The children's service will be each weekday afternoon at 3:00 p.m., and the youth service at 6:45 p.m. each weekday evening. There will be a nursery for small children at both Sunday services and at each week night service.

Rev. McKeithen has conducted revivals in many cities in Mississippi and adjoining states. He is a forceful preacher of the great fundamentals of the faith. You will enjoy the gospel preaching and the gospel singing.

Special nights through the week have been set as follows: Monday, recognition of the Sunday school; Tuesday, official board; Wednesday, the choirs; Thursday, Woman's Society of Christian Service; Friday, families; Saturday, youth night. All are invited to attend.

COTTON CROP IS RUNNING HIGH

Catahoula, Despite Floods, Will Doubtless Have Value Of Over 2 Million

Jonesville, La., Sept. 9.—(Special—In spite of high water, rains and insects, Catahoula cotton will probably run over two million dollars in value this year.

That's the estimate E. E. Johnson, parish farm agent, made this week as cotton gins over the parish went well into ginning season.

Johnson's estimate set the yield at 9,000 bales, or an average of three-quarters of a bale per acre. Cotton is generally bringing forty cents per pound, or $200 per ton, making a lint value estimated at $1,800,000. Cotton seed is selling at $80 per ton, or $32 for seed from a bale of cotton. That adds $288,000 more, making a total estimated value of $2,088,000.

Catahoula farmers this year had a total allotment of 15,032 acres for cotton, Johnson said. Only 12,760 were planted, however, because of trouble in getting stands after continued backwater and heavy rains. Alloted but not planted are 2,272 acres. Operators, or cotton farmers, in the parish number 800.

Profit from the cotton crop, however, will not be so great as the good selling price might indicate. "This is the most expensive crop we have ever had," Johnson said, "because of higher wages for labor and because of the unusual amount [illegible]soning which has been necessary.

Normally, he said, five applications of poison will control boll weevils and worms, but this year 10 and 12 applications have been necessary to do a good job. Some late cotton still should be poisoned, he stated.

IN HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, Sept. 9.—I hear that Jimmy Stewart, perfectly willing to don his shoot-suit again, is expecting an early call from Uncle Sam's air force. . . . Time out for Olivia de Havilland, recuperating from minor surgery. . . . Ex-star Lenore Ulrich's current Hollywood visit is inspired by business considerations; several studios are bidding for her life story. . . . Height of something-or-other: Bill 'Hopalong Cassidy'' Boyd's new Cadillac, upholstered in brown and white calfskin, and garnished with a silver replica of "Topper" as a radiator ornament.

MGMers will give you odds that the romance twixt Audry Totter and Benay Venuta's ex, Director Armand Deutsch, will reach the altar the minute he gets his final decree. . . . The newest enthusiasm of Howard Hughes is Italian-Actress Gina Lollobrigida, star of "Pagliacci." She's screen testing at RKO, and has already been offered a long-term ticket. . . . Louis Calhern will undergo major surgery late this month when he completes his current screen role. . . . Looks like it will take more than birthdays to age Mae West; she gets seven leading men in that picture she's to do for Metro.

Wonder if Linda Darnell's decision to divorce Pev Marley can be influenced by her interest in Bud Rudolph, a California socialite? . . . Sorry to report that Academy Award winner Katina Paxinou is seriously ill in Athens, Greece . . . Ginger Rogers is mulling an offer from Broadway Producer Donald Heywood, who wants her to star in a soon-to-be-staged musical.

Preview nights: Pic of the week: Warner Brothers' "Three Secrets" (Eleanor Parker - Patricia Neal-Ruth Roman). A compelling and altogether different type of story that lands some heavy punches in the region of the heart. . . . Good: Universal - International's "Saddle Tramp" (Joel McCrea-Winda Hendrix - John Russell). A giddyap with a lot of go, and more than the usual quota of femme appeal. . . . Fair: J. Arthur Rank's "Madeline" (Ann Todd). Even blackmail gets the "arty" treatment in this one. . . . Eagle-Lion's "The Fighting Redhead." Red Ryder rides again in one of his bets to date. . . . Sub-par: Lippert Productions' "Train to Tombstone." Don Barry suffers a professional setback in a completely nonsensical, bang-bang, good-guys-and-bad-buys Western . . . Best performance: Patricia Neal in "Three Secrets."

Frankly, I don't know (and neither, I'm sure, does any other Hollywood columnist know) the exact nature of the quarrel between Joan Fontaine and Olivia de Havilland. But I do know the two gals well enough to regard with suspicion such stories as those which reached print the other day after Joan had visited their aged father in Canada. Those yarns implied that Olivia has been neglecting her dad; they presented Joan as a dutiful daughter who is only too anxious to accede to her papa's request and patch up the family feud. Actually, Oliva has contributed regularly to her father's support; according to the records, she has visited him on several occasions. The difference is that Oliva dodges publicity, whereas Joan seeks it. And unless I mis my guess, Miss Fontaine seldom passes up a chance to use her publicity as a weapon in the quarrel she professes to regret

A friend of mine who saw Rita Hayworth some weeks ago when he was in Europe is chuckling over the report that Aly Khan has warned Columbia against sending our troops in Korea pin-up pictures of his princess. Rita, he says, has put on so much weight that it would take something heavier than a pin to support her pictures now.

In my mail this ayem I found two items that make mighty poor teammates. One, a communique from a major studio, is headed by the motion picture industry's new slogan, "Mvoies Are Better Than Ever." The other is a report from the Legion of Decency, branding five of Hollywood's newest releases as "morally objectionable in part." I'm wondering if the day will ever come when Hollywood's contempt for "B" pictures will include films which earn a "b" rating from such organizations as the Legion of Decency.

Certainly I have no intent to criticize, or ridicule, Brian Donlevy because he's fallen in love and, reportedly, asked the object of his affections to marry him. But I can't help recalling his very positive statement to the press, during his battles with a former wife, that he never, never would fall in love or marry again. That was all of two years ago. Screen stars I suppose, are no more changeable than the rest of us humans, but because they're screen stars and their remarks are widely quoted, their inconsistencies are more noticeable. People in their position would be smart to think twice before declaring themselves, and then, having thought, keep still.

OWN MEAL

Mound City, Oll.—(AP)—When a prankster invited 25 guests to dinner at the home of James Finley, Mound City school superintendent, Finley was equal to the situation. He instructed some of the "guests" to slip out and raid the suspect's own icebox. They gathered coffee, cakes and utensils, returned to the Finley home, and served the loot. "The suspect knew his own silver and his wife recognized her own cakes," Finley chuckled.

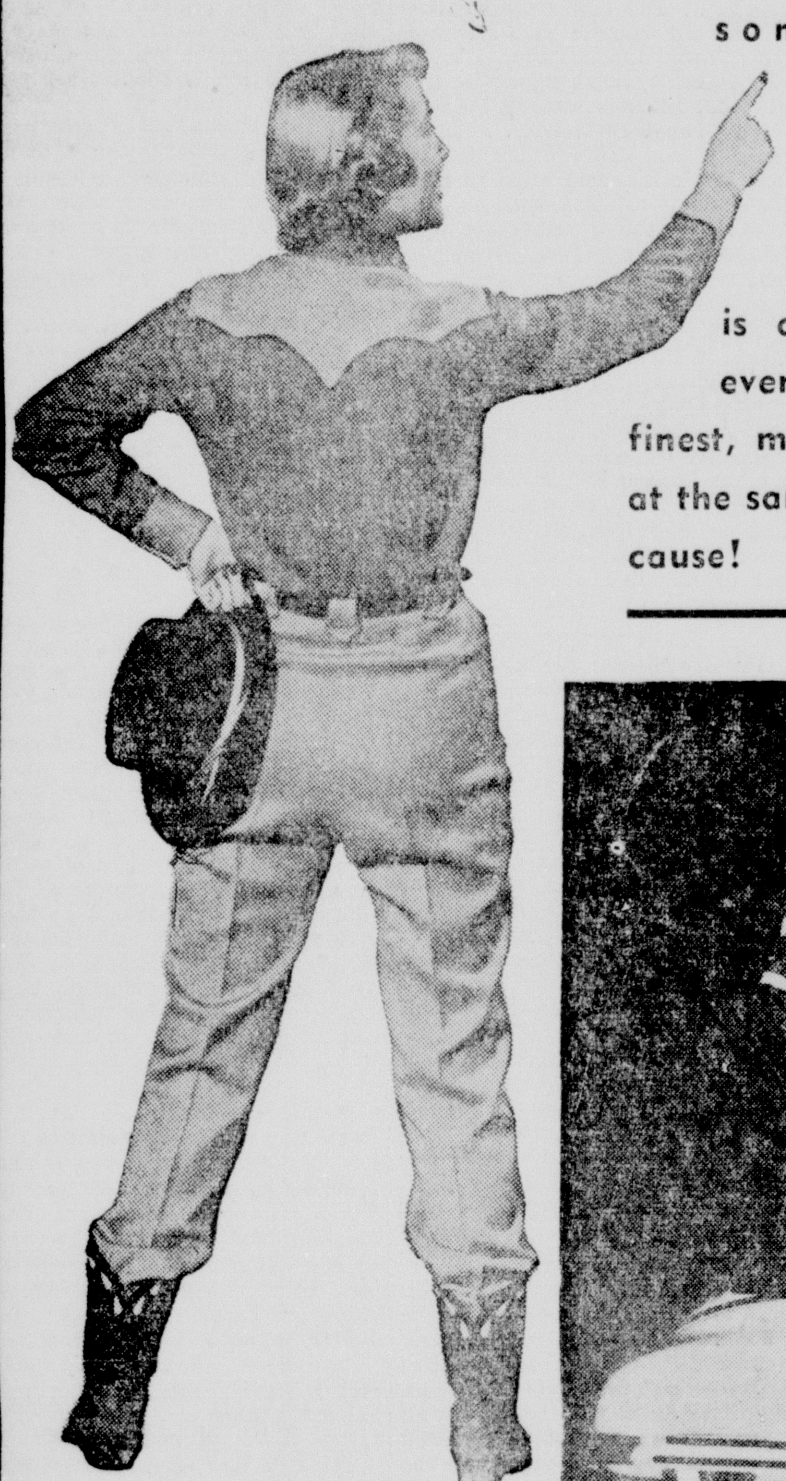
LAST PERFORMANCE 3 p. m. TODAY

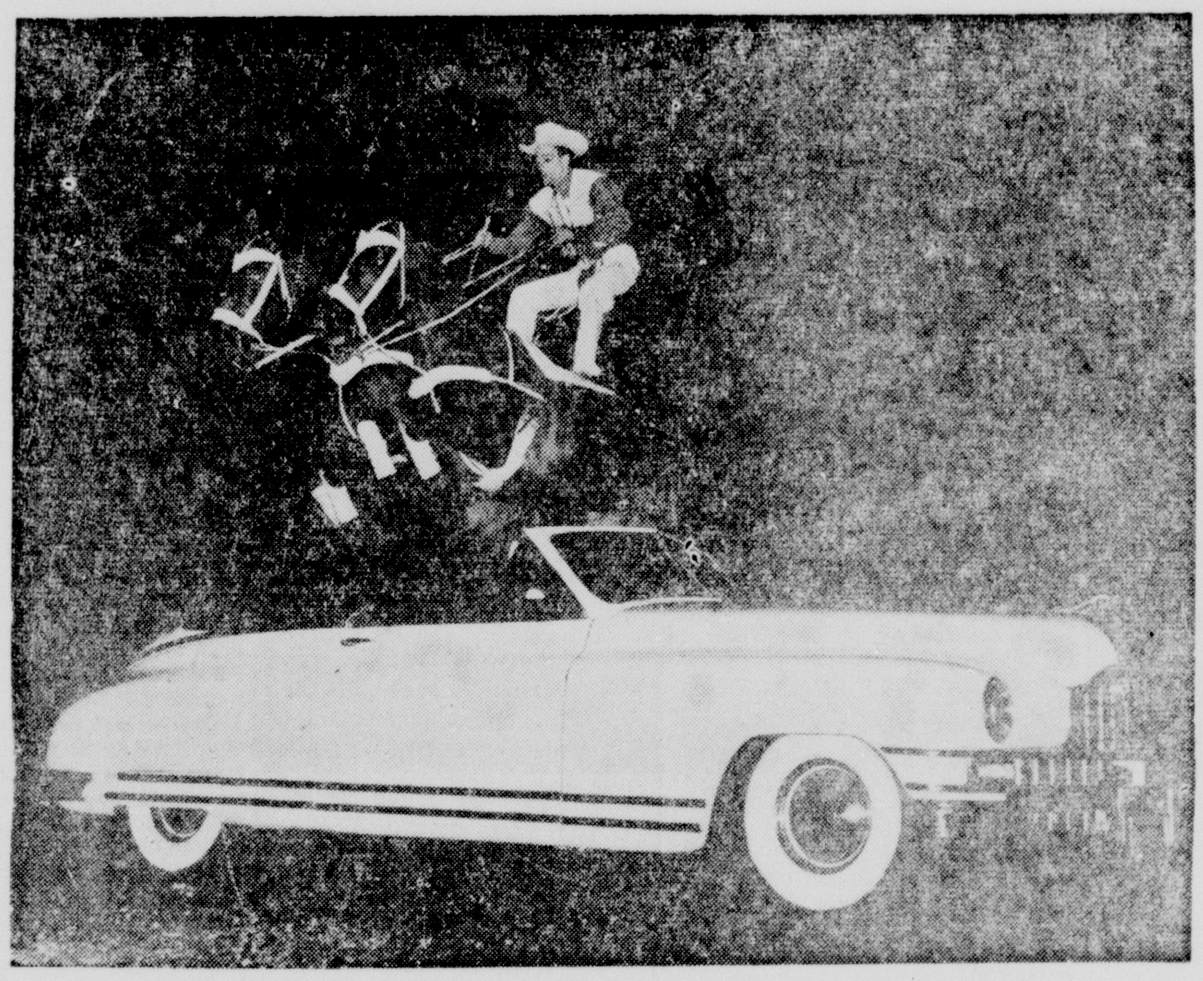
NORTH LOUISIANA RODEO ASSOCIATION PRESENTS 3 HOURS OF THE FINEST RODEO ACTS EVER STAGED IN THE UNITED STATES – WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS RODEO PRODUCERS–NOW IN MONROE FOR THIS EVENT!



Your admittance price to the Rodeo is shared with some unfortunate and underprivileged child – The Kiwanis club of West Monroe is co-sponsor of this event–Come and see the finest, most daring acts–and at the same time help a good cause!

Daring! Thrilling! Death Defying! Thrills and Spills Don't Miss It Reckless!

Many Acts Today You Never Saw Before. Come on out this afternoon–Get your good seats early! Bring the entire family!



In the group of three, are the Beutler Bros., Elra, Jake, and Lynn. The Beutlers are known throughout the rodeo world for their bucking stock, and also as producers of top rodeos since 1935.

Making their first appearance at The North La. Rodeo Assn., will be the famous Hendricks Troupe from California. This troupe is known as one of the world's great rodeo acts. Byron and Lee Hendricks, the Stunt Kings, on the Flying Twins bring you the most sensational act in show business today. This Roman act, not only being extraordinarily new and daring is also very colorful as the boys are twins themselves and ride two sets of twin horses. The act is opened with a breath taking Roman race to the center of the arena, followed by the fast figures - of - eight, exciting stake race, and a horse show exhibition of a walk, trot, and canter, all in unison The act is continued with a daredevile shoulder stand and a backward Roman stand without bridles.

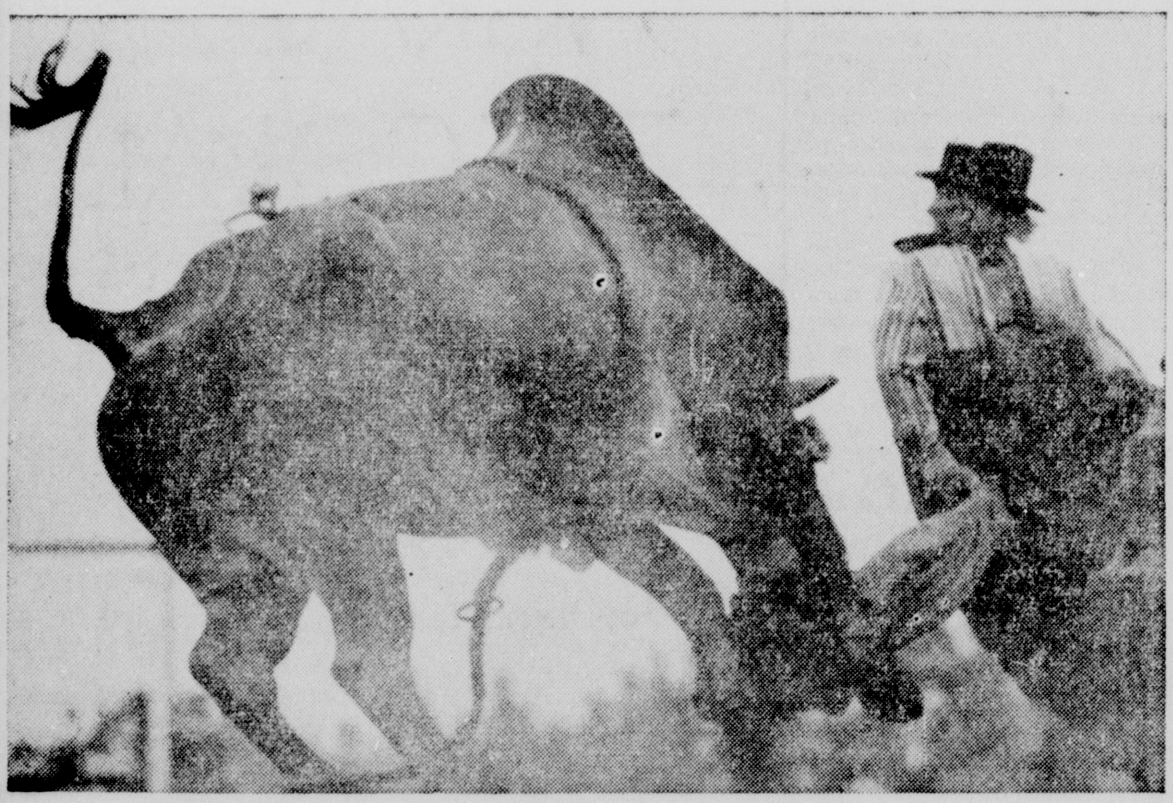
The group also has a comedy act that is classed among the tops. The surprise ending will be long remembered.



HOYT HEFNER – The Clown – Is A Riot!

John Lindsey, and Hoyt Hefner, nationally known rodeo clowns, will be on hand to entertain you at the Rodeo. You will laugh until you cry at some of the interesting features performed by these two in the burlesque bull fighting. In the event a cowboy is thrown while attempting to throw one of the wild outlaw ferocious bulls, his life will be in danger. This is where the clowns step in and distract the attention of the bull, and give the rider a chance to get back to the fence. This act although performed with a comical angle, is one of the most dangerous in the rodeo. While these two are in the arena keep your eyes and ears wide open, because it is hard to tell what they will do next.

BOOMTOWN QUADRILLE

Now "Swing your partner and do-so-do"—a phrase that will ring out in the Rodeo arena as the famous Boomtown Mounted Square Dancers of Burkburnett, Texas, take the spot light at each rodeo performance.

Eight pairs of dancers, mounted on matching horses will appear in this event. All members of the group ride as a hobby, and full attendance at rehearsals is the rule rather than the exception. Professional occupations range from stock farmers to housewives and college students. The group was formed in 1946, and they have been showing off their adeptness at horseback riding ever since. During the past three years, they have appeared at rodeos all over the southwest, Dow Estes, an old-time dance caller, calls the dances for the group, and he has been acclaimed by roeo fans as one of the most outstanding callers in the nation.

Warner Bros.' Technicolor 'Flame And Arrow' Opening

Five-Day Engagement Of Historical Drama Now At Paramount

An epic spectacle of romance, "The Flame and the Arrow," long-heralded and awaited, opens at the Paramount Theater today for a five-day engagement.

Starring Burt Lancaster and Virginia Mayo, the Norma-FR Production was filmed in Technicolor for Warner Bros. release, over a year in the making.

A story of medieval Italy revolving around the historical episode when the mountain men of Lombardy rose up under the daring leadership of Dardo and fought the Hessians who were seeking to run their country. Against such a background, the story projects the romance which takes place between the leader of the rugged Lombardians and the royal Anne of Hesse.

Jacques Tourneur directed the film and during production, it became one of the most talked-about films in Hollywood. Action galore marks "The Flame and the Arrow" with Burt Lancaster, himself a former circus acrobat, actually doing all his own derring-do, from fencing and archery, for the crossbow was the weapon of the day, to breath-taking acrobatic feats. The story also calls for a group of tumblers to invade the royal castle as a ruse with stunts high up in the rafters of its great hall.

Heading the supporting cast of hundreds are Robert Douglas who plays Alessandro, a traitorous landowner, Frank Allenby as Ulrich of Hesse, and Lynne Baggett as a princess consort.

Nick Cravat, who plays Piccolo, a hardy mountain member of Dardo's band, is a lifelong friend and circus buddy of Burt Lancaster, and the two repeat their nimble artistry of the big top in the film.

AT THE JOY

Elizabeth Taylor sweetens Spencer Tracy up with a perfume atomizer before she breaks the news of her coming marriage. The scene is from "Father of the Bride," M-G-M's captivating new comedy opening at the Joy Theatre today.

'Father Of The Bride' Is Brought To Screen At Joy

Spencer Tracy And Elizabeth Taylor Starred In New Picture

"Father of the Bride," Edward Streeter's best-seller story of the problems of marrying off a daughter, has been brought to the Joy screen by M-G-M in a captivating motion picture filled with all the poignant and heartwarming humor of the original novel.

Anyone who has ever witnessed the marriage of his own daughter or that of a friend will find a familiar echo in the predicament of Spencer Tracy, as Stanley Banks, in marrying off his twenty-year-old daughter, played by the fetching Elizabeth Taylor. It is all here, just as it was in the book and just as it happens in hundreds of households throughout the country today and every day.

The story opens with Stanley's first shock at realizing he is going to lose his daughter whom he thinks of as still a child. There is the distrust of his future son-in-law, Buckley Dunstan, which precipitates a rib-tickling heart-to-heart talk in which the prospective father-in-law comes out a decided loser. There is the apprehensive meeting between the respective parents, happily eased when the two fathers discover a mutual appreciation of Martinis. There is the problem of whether to have a large or small wedding, with Stanley's hopes for the latter completely overruled by Kay's mother, Ellie (Joan Bennett). There is the frenzy of wedding preparations, with unnerving interviews with caterers, florists, etc., the opening of gifts, the terrible impact of the trousseau bill. Then the explosion when Kay announces the marriage to be off because Buckley wants to spend their honeymoon on a fishing trip! When the lovers again kiss and make up, the wedding preparations, resume, with the mishaps of the church rehearsal, the poignant ceremony and the final frenzied reception which leaves Stanley limp as a rag but which sends bride and groom off to a flying start!

Tracy gives a warm and chuckling performance as the loving but harrassed father of the bride, with Joan Bennett providing expert teamwork as the knowing and understanding mother. Elizabeth Taylor, who only recently enacted a bride in real life, is perfectly cast in this dress-rehearsal role and finds exactly the right touch between innocence and young sophistication. Don Taylor makes a likable young groom, with other good performances contributed by Billie Burke and Moroni Olsen as his indulgent parents, Leo G. Carroll as a snobbish caterer, Melville Cooper as the soothing church section and Tom Irish as the bride's typical college-student brother.

Gideons Scheduled In 40 Churches

Approximately 59 members of the organization convened at the Frances Hotel Friday for the meeting, which brought together businessmen fulfilling an evangelical ministry from five states.

During th emore than half century of its existence, the Gideon group has distributed more than 3,000,000 bibles and over 20,000,000 copies of the New Testament and other books of Holy Writ. Bibles have been placed in hotels, penal institutions and schools, and copies of the smaller publications have been distributed among students and members of the armed forces.

The membership of the international organization exceeds 12,000. There are 14 Gideon members in Monroe.

Saturday, Gideon workers held special street meetings in Monroe and West Monroe during the afternoon. The first meeting, frmo noon to 1 p.m., was held at the intersection of Jackson and DeSiard Sts. At 4:30, a meeting was held on Trenton street in West Monroe and the final meeting was held at Five Points at 5:30 p.m.

Don't Let General Rules Hinder You

By Oswald Jacoby

Every bridge player learns certain rules of defense almost as soon as he takes up the game. For example, you are told to lead through strength and up to weakness.

Opening lead—♦4

This is very sound rule most of the time. If the dummy is on your right, it is usually wise for you to lead a suit in which dummy is weak. If your partner has high cards in the suit, he has a chance to play after declarer without the risk of being topped by the dummy.

If the dummy is on your left, it is usually wise to lead through a suit in which there is broken strength. In this case, your hope is that your partner has the missing high cards and will win whatever finesse is taken.

Although this is a perfectly good rule of thumb, it should not be followed blindly in every hand. The expert considers every hand as an individual case, and does not allow himself to be misled by a general rule. The importance of disregarding the rule is shown in today's hand.

West opened the four of diamonds and East won with the ace. When the king dropped from the South hand, East indulged in a little thought. It seemed clear to him that declarer would eventually discard most of his losing cards on dummy's clubs. It was therefore necessary to make sure of four defensive tricks before declarer could draw trumps and run the clubs.

East could count on winning only one diamond. If he won only one spade trick, it would be necessary for his partner to contribute two tricks in hearts and clubs. In view of the fact that South had made an opening bid and a free rebid, it was virtually impossible for West to have the necessary high cards in hearts and clubs.

East realized that he could expect no more from his partner than one trick. It was therefore necessary to find the setting tricks in spades.

On the basis of this reasoning, East returned the deuce of spades at the second trick! South played low. West played the queen, and dummy won with the king.

This unusual play, violating the general rule of defensive play, paved the way for the defeat of the contract. Declarer properly took the trump finesse, losing to West's king. West then returned a spade through dummy's jack, allowing East to take two tricks with the ace and the ten.

If East had tamely led a second diamond at trick two, South would have made his contract. He would ruff, enter dummy with a club to take the trump finesse, and then guess the spades correctly. The opponents would have no time to set up a second spade trick, and South would lose only one spade, one heart and one diamond.

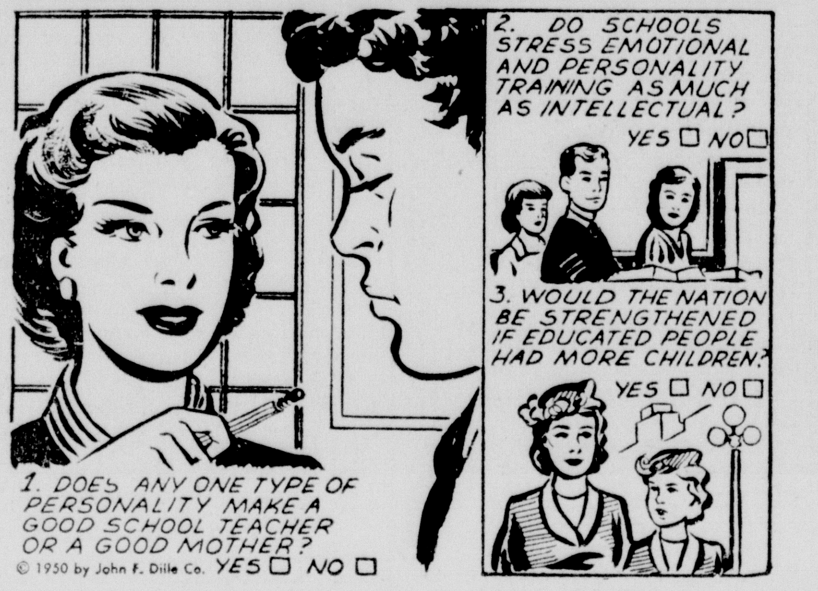
LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. S.



1. DOES ANY ONE TYPE OF PERSONALITY MAKE A GOOD SCHOOL TEACHER OR A GOOD MOTHER? YES ☐ NO ☐
2. DO SCHOOLS STRESS EMOTIONAL AND PERSONALITY TRAINING AS MUCH AS INTELLECTUAL? YES ☐ NO ☐
3. WOULD THE NATION BE STRENGTHENED IF EDUCATED PEOPLE HAD MORE CHILDREN? YES ☐ NO ☐

© 1950 by John F. Dille Co.

Answer To Question No. 1

1. No. After studying 24 teachers in New York, Psychologist Percival M. Symonds concluded: "There is no 'best' type of school teacher." He found some successful ones with loud, sharp voices; others possessed soft voices, were lax and easy-going. However, all of the successful teachers were confident, tolerant, sincere, and really liked boys and girls. Dr. Symonds does not say so, but aren't these latter qualities just as necessary to good mothers?

Answer To Question No. 2

2. No. Psychiatrist William C. Menninger concludes that "it is possible to produce intellectual geniuses who are emotional morons." He says 12,000 students named as the 12 most important traits of a good teacher: Cooperative and democratic attitude; kindliness and consideration; patience, wide interests; pleasing personality; farness; sense of humor; good disposition; interests in pupils; problems; flexibility; praise and unusual proficiency in teaching. The first 11 traits are traits of personality. Our booklet, "How To Be An Emotional Grownup," will help you attain all these personality traits. Sent at cost, 15 cents, (coin only) plus self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer To Question No. 3

3. Yes. Even if intelligence is not inherited (although part of it surely is), and even if educated people have no more intelligence than the uneducated (which they probably have); yet, they can, and do, give their children more education and thereby enable them to develop their natural abilities more than the less educated.

Are You Self-Conscious

If you are, you are handicapping your progress in business and socially. You need this great little booklet.

Overcoming Self Consciousness

It is packed with easily understood rules successfully used by all good talkers. It includes a valuable popularity test. Sent at cost, 15 cents in coin plus a self-addressed, stamped return envelope. Address Dr. A. E. Wiggam.

SUIT FOR SOUTH

Des Monies—(AP)—A Scot on lonely Tristan da Cunha Island in the south Atlantic will soon be the best dressed man on the island, thanks to an Iowa utilities executive and an Iowa banker.

Last December the cruise ship Caronia anchored off the island, sometimes called the "world's loneliest outpost." Ben Webster, Des Moines, secretary of the Iowa Utilities Ossociation, was one of the few passengers who risked the rough trip ashore in one of the small boats in which the islanders rowed out to meet the ship. Webster's "native" oarmate, William Gordon Glas, confided the thing he wanted most on the world was a new suit of clothes. This Webster promised to send.

YOUNG NEGRO IS GIVEN 20 YEARS

Benjamin Franklin Sentenced In Catahoula For Intent To Kill

Jonesville, La., Sept. 9.—(Special)—Benjamin Franklin, 19-year-old Negro of Peck, was sentenced by Judge Jesse McGee in district court Thursday morning to twenty years in the state penitentiary, after he had pled guilty to a charge shooting with intent to kill.

The charge came from a Sunday night disturbance at the home of C. C. Hill, owner of Hill's Bar, located on highway 15 near the Catahoula-Franklin parish line.

According to Sheriff Fred V. Fairbanks, Franklin shot into and through the small house of Mr. and Mrs. Hill, just after they had retired Sunday night.

He was arrested Tuesday night in Wisner by "Son" Brown, marshal, on a charge of theft of a bicycle and some clothes. On being questioned, Fairbanks said, Franklin admitted the shooting at Hill's Bar.

The shot came just after Mrs. Hill had turned off the overhead light. From a long Tom single barrel gun, it passed over their heads as they lay in bed.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By Oswald Jacoby
Written for NEA Service

One of the most important factors in a good partnership at Canasta is mutual confidence. Each partner assumes that the other one knows what he is doing at all times and that, when an unusual play is made, there must be a definite reason for it.

Each side had melded out but no one had a canasta. Crawford and Lightner held fewer cards than their opponents and one of the opponents froze the discard pile.

The Crawford - Lightner team had only one base for a canasta. This was a meld of four sevens. Among their other melds was one of three eights. After the pack was frozen, the player to Crawford's left discarded a couple of eights. A few rounds later, Crawford added a deuce to his meld of three eights.

At his next turn to play, Lightner added another deuce to the same eight meld. Then, when it got back to Crawford, he put down two eights making the canasta, and melded the rest of his cards, thereby ending the hand before the other side could do anything.

One of the spectators asked Teddy, "How did you know enough to add your deuce to the meld of eights when there were only three natural cards there?"

Lightner answered, "It was a cinch. Johnny's play of adding one deuce to the three eights told me that he thought that was our best place to make a canasta. Therefore, unless his play merely meant that he had suddenly gone nuts, he had to have two eights left in his hand. Any meld of that sort had to be a signal to me to add to the eights, so I just obeyed orders."

The spectator then asked Johnny, "Why do you put all that strain on your partner Couldn't you have told him the same story without any possible misunderstanding by melding the two eights at the same time you melded the deuce?"

Johnny said, "Yes. But I could not be certain that my partner held a wild card. I might not be able to meld out at my next turn and the hand might develop in such manner that I might need the eights as discards later on. I knew Teddy would read my play without my drawing a diagram for him."

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

HOW DOES IT FEEL TO BE THE HEEL OF A TRIANGLE? JUST BECAUSE YOU WERE LONESOME AND REBEL WAS FEELING FLIRTY, YOU SPOIL A GOOD GUY'S CHANCES.
HE'S THE KIND OF SOLID JOE THAT REBEL SHOULD MARRY — INSTEAD OF A FOOT-LOOSE CHARACTER LIKE ME...OH, GOLLY, LEE, YOU'VE KICKED TWO PEOPLE'S LIVES APART — GOT ANY GLUE HANDY?
MEANWHILE, BELOW...
FRIEND, DO YOU KNOW THERE'S A MOBILE MILK AND BUTTER DISPENSARY BLOCKING TRAFFIC OUTSIDE?
IT IS TO BE REGRETTED, SAHIB...
HOTEL
CRITTER, DO YOU FIND LIFE MONOTONOUS?... CHECK!... NOW I JUST HAPPEN TO HAVE AN IDEA THAT SHOULD LIVEN THINGS UP CONSIDERABLY FOR YOU!

CRIMESTOPPERS TEXTBOOK
FOUND AT SCENE OF CRIME
BREAK MATCHES
BROKEN RADIATOR EMBLEMS HAVE SOLVED MANY HIT-AND-RUN AUTO CASES. BROKEN METAL PIECES THAT MATCH ARE CONVINCING EVIDENCE.
Dick Tracy
AFTER A VICIOUS FIST FIGHT IN THE COAL BUNKER, DICK TRACY MOVES TO CLAMP THE HANDCUFFS ON T. V. WIGGLES, WHEN—A FIREMAN IN THE FURNACE ROOM BELOW MOVES A LEVER—
CUT AWAY VIEW
AND WITH IT GOES T. V. WIGGLES!
PLOP
AS THE COAL DESCENDS, TRACY AUTOMATICALLY REACHES OUT AND HIS HAND GRABS THE RUNG OF A LADDER BUILT IN THE WALL.
PERSPIRATION FROM HIS EFFORTS HAS MADE HIS HANDS SLIPPERY; AND HE FINDS IT DIFFICULT TO HANG ON. THE DOOR OF THE CHUTE BELOW SNAPS SHUT AND HE IS IN THE HOPPER ALONE.
WHILE ON THE RAILROAD TRACK ABOVE, ANOTHER CAR OF COAL HAS BEEN SWITCHED INTO POSITION.
GET THE DUMP WRENCH.
THE FIGHT KNOCKED OUT MY WRIST RADIO, AND THAT NOISY ENGINE KEEPS DROWNING OUT MY VOICE.
MEANWHILE, SAM CATCHEM, WHO WAS OCCUPIED WITH THE GUNMAN UP ON THE BOULEVARD AND DID NOT SEE TRACY JUMP OVER THE PARAPET, SEARCHES IN VAIN—
MUGG STAYED BACK AT THE COAL CAR. HEAR HIM?
BOW WOW WOW

I'D BETTER CHECK MY TUXEDO--I HAVE TO WEAR IT TOMORROW NIGHT
GREAT SCOTT! IT'S TOO SMALL FOR ME ...I'VE BECOME FAT AND FLABBY--I'VE LOST MY FIGURE
IT'S EXERCISE AND DIET FOR ME--PLENTY OF HARD WORK AND NO MORE NAPS
YOU GUYS CAN BECOME FAT IF YOU WANT, BUT THERE'S GOING TO BE NO MIDDLE-AGE SPREAD FOR ME
OH, THIS IS WONDERFUL
BRING ME MORE WORK--THINK OF THINGS FOR ME TO DO
I CAN FEEL THE POUNDS DROPPING OFF--I'LL HAVE THE BODY BEAUTIFUL BACK IN NO TIME
HE'S A BALL OF FIRE
DAGWOOD, YOU'D BETTER REST A LITTLE BEFORE DINNER
NOTHING DOING... NO MORE NAPS FOR ME--SLEEP STORES FAT
I'M DIETING--ALL I WANT IS A PIECE OF LETTUCE AND ONE SLICE OF DRY TOAST, AND BACK TO WORK I GO
LOOK AT THE TUX MAMA RENTED FOR ME TO WEAR TO THE FORMAL TONIGHT, POP WAIT--LET ME TRY MY TUXEDO ON AGAIN!
YOU MUST'VE HAD MINE ON BY MISTAKE
MINE FITS ME PERFECTLY--I'M NOT FAT

COLGATE DENTAL CREAM

STOPS TOOTH DECAY BEST

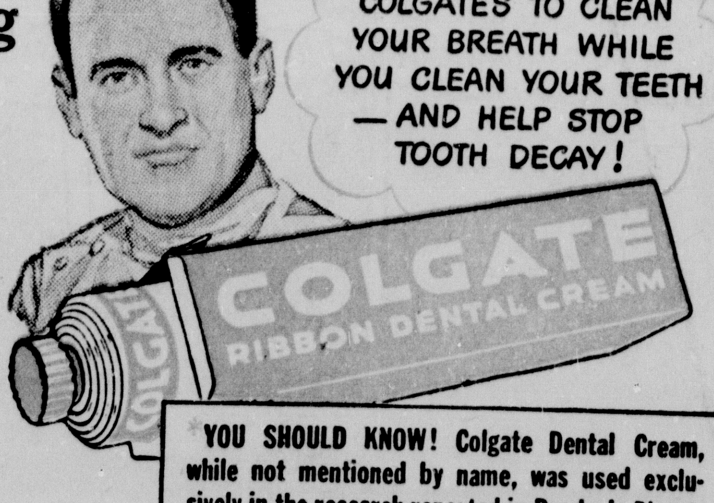
No Other Toothpaste or Powder AMMONIATED OR NOT Offers Proof of Such Results!

Better Than Any Other Way Of Preventing Tooth Decay According To Published Reports!

READER'S DIGEST FOR JULY REPORTS on one of the most extensive experiments in dental history! And remember these additional facts: The toothpaste used exclusively in this research was Colgate Dental Cream. Two years' research showed brushing teeth right after eating with Colgate Dental Cream stopped tooth decay best! Better than any other home method of oral hygiene known today! The Colgate way stopped more decay for more people than ever reported in dentifrice history on tooth decay!

NOT EVEN ONE NEW CAVITY IN 2 FULL YEARS for more than 1 out of 3 who used Colgate Dental Cream correctly! No other dentifrice has proof of such results—the best results ever reported in authoritative dental literature for a dentifrice of any type! So start your family on Colgate Dental Cream today. No dentifrice can stop all tooth decay, or help cavities already started. But brushing teeth right after eating with Colgate Dental Cream is the most effective way yet known to help your dentist prevent decay

THE COLGATE WAY STOPS TOOTH DECAY BEST!



ALWAYS USE COLGATE'S TO CLEAN YOUR BREATH WHILE YOU CLEAN YOUR TEETH —AND HELP STOP TOOTH DECAY!

YOU SHOULD KNOW! Colgate Dental Cream, while not mentioned by name, was used exclusively in the research reported in Reader's Digest.
